Committee to Urge Congress to Accept Ford Shoals Offer

Members of Committee Voice Private Views Indicating Plan to Recommend Acceptance of Bid.

FIRST ANNOUNCEMENT TO BE MADE MONDAY

Two Modifications of the Present Proposal Will, However, Be Indicated as Essential Changes.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, April 7.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—The Ford offer for the lease of the government plant at Muscle Shoals will be recommended by the house military affairs committee. Subject only to a few modifications which are expected to prove unobjectionable.

The authority for the above is found in unofficial statements made today by several members of the house committee considering the matter.

First official announcement on the subject will come Monday, April 10, when the military affairs committee will hold an executive meeting for the purpose of outlining definite items to be contained in their recommendations. These items have already been agreed upon by a majority of the committee, it is said.

They are:

Two Conditions.

That Mr. Ford abandon his request for the Gorgas steam plant, now under the supervision of the Alabama Power company, which company is joint owner with the government. A second option the committe will consider is that Mr. Ford agree to assume the linbilities in connection with the steam plant, in taking over the government's interest.

And that the Detroit manufacturer modify his offer in regard to the Wilson dam, with the agreement to pay for flowage rights in the immediate territory surrounding the site.

These two recommendations will not be directed to Ford in the way of a formal request, but will be indicated to him with the understanding that his offer will receive favorable consideration if the offer is amended.

This will be the extent of the committee's action Monday, it is authoritatively said, as the main purpose of the meeting is to give Ford an opportunity of complying with the government's wishes. From this attitude it is strongly indicated that the committee is not seriously considering the three other main offers listed, choosing to dispose of the Ford lease first.

Ford Attitude Uncertain.

Just what attitude the automobile magnate will take in regard to the committee's action is a matter of speculation. It has been pointed out, however, that the changes desired by congress are not of material importance and do not affect the general scope of the purpose for which the nitrate plant is wanted. In this connection it is significant that Mr. Ford is in Washington at the present time, and it may be possible that he will enter into a detailed discussion on the subject with members of the committee before and after the forthcoming executive meeting.

Members of the committee today gave practical assurance to Mr. Ford's offer being recommended if he will meet the few objections to be made.

There will be discussed several other phases of the question, none of which, however, is expected to have

RUSSIA HOLDS KEY OF GENOA SUCCESS, DECLARES KRASSIN

UTMOST SINCERITY CLAIMED FOR SOVIET

If Allies Will Honestly Conclude Trade Pact With Russia, World Will Benefit, He Says.

(Editors Note.)

Lenoid Krassin, head of the Russian trade mission in London and member of the soviet delegation to Genoa, is one of the recognized "geniuses" of the Lenine-Trotzky administration. It is largely through his twelve months' work in England that the British government has been persuaded to adopt a policy of economic reapproachment with the soviet government, based upon actual demonstration in the future of the Moscow leaders' sincerity and willingness to conform to recognized principles of international intercourse.

Krassin's views on the Genoa conference, in which the Russian problem provides the dominant issue, are given in the following article written especially for the United News.

BY LENOID KRASSIN.

(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution.)

London, April 7.—The question of whether the present international situation is favorable or unfavorable to the success of the economic conference at Genoa is difficult to answer.

It depends entirely upon whether the entente governments have at last come to a realization of the necessity for a stable peace with soviet Russia, in the interest of their own people and in the interest of economic restoration throughout Europe.

The policy of France and those states under her immediate influence is more inconsistent and more hostile to the soviet than the policy of Great Britain, but even the British government—until very recently—has not been entirely consistent and sincere in its relations with Russia.

Charges Insincerity.

Attempts at an economic reapproachment with the Russian government, in fact, were frequently followed by acts of unfriendliness and hostility which destroyed the effect of the first movement. And the very fact that the conclusion of a simple and imperfect trade agreement has been prolonged by the British government almost for an entire year, shows that even those who control the British policy still hesitate to conclude a peace with soviet Russia.

They still appear to hope that some change in the international or internal situation of Russia will allow them

Alleged Betrayer Of Martyred Cavell Executed by Belgians

London, April 7.—Armand Jean , alleged betrayer of Edith Cavell, the martyred English nurse, to the Germans during the war, was executed at Mons, Belgium, Friday, according to a Central News dispatch.

Jeannes was recently placed on trial charged wiht having betrayed his country by traitorously giving information to the Germans. He was not specifically charged with betraying Miss Cavell, but was said to have boasted openly during the war of his part in delivering her to the German army officials.

AIRPLANES CRASH ON CLOUDY PATHS; FIVE ARE KILLED

Amazing Collision of Airships Takes Toll of Humanity Above French Village Friday

TWO OF PASSENGERS BELIEVED AMERICANS

Vessels Flying Between Paris and London Telescope Each Other Hundreds of Feet in Air.

Paris, April 7.—Two luxurious air-Pullmans, one a French machine returning to Paris from London with its load of passengers, the other a British ship bound for England, with mails and freight, crashed in a head-on, mid-air collision near the town of Granvilliers Friday afternoon.

Three passengers in the French Goliath, the pilots of both machines and a mechanician, were killed. Among them, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Bruce were Americans, and said to be residents of New York.

A fog described by observers as "impenetrable," caused this, the first catastrophe in the history of trans-channel commercial flights in which any passengers have lost their lives.

Died Under Operation.

Pilot Ducke, of the British machine, was taken from the wreckage breathing, but died while surgeons were operating in a vain attempt to save his life.

Pilot Mire, of the Goliath, was killed outright, as was M. Boursiez, chief engineer of the factories of Mureaux, in the Seine-et-Oise department.

In the dim mist above the village, bystanders attracted by the sound of the engines saw the two fliers meet 150 meters above ground, completely telescoping each other. One of the Goliath's wings split away from the body and fell to earth, crashing through a peasant's cottage. The main part of the structure dropped to a field and glanced off a tree as it neared the ground.

Bodies Unrecognizable.

The bodies of those in the Goliath were almost unrecognizable.

The Compagnie des Grands Express, owners of the French plane, in a statement issued after the accident, declared that the pilot knew the chan-

"Unreconstructed" Irish Woman Here To Boost Republic

Countess Markiewicz, Leader of Irreconcilable Irish Women, to Lecture in U. S.

New York, April 7.—Countess Georgiana Markiewicz, leader of the irreconciliable Irish women opposed to anything short of a republic for Erin, arrived today on the Aquitania for a speaking tour in the United States.

The countess let it be known right away that she considers Collins and Griffith traitors and said she was willing to go to jail again, as she so often has in the past—in fact, she was ready to sacrifice her life in the fight rather than acquiesce in any oath of allegiance to Britain.

In the matter of sentiment toward the aims of the Irish republicans she said, she did not think America needed to be influenced. As for herself she does not recognize the existence of an Irish Free State. The only position Griffith has that is based on the will of the people of Erin, she argued, is that of head of the "Irish republic."

The countess said her present mis-

LEADERS REPORT GROWING SUCCESS OF CITY REVIVAL

Larger Congregations at Every Meeting and Increases in Conversions Are Features.

FINE PROGRAMS READY FOR SUNDAY SERVICES

Special Meetings for Men and Boys and for Girls and Women to Be Held That Day.

Success from every angle, renewed religious interest by thousands, larger congregations at each meeting, an average of 100 converts per day—this briefly was the way in which a prominent leader in the Atlanta city-wide evangelistic campaign summed up the first five days of the religious crusade Friday night.

From all sources the revival is gaining momentum as it progresses in the 120 Protestant churches, according to reports. Not only have the ministers and laymen in the various churches gone out and stimulated interest among the multitudes, but many of those who compose the congregations have joined in the work. The revival continues through Easter, Sunday, April 16.

Plans for Second Week.

With the drawing to a successful close of the first week, plans are being formulated for the second and final week of the campaign. These plans include special meetings for men and for women in a number of churches Sunday.

Morning and noon services held in Wesley Memorial church by Dr. T. H. Lewis, of Washington, D. C.; in the Baptist Tabernacle by the Rev. John W. Ham, pastor, and in the Central Presbyterian church by Dr. J. McD. Lacy, represent each of the three principal denominations in the movement and draw persons from all over the city.

Men only will be admitted to a special meeting at the Wesley Memorial church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when Dr. Plato T. Durham, of the Candler School of Theology, at Emory university, preaches.

The Sunday afternoon meeting is in addition to the two regular revival services, at which Dr. T. H. Lewis, of Washington, D. C., president of the Methodist Protestant Church of America, preaches. He will speak at 11 o'clock in the morning and 7:45 in the evening.

The music for the services is under direction of A. C. Boatman, with Mrs. Boatman and Miss Lois Latham playing piano accompaniment. A chorus choir of fifty voices will sing.

Reports from the various Presbyterian churches at their noon meeting

Deposed Greek Premier Passes Through Today

Former Premier Venizelos Will Be Greeted Here by Atlanta Partisans.

Eleutherias Venizelos, former premier of Greece, will pass through Atlanta at 11 o'clock this morning, according to a telegram received Friday night by Pete Verge, chairman of the Atlanta Greek liberals, from a Greek liberal leader in New Orleans. The former premier left New Orleans Friday night, according to the telegram, en route for New York, where he is to embark for Europe.

Mr. Verge stated that the entire Atlanta membership of the Greek liberal organization, about 300 in number, will be at the Terminal station at 11 o'clock to greet the statesman as his train comes in. He will be here about twenty minutes, Mr. Verge said. Mayor Key has been invited to make a short address of welcome. It is possible that Venizelos will speak. If he does he will use the Greek tongue.

Premier Venizelos was head of the government of Greece when the nation entered the war on the side of the allies in spite of bitter opposition from King Constantine and pro-German conservatives. In 1920 a popular election was held in which the Constantine faction triumphed and the veteran premier resigned. He has been some time in South America, according to Mr. Verge's information, returning to the United States only recently.

Galli-Curci Jewels Found Beneath Tree By Side of Highway

San Diego, Cal., April 7.—The jewels valued at $45,000, reported lost by Mme. Galli-Curci, noted singer, at a restaurant at San Juan Capistrano yesterday, were found today by an automobile salesman and returned to their owner, according to an announcement made tonight by her manager. The jewels were found beneath a tree by the side of the highway between this city and Los Angeles.

TROOPS ORDERED TO SCENE OF RIOT IN MINING FIELDS

First Week of Nation-Wide Strike Ends Without Change in Situation, Says Union Official.

CONGRESSMAN WARNS OF COST TO NATION

Move to Block Use of Fund for Prosecutions of Strikers Defeated in the House.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 7.—Martial law was declared in the Gallup coal mining fields this afternoon in a proclamation issued by Governor M. C. Mechem. Headquarters troops at Albuquerque, and Troop D of the national guard at Santa Fe were ordered at once to the field.

The proclamation was issued after an appeal from the sheriff of McKinley county, who reported a riot at Mentmore camp. No details were given.

WOULD BLOCK PROSECUTIONS.

Washington, April 7.—In the house today Representative Denison, republican, Illinois, attempted to amend the justice department appropriation bill so that none of the $475,910 carried for salaries of departmental employes could be used for prosecution of striking coal miners or their union officials. Representative Husted, republican, New York, in charge of the bill, defeated the move by a point of order.

Mr. Denison, speaking generally of the strike, said if existing conditions continued six weeks 1,000,000 workmen would be out of employment. At the present time, he said, the strike was costing the nation about $3,000,000 a day.

The house late in the day, during consideration of the state and department of justice point appropriation bill, rejected, by a vote of 68 to 75, an amendment offered by Representative Johnson, democrat, Kentucky, to prohibit the use of money appropriated for the department of justice in prosecuting "any organization or individual for entering into any combination or agreement, having in view the increasing of wages, shortening of hours or bettering the conditions of labor, or for any act done in furtherance thereof not in itself unlawful."

After the amendment had been rejected, Chairman Nolan, of the labor committee, reminded his colleagues that congressional elections would be held this fall and declared that unless

Here Are 'Don'ts' To Foil Criminals; Read and Learn

New York Police Commissioner Gives Rules to Lessen Crime Waves.

BY SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE.

(United News Staff Correspondent.)

New York, April 7.—The cry that New York City is being delivered into the hands of organized bands of desperate criminals, which culminated Thursday in the demand by Governor Miller for speedy action to put down lawlessness, coupled with the hint that he would himself "take steps"—meaning that he would remove New York's police chief from office unless the situation improved, resulted in two striking actions by Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright Friday.

The first was Enright's demand for the reinforcement of his present army of 11,500 men by the addition of 1,192 brand new policemen. The demand will be granted at a cost of $1,200,000.

The second was the issuance of an

NORTH AND MIDDLE GEORGIA BEHIND WITH COTTON CROP

Planting in Southern Section, However, Averages From Normal to Ten Days Early.

GRAIN CROPS SHOW GREAT IMPROVEMENT

U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates Reports Better Financial Conditions.

Preparation for the 1922 cotton crop in north Georgia averages fifteen to thirty days late; in mid-state normal to seven days late, and in south Georgia as early as usual to ten days early, according to the regular bulletin of the United States bureau of markets and crop estimates, released for publication today.

The splendid condition of wheat, oats and rye crops is the "most hopeful feature of the farm situation," stated Z. R. Pettet, local statistician, in the review. Practically no desease has been reported in these grains and they are five or six points above the ten-year average.

In writing of unfavorable weather conditions in north Georgia, and planting of cotton, the bulletin stated that "need for haste is very apparent, because the weevil is already reported present."

Improved Conditions.

Improved labor and financial conditions are recorded by the bulletin. The greatest difficulty, the review continued, is found in the farmers not employing additional laborers.

The condition of the wheat crop is 91 per cent of normal; rye 92 per cent, while the supply of farm labor is 98 per cent normal.

"The splendid condition of the small grains, wheat, oats and rye, is the most hopeful feature of the farm situation," the report said. "These grains are five or six points above the ten-year average. They are well advanced and practically no disease is reported. In some cases they show the lack of fertilizer, but as a general thing this is more than offest by early planting, favorable winter and ample moisture.

"Other bright points can be seen in the somewhat gloomy agricultural situation. The supply of farm labor is greater than since before the war, and is beginning to show a real willingness to work. The difficulty is that most farmers cannot see their way clear to hire additional help.

Far Behind.

"Preparation of the ground for planting is very far behind in north Georgia. Continuous rains have prevented the land from being broken. Only here and there can be found localities where spring work approaches normal. The farmers expect to make up some of the lost time as soon as weather conditions become favorable, and hope to get the cotton planted within two weeks of the usual time. The recent rains make this appear optimistic. Need for haste is very apparent because

MISUSE OF FUNDS LAID TO GOVERNOR

Grand Jury in Porto Rico Accuses Reily of Personal Use of Public Money.

San Juan, P. R., April 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—E. Mont Reily, governor of Porto Rico, Auditor Kessinger, and Governor Reily's private secretary, Harwood Hull, are charged in a grand jury presentment with misuse of public funds for private purposes. There are four different counts against the men mentioned in the presentment.

The presentment, which covers ten typewritten pages of legal cap paper, expresses the belief of the grand jury that if present conditions had continued and the investigation been delayed one year the public treasury would have suffered considerable loss.

The district attorney is directed by the grand jury to prepare indictments and proceed against Governor Reily and the others on the basis of evidence and testimony obtained by them and

Georgia Gets Third U. S. Judge by Bill Passed by Senate

Additional Georgia Judge Will Make Headquarters in Macon—Will Assist in Both Districts.

HARRIS LAUDS WORK OF PRESENT JUDGES

Bill Goes to Conference With House, Where No Objection to Georgia Judge Is Expected.

Washington, April 7.—The bill to provide a score more of federal judges, advocated as a measure to relieve congestion in federal courts and opposed as a political patronage "pork barrel," was passed late today by the senate and sent to conference with the house.

Twenty-three more federal district judges distributed throughout the country and one more judge for the fourth circuit are provided by the senate bill, as against 22 district judges under the original bill passed by the house last December.

Vote on Measure.

The senate vote on final passage was 44 to 21, with party lines broken. Eight democrats, Senators Ashurst, Arizona; Fletcher, Florida, Hitchcock Nebraska; Myers, Montana; Pomerene, Ohio; Trammell, Florida; Walsh, Massachusetts, and Walsh, Montana, voted with 36 republicans for the bill. The opposition included eight republicans and 13 democrats, the republicans being Senators Borah, Idaho; Capper, Kansas; France, Maryland; Ladd, North Dakota; La-Follette, Wisconsin; McNary, Oregon; Norris, Nebraska, and Townsend, Michigan.

The democratic opponents were Senators Broussard, Louisiana; Caraway, Arkansas; Dial, South Carolina; Harris, Georgia; Harrison, Mississippi; Kendrick, Wyoming; King, Utah; Overman, North Carolina; Sheppard, Texas; Shields, Tennessee; Stanley, Kentucky; Underwood, Alabama, and Willimas, Mississippi.

The "pork barrel" and "log rolling" charges, made openly on the floor by democratic opponents of the bill and denied as vehemently by its supporters, were followed by some open maneuvers and kaleidoscopic vote changing during the dozen roll calls on amendments today. The bill finally contained provisions for four more district judges than recommended by the senate judiciary committee. These include one each for New Jersey, New Mexico, the western Missouri district and the southern Florida district.

Distribution of Judges.

Provision for the additional New Jersey judge, under an amendment by Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, New Jersey, was inserted, 25 to 21, but later stricken out on motion of Senator King, democrat, Utah, by a rising vote. Finally it was reinstated, 39 to 22.

As passed by the senate, the distribution of the 23 additional district judges would be as follows: Two each for Massachusetts and the southern district of New York, and one each for the eastern New York district, eastern Pennsylvania, western Pennsylvania, northern Texas, eastern Michigan, northern Ohio, northern Illinois, Minnesota, eastern Missouri, western Missouri, eastern Oklahoma, Montana, northern California, southern California, Arizona, Georgia, New

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES FARMER FOR BANK BOARD

But Changes Senate Bill to Make Farmer Fill Next Vacancy, Eliminating Increase.

TERM OF GOVERNOR ENDS DURING AUGUST

Means That Agricultural Man May Be Next Governor of Federal Reserve Board.

Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, April 7.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Confirmation of the senate bill, with minor changes, authorizing agricultural representation on the federal reserve board, will be contained in the house banking and currency committee report on the federal reserve act amendment, it was learned today.

The main changes recommended by the committee strike out the extra member of the board, as provided by the senate bill, but continues the agricultural representation reference. Since the information has become known, a movement already has been started to have a farmer selected to fill the next vacancy occurring. According to reliable sources, the committee report has been completed and will be formally presented to the house during the early part of next week, with indications pointing to a favorable consideration.

Harding Near End.

Rather significant at this time is the fact that the term of Governor W. R. G. Harding, of the federal system, will expire during August of this year; this will be the first vacancy on the board.

It was pointed out at the capitol today that in the event the proposed legislation goes through, a widespread attempt will be made to have the president fill Governor Harding's place with a representative of the agricultural interest. This movement will be given an added force in that it will offer enemies of the federal reserve head an opportunity for deposing him indirectly. It has been pointed out that Governor Harding has a number of enemies on Capital Hill, which is expected to create a big fuss when the reappointment comes up.

Lines Forming.

Judge C. H. Brand, of Georgia, who is a member of the banking and currency committee, stated today that evidences of this fight over Harding's successor has already taken definite lines in the house, as well as in the senate, which body will be called upon to confirm the nomination if made. He indicated that the committee had

Opinion Differs On Fate Facing Uncle Bim Gump

Majority, However, Believes Providence Will Prevent His Wedding.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

As Uncle Bim Gump's aged heart pitty-pats faintly as the day for his wedding to the more or less charming Widow Zander draws near business activity, social activity and even bootlegging activity almost ceases throughout this section of the country while the populace wonders if Sydney Smith, creator of the famous Gump family cartoon strip, really is heartless enough to offer the Australian millionaire as a sacrifice to the artifices of the Widow Zander.

Two trends of thought were noted among the people Friday. One held that Uncle Bim and the widow are sure to be married on April 13, while the other, which is by far the larger, expressed the collective view that Providence or something else is sure

Quartet and Misses Inez Marvin and Grace James on WGM Program

Unusually attractive programs have been arranged for Sunday and Monday nights to be broadcasted from WGM, the station operating for The Atlanta Constitution.

Sunday night at 9 o'clock, the Smyrna male quartet will give a concert of sacred songs. The quartet, otherwise known as the Log Cabin Four, is here singing at the revival services at the First Methodist church and is an unusually good organization.

Miss Grace James and Miss Inez Marvin, two local entertainers, who are now appearing at the Imperial hotel, have been obtained for 9 o'clock Monday night. Miss James will give several piano selections, while Miss Marvin will give several violin solos.

Miss James and Miss Marvin are especially talented and have been well received everywhere they have appeard.

Miss Marvin has been entertaining for several years in different cities and is well known in a number of Florida winter resorts for her violin work there. Miss James joined Miss Marvin several months ago and has made a big hit with her piano work.

Before coming to Atlanta, Miss Marvin appeared in Miami and Palm Beach. She was also with the Million Dollar band for a time.

Snice they have been playing together, Miss Marvin and Miss James have appeared at the Capital City club a number of times, in various entertainments and in many private homes.

Their entertainment comes the day after the regular Sunday afternoon broadcast by The Constitution of the municipal organ recital by City Organist Charles A. Sheldon, Jr.

THE GROCERY PRICES ON THESE PAGES ARE FINAL---READ

Jersey, New Mexico and southern Florida.

The bill provides for an annual fall conference of senior circuit judges at Washington with the chief justice and attorney-general of the United States to make a comprehensive survey of judicial business of the country and make bench assignments. It provides also for assignment by the chief justice of judges to districts where there is congestion or where the public interests generally requires such assignment.

Outside Pay Barred.

In adding four judges to the bill's total, the senate voted down numerous amendments for other judges and to reduce the number authorized. An amendment by Senator Dial, democrat, South Carolina requiring judges to devote their time to the duties of their office and prohibiting their receipt of outside compensation was adopted without a record vote. This was an echo of Senator Dial's criticism of former Federal Judge Landis after the later's acceptance of a large salary as commissioner of organized baseball.

An amendment by Senator Ernst, republican, Kentucky, for a judge for the middle Tennessee district, was lost without a roll call.

The bill's provision for assignment of judges to other than their own districts—was attacked particularly by Senator Shields, who said it might result in transferring "dry" judges to "wet" districts. He also charged that paid lobbyists of the national anti-saloon league were working among senators in behalf of the bill. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti-saloon league, today before the final vote on the bill, issued a statement declaring that the measure "would greatly aid law enforcement."

Wheeler's Position.

The statement added that when asked whether the league would take an active part in the choice of new judges, Mr. Wheler said:

"We have but one policy—when an applicant for any of these positions is opposed to or prejudiced against the law and its enforcement we will file protest against him. This is the privilige and duty of every citizen and organization that stands for clean government and law and law enforcement. If someone did not render this kind of patriotic service a greater number of public positions would be filled with unworthy officials than we now have."

NEW JUDGE GOES TO MACON.

Washington, April 7.—(By Constitution Leased Wire.)—Included in the federal judgeship bill which passed the senate this afternoon is an amendment offered by Senator Harris, Georgia, providing that the additional judge given the state shall establish official headquarters at Macon.

The amendment was intended to place the three federal judges located in Georgia at important points in the state, the present two official headquarters being Savannah and Atlanta, presided over by Judge Evans and Judge Sibley, respectively.

The new judge, as recommended by Senator Harris, will serve both districts of the state, instead of merely the northern district, as originally provided in the bill.

House to Approve.

Indications from the house judiciary committee from which body the conferees will be seelcted to make final adjustment of the measure, are to the effect that the additional judge provided for Georgia will be accepted without opposition. The house failed to give the state a third federal court under the bill as passed by that body several weeks ago. Representative James W. Wise, of Georgia, is a member of the judiciary committee, and there is a possibility of his being selected as one of the house conferees.

During consideration of his amendment, Senator Harris took opportunity to defend the work and diligence of Georgia's two federal judges against general charges about the time spent on official business by district court officials made by opponents of the bill. Senator Harris said, in part:

Praises Present Jurists.

"I was out of the senate when Senator Shields made reference to the work of district judges. I am sure he was not referring to the two district judges in Georgia—Judge Beverly D. Evans and Judge Samuel H. Sibley—when he stated that the federal judges who will be given assistance under the bill are not overworked. I personally know, and my colleague will bear me out in this statement—he is a lawyer and I am not—that there are no judges in the United States, whether in the state or the United States courts, who are worked harder than the two judges in Georgia. I believe the work they are doing will shorten the lives of both of these men unless some relief is given them.

"Since their appointment to these positions they have held court practically every day except Sundays and Christmas. They are not only lawyers of unusual ability and make splendid judges, but they are conscientious men of the highest character, and have the respect and confidence of all the people of our state. The record furnished by the attorney-general which is in the report of the judiciary committee, shows that the amount of business transacted and the number of cases to be disposed of is greater in Georgia than any other state except one. Some years ago congress passed a bill providing for an additional judge, and the late Judge Wallace Lambden, a splendid man and able lawyer, was appointed to this position and held it until his death."

HERE ARE "DON'TS" TO FOIL CRIMINALS

official list of "don'ts" by the police commissioner in a pamphlet which might have been entitled "The A. B. C. of Crime Prevention."

List of "Don'ts."

"Don't leave your house until you are sure that every door and window is locked," the commissioner advises.

"Don't advertise your absence by pulling down the window shades," he continues. "Don't leave your key over the door or under the mat.

"Don't allow money to accumulate. Make bank deposits often.

"Don't leave home the same time every day when going shopping.

"Don't leave your home in utter darkness when you go out at night.

"Don't hide your money behind picture frames or under rugs or in bric-a-brac or other out-of-the-way places. That's the first place a crook would look.

Get Police Whistle.

"Don't trust anybody that you come in contact with just because they are prosperous looking and smooth talkers with polished manners. Up-to-date criminals do not look like thugs.

"Don't neglect to provide yourself with a police whistle, for the purpose of calling assistance."

There are 100 "don'ts" in the list. They are calculated to affect every citizen, whatever his station or calling. The housewife is given explicit instructions for the safeguarding of her home, her person and her valuables. Specific chapters in the long list are devoted to thieves, pickpockets, hold-up men and burglars. Banks and bankers are exhorted to exercise more care than they have in the past, with the concluding warning:

"Don't fail to be suspicious of strangers, who, upon entering your bank, leave an automobile upon the street with the motor running."

Commissioner Enright's report requesting an additional force of patrolmen revealed that out of the 11,500 men in his department only 6,187 are on patrol duty, the rest being engaged in detective and office work and in such groups as the bomb and narcotic squads.

FATHER OF ATTACKED SONS FOUND DEAD

Concordia, Kan., April 7.—L. J. Tremblay, a farmer living near St. Joseph, this county, five of whose sons were hacked with an axe early Tuesday, resulting in the death of one of them and the probable fatal injury of three others, was found dead at the home of a neighbor early today.

No trace of poison was found about the body.

A coroner's investigation has been ordered. Experts from the state prison last night put Tremblay through a severe grilling in connection with the crime.

State of Crop Preparations

GEORGIA BEHIND WITH COTTON CROP

the weevil is already reported present. Under weevil conditions, a good start is almost essential to making a crop.

"South Georgia on the other hand averages about a week ahead of normal. That section made a fair crop last year and have jumped into work with something approaching enthusiasm. Financial conditions are better, farmers are able to buy fertilizer and they know they can make a crop there in spite of all handicaps. The bureau will supply details of the progress of cotton and other crops weekly, through the press and radio telephone."

WHEAT AND RYE CROPS SMALLER.

Washington, April 7.—A winter wheat crop, about 14,000,000 bushels smaller and a rye crop almost 12,000,000 bushels larger than was produced last year were forecast today by the department of agriculture.

Winter wheat came through the winter in good shape and showed an improvement of 2.4 points in condition on April 1 as compared with last December. The smaller crop is due to a reduction of 1.2 per cent in the area sown last fall as compared with that of last year's crop.

Winter wheat production this year was foresact at 572,974,000 bushels, and rye production at 69,667,000 bushels, based on the April 1 condition, which was: Winter wheat 78.4 per cent of a normal, and rye 89.0 per cent.

The winter wheat forecast compared with 587,652,000 bushels produced last year, 610,597,000 in 1920, and 578,575,000, the average of the preceding five years.

Rye Comparisons.

The rye forecast compares with 57,918,000 bushels produced last year, 60,490,000 in 1920 and 66,474,000 the average for the preceding five years.

Winter wheat condition on April 1 showed an increase of 2.4 points since December 1, last, compared with an average decline of 4.7 points in the last ten years between those dates. Winter wheat condition a year ago was 91.0 per cent of a normal, while the April 1 ten-year average is 84.3.

The area sown to winter wheat last fall was 44,293,000 acres, which was 1.2 per cent less than the revised area sown in the fall of 1920. The condition of December 1 last was 76.0 per cent, which was 11.9 per cent lower than the previous year and 13 per cent lower than the ten-year average on that date.

In forecasting the production of winter wheat the department of agriculture based its estimate on the assumption of average abandonment of acreage and average influences on the crop from now until time of harvest.

Rye condition on December 1, last, was 92.2 per cent of a normal, while April 1, last year, it was 90.3 and the average condition for the last ten years on April 1 is 88.5.

COAL FIELD NOW UNDER MARTIAL LAW

their attitude as reflected in the rejection of the amendment was changed they could not expect to receive the labor vote. Mr. Nolan also took issue with Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, the republican leader, who had expressed the opinion that acceptance of the amendment would show a lack of confidence in department of justice officials.

The amendment also would have prohibited use of the money for the "prosecution of producers of farm products and associations of farmers who co-operate and organize in an effort to and for the purpose of obtaining and maintaining a fair and reasonable price for their products."

WEEK ENDS WITHOUT CHANGE.

Indianapolis, April 7.—The first week of the nation-wide suspension of work in the coal mines ordered by the United Mine Workers of America, ended with today, and was marked at union headquarters by William Green, secretary-treasurer, asserting that the strike is gaining strength in non-union fields, particularly central Pennsylvania and West Virginia. He said, however, he had no detailed figures, adding that reports from the coal fields were going direct to President John L. Lewis at New York.

"Not the slightest suggestion of a change in the situation is apparent, and none is to be expected until the operators meet the union in conference and a wage scale is worked out," declared Mr. Green.

ANTHRACITE HEARING RECESSES.

New York, April 7.—The anthracite miners and operators sub-committee on wage contract negotiations, which has been hearing testimony of union leaders in support of their nineteen demands as a basis for settlement of the present strike, took a recess tonight to permit the operators to prepare their side of the case.

"After listening to what the miners had to say, our attitude remains unchanged," said S. D. Warriner, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, and spokesman for the operators.

"We still maintain the view expressed in our reply to the nineteen demands when they were first submitted," he said. "We believe that there must be a reduction in the price of anthracite coal to prevent destruction of the market, and we believe a corresponding reduction must come in the wages of the miners."

Philip Murray, vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, and leader of the union delegation on the committee, expressed satisfaction with its case as it had been presented.

The miners closed their inning before the committee with arguments for establishment of the check-off system of collecting dues. They held that the system, once declared illegal by Judge Albert Anderson in the United States district court at Indianapolis, had been legalized by a reversal of this decision by the United States circuit court of appeals at Chicago.

John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers' International organization, tonight declared that the joint bituminous and anthracite strikes had become "absolute perfect and of the 100 per cent response which had been anticipated."

The strike was continuing to spread in non-union territory "at a gratifying rate," he asserted. He estimated that, of the 140,000 non-union miners in the country, 75,000 already have joined the walkout. Capacity of non-union mines, especially in West Virginia, eastern Kentucky and Pennsylvania, has been cut more than half, he said.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN 'PLANE CRASH

nel route perfectly, and that he had constantly traversed it for a year. He had always been instructed, it was said, to drive his machine as closely as possible in a straight line from city to city.

The British machine was operated, it is claimed, by a company which has been in buisness only during the past four days. French airmen believe the pilot of this machine swerved from his course.

The accident has already given rise to demands by the French press that air routes be officially delimited.

VISIBILITY DECLARED GOOD.

London, April 7.—In a statement given out by the British air ministry, it is declared that although low clouds and a light rain were present at the time of the amazing collision between a British mail plane and a French commercial airplane, near Granvilliers, 70 miles north of Paris, Friday, the "visibility was good."

It is accordingly believed that the machines may have been caught in air currents that carried them into collision in spite of the pilots' efforts.

The British plane was a De Haviland, owned by the air ministry and lent to the Daimler Air Line. The French machine was a Goliath, belonging to the Grands Express Aerians.

The De Haviland carried only mails and light express.

The collision, according to the air ministry, occurred at a height of between five to seven hundred feet.

COMMITTEE TO BACK FORD SHOALS OFFER

Decision Expected.

Advocates of the government lease to Henry Ford are more optimistic over the prospects for settlement of the matter than they have been for some time they say. They believe that after the report Monday some definite course will be followed, and that all the wrangling and indecision of the past will be removed.

Either Ford will modify his offer to suit the government, which if he does, will act to settle the question so far as he is concerned immediately, or he will reject the enterprise. In the latter event the committee will meet again at an early date for the purpose of considering the other offers listed.

Members of the Georgia delegation, in whole, it is said, are in favor of the Muscle Shoals plant being devoted to useful operation. Particularly is this true of Congressman W. C. Wright, who has taken a very active part in all the investigation work conducted by the house. Judge Wright was a member of the congressional committee inspecting the plant several days ago, and is also a member of the house military affairs committee who will offer the recommendations Monday.

CABINET DISCUSSES 'SUPER-POWER' PLAN

Washington, April 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The proposed "super power project" for the Atlantic seaboard between Boston and Washington was taken up by President Harding and his cabinet today, during a general discussion of the coal strike as a means of minimizing the effect of similar strikes in the future on the economic fabric of the country. The discussion was said to have been most thorough, although no definite conclusions were reached.

The discussion was based on the report of a commission of engineers for such a project which was submitted to congress nearly two years ago and has since lain dormant. Secretary Hoover, who was a member of the engineers' commission, submitted the proposition for discussion today and it was said that the cabinet intends to continue its study of the subject with its possibilities of "opening a new era" in the power field.

Another phase of the power situation in this country, said to have been discussed at the cabinet meeting, was the possibility of developed hydro-electric power along the Colorado river and other waters of the west as well as harnessing the waterpower from Niagara to great falls above Washington.

Would Save Coal.

The Atlantic seaboard super power project, according to engineers, would save 50,000,000 tons of coal annually and in addition stabilize the coal industry by providing regular employment at the coal mines.

Under the scheme worked out, in the super power zone" on the Atlantic seaboard, described in the report as the "finishing shop of American industry," all industries, railroads and other consumers of electricity would be supplied by a unified power system.

Large generating plants would be erected at strategic mining centers convenient to the larger industries which would feed into a great power line and then out to the consumers.

No Expense to U. S.

The project as conceived would not entail any outlay of money by the government, it was said, but contemplated the erection of a unit at a time through financing by the co-operation of public utilities and other large power companies and users of electricity. The cost, it was said, probably would be between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000. Secretary Hoover is understood to have recently discussed the feasibility of the project with representatives of many public utilities.

The super power project contemplates power production which would include generation of electricity by steam at tidewater and on inland waters, and the utilization of all hydro-electric power, obtained economically from rivers within the zone or within transmission distance.

Designated Zone.

The zone embraces parts of the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland, and all of the states of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Jersey. Within this zone, according to the engineers' report, is concentrated one-fourth of the population of the country and 315 electric utilities, 18 railroads and 96,000 industrial plants.

Under the plan no attempt would be made to supplant or compete with existing electric utilities plants but rather to co-ordinate and supplement these utilities and carry to a higher degree the service and the economies incident to their present operation.

Keep Dry Agents Off Canal Zone, Weeks Requests

Washington, April 7.—Secretary Weeks was understood tonight to have requested Commissioner Haynes to keep federal prohibition agents out of the Panama canal zone, for a time at least, and allow Governor Morrow to continue the administration of the national dry law there without assistance from other departments.

Appointment of John T. Barrett, formerly of Revere, Mass., but now in the canal zone, as federal prohibition director for the zone was announced recently by prohibition headquarters, but it was said tonight that the commission had not as yet actually gone forward.

Mr. Haynes was understood to have acceded to the war secretary's request and it was said the installment of Mr. Barrett and a force of prohibition agents in the canal zone would be held up until the matter could be taken up between the two branches of the government.

Application of the national prohibition law to the canal zone is provided by the Willis-Campbell act, which was enacted a few months ago, but enforcement agents under prohibition headquarters have not as yet been stationed there.

The position taken by Secretary Weeks in a letter to Commissioner Haynes is that the establishment of a federal prohibition director in the canal zone would result inevitably in raising the question of dual authority and possibly lead to friction. Governor Morrow now is the supreme authority resident in the zone and, acting under the war department, has control of every individual within the limits of the zone.

Secretary Weeks was said to have pointed out that the arrival of an official clothed with authority from an entirely separate federal agency would place such a person at once outside the jurisdiction of the governor and asked Mr. Haynes to delay sending a director there until they could "thresh the matter out more thoroughly." In the meantime, the commissioner was assured, Governor Morrow will continue to enforce the prohibition laws through his own office.

Charlie Chaplin Seeks Injunction Against Imitator

Los Angeles, April 7.—Screen stars and actors of all degrees were on hand in Judge Crail's court Friday to learn just how far they can imitate one another and still be within the law.

The case before the court was brought by Charlie Chaplin against Charles Amador, another comedian, charging that he is winning some fame and considerable fortune by appearing in the films in a Chaplin costume and make-up. Chaplin wants an injunction restraining Amador from wearing the familiar Chaplin pants, shoes, mustache and funny walk.

By mutual consent the case was postponed until April 21, but this did not stop the interested actors from getting into a hundred arguments on whether it is legal to imitate another.

If it is illegal for an actor to wear Chaplin pants and shoes and ape his walk, any actor that has any peculiar characteristics can bring action against any other who apes them, one group argued.

How about Mary Pickford's curls? Actors sputtered over this excitedly. Scores of screen stars have "lifted" Mary's curls.

Actors have imitated each other from time immemorial, this group contends. A pair of pants cannot be patented. A walk is a walk, and the first ingenue that walked with the now famous "ingenue slump" could bring suit against hundreds of professionals, they said.

All the actors agreed that if Amador has lifted the Chaplin costume and mannerisms and has taken the name of "Charlie Chaplin," as alleged, his conduct is unethical.

But they all are interested in finding out how far professional ethics will go in a court of law.

Wine and Whisky Destroyed in Raid On Custom House

Dublin, April 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The worst attack yet made in pursuance of the boycott on Belfast goods took place at 3 o'clock this morning when the bonded stores of the custom house were raided and large quantities of wine and whisky, mostly from a Belfast distillery, with which Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, is connected, were destroyed. One hundred men, armed with revolvers, sledge hammers and pick axes, broke their way into the premises, where they smashed casks of liquor, pouring it over the floor and into the city sewers. An official estimate of the damage has not yet been made, but The Dublin Evening Mail places the figure at hundreds of thousands of pounds. Most of this, however, would be the duty, so the loser is the government authority, in this case the provisional government. The boycott committee states that 6,000 casks were destroyed, or, roughly, half a million gallons. It estimates the value of the liquor, apart from the duty, at 250,000 pounds.

Boycotting Belfast goods is now the prominent activity of the dissentient republican army section. The chief officers of this group are found at Orange hall, which was recently commandeered and which is occupied partly by expelled Belfast workers.

REPUBLICAN LOSES CONTEST FOR SEAT IN LOWER HOUSE

Washington, April 7.—The house elections committee in a report today throwing out the contest of James I. Campbell, republican, against Representative Robert L. Doughton, democrat, of the eighth North Carolina district, held that acts alleged to have violated the provisions of the state constitution "do not appear to have changed the results," and that the house would not be justified in declaring the seat vacant.

Nathan Newhouse, New York university's smallest freshman, is not quite five feet in height, and wears short trousers. He graduated from the Bayonne High school as valedictorian at the age of 14, and was awarded a scholarship to New York university.

Two Decisions In Debate Won By Agnes Scott

Agnes Scott college, of Decatur, Ga., was victorious in both of its debating contests Friday night in the annual triangular contest between that college, Randolph-Macon, of Lynchburg, Va., and Sophie Newcomb, of New Orleans.

By a decision of two to one the team representing Agnes Scott won over Sophie Newcomb college in New Orleans, while the team meeting Randolph-Macon in the Agnes Scott auditorium, won a decisive victory by a similar score.

Misses Quenelle Harrold, Ruth Hall and Cama Burgess, composing the team from Agnes Scott, which invaded New Orleans, taking the negative side of the debate there, while the affirmative team of Agnes Scott who won over Randolph-Macon in Decatur consisted of Misses Nell Buchanan, Daisy Frances Smith and Sarah Till.

Resolved, "That the employers' associations are for the best interest of employer and employee," was the subject.

Agnes Scott Is Victor.

New Orleans, April 7.—Agnes Scott college, of Decatur, Ga., defeated Sophie Newcomb college here tonight in the annual three-cornered debate between Newcomb, Agnes Scott and Randolph Macon colleges. Agnes Scott had the negative on the subject, "Whether employers' associations are for the best interests of the employers and employes."

Randolph Macon Wins.

Lynchburg, Va., April 7.—Randolph Macon Woman's college tonight won the Lynchburg end of the triangular debate between that college, Agnes Scott, of Decatur, Ga., and Sophie Newcomb college, of New Orleans, by gaining a two-to-one decision over Sophie Newcomb.

Norman Elected Baptist Sunday School President

Macon, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—R. C. Norman, of Washington, Ga., was elected president of the Georgia Baptist Sunday School convention at the closing session here today, and Cordele was selected as the next convention city. Dr. Martin A. Wood, pastor of the Vineville Baptist church, Macon, was elected secretary and treasurer of the convention. The dates for the next convention were fixed for April 6-7-8.

Vice presidents elected were: T. W. Tippet, Vienna; R. H. Ferrell, Albany; T. H. Robertson, Gainesville; W. L. Blankenship, Atlanta, and Emmett Langford, Gainesville.

A resume of the convention by Dr. F. C. McConnell, of Atlanta; talks by Miss Lillian Forbes, elementary secretary of the district Sunday school board, Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Margaret Frost, of the Sunday school board, Louisville, Ky., and practical demonstrations by the classes were features of the day's sessions. The demonstrations were given by the cradle roll, of Sandersville, beginners from Macon, in charge of Mrs. T. E. Tichnor, and the primary class of Vienna, in charge of Miss Mittie Wallace.

Fire in New Orleans.

New Orleans, April 7.—The four-story brick building at Canal and South Peters streets, occupied by the Menge Marine Hardware and Supply company, was damaged by fire of undetermined origin today to the extent of approximately $200,000. Flames were shooting from the top of the building when the alarm was sounded.

OPINION DIFFERS ON FATE OF GUMP

to step in at the last moment and save Uncle Bim from a fate which they say, in their enthusiasm, is worse even than death.

Runs True to Form.

That ever fickle public is now running true to form it was noted Friday. Just the minute that it looks like the Widow Zander is to cop Uncle Bim's dough she wins over flocks and herds of people who have heretofore claimed eternal allegiance to the Andy Gump tribe in the Andy Gump-Zander feud. The prospect of all this new money coming into America through the widow's wiles is even causing deep interest in cold-blooded financial circles.

When the brokers on the New York stock exchange obtained tips that apparently the Widow Zander really is going to marry the Bim Gump millions, stocks of all kinds began to soar Friday. It was learned that the widow told her dearest friends in confidence that she is not going to live in that Australia place more than a year and is going to bring Bim and the entire fortune back to this country for investment. Brokers learned of this and knowing that such an event would be of more financial benefit to this country than the payment of the war debt due by Europe the exchange went wild with excitement.

Another rumor current in financial circles Friday was to the effect that on the very next day after the wedding the Widow Zander plans to outbid Henry Ford for Muscle Shoals. With a magnanimity worthy of the highest approval she plans to place none other than Andrew Gump in charge of the Muscle Shoals plant with Min Gump ensconced in a private suite at the leading hotel as dictator of wha ver society there may be along that part of the Tennessee river. This rumor, however, was not confirmed.

Great Speculation.

There is much speculation on all sides as to just how many days it will take the widow to obtain full control of the Gump fortune. Some say it will only take her a few hours, while others believe it will take even days. Some declare that the widow will be henpecking Uncle Bim the day after the wedding and will not go to Australia at all, but will take a wedding tour to the south which will include a visit to grand opera in Atlanta.

The excitement of the Gump-Zander nuptials is growing to such proportions that The Constitution will present from day to day interviews with prominent Atlanta people and citizens from other parts of Georgia as to what the outcome of the whole affair will be. It looks like there will be six snappy days of excitement and The Constitution will keep the people fully informed on the situation.

APPROVES FARMER ON RESERVE BOARD

a knowledge of this possibility during consideration of the bill.

It is generally known that a number of democrats as well as republican senators have been outspoken in their criticism of the board during the past several months, and it is thought enough opposition will be mustered up to reject the nomination of any person who does not fit the agricultural specification.

Representative Brand, who was the first member of congress to offer a bill calling for agricultural representation of the board, having introduced such a measure during the sixty-sixth congress, stated that an effort would be made to have the president nominate Secretary Wallace, of the department of agriculture, whom he favors for the place, and who is looked upon as being the most likely candidate in this group.

May Not Offer.

With reference to the reappointment of Governor Harding, rumors at the capital are to the effect that the president does not favor his nomination, and that the present head will not offer for the post again. In this latter event, it is probable that one of the present members of the board will be elevated to the chief position, with the under position filled as stated.

The bill as formulated by the banking and currency committee, which will be formally presented to the house the first thing Monday, varies from the senate measure in that the extra member authorized by the upper chamber was stricken out. This feature does not affect the ultimate status of farm representation, only to the extent that had the additional member been permitted it is thought the appointment would have been made from that group immediately. The most important phase of this subject was the wording which specifically designated agricultural representation along with the other trades.

The amendment added by Senator Harris, of Georgia, prohibiting the construction of buildings with a cost in excess of $250,000 was stricken out by the committee.

It is assured, however, that a fight will be made in the house for the passage of this amendment, as the measure has a great deal of support. Judge Crisp, it is thought will cooperate with Senator Harris in having the amendment considered by the body when the bill is brought up for action.

MISUSE OF FUNDS LAID TO GOVERNOR

delivered to the district attorney for the purposes of prosecution.

JUDGE REFUSES TO READ REPORT

The grand jury, which had been holding an investigation into matters concerning the administration of Governor Reily, sumbitted its report to the court last Wednesday. The court was requested to read the report publicly and act on it. District Judge Foote at first refused to receive it, saying a report from the grand jury afforded nothing on which the court could base any judicial action, and that the court could not have jurisdiction on any complaint, contained in the report. He added that once the investigation was finished it was the duty of the grand jury to indict or not.

The grand jury insisted on delivering the report to the court with a statement that "this is the result of our investigation and we deliver it to the court, proceeding in accordance with the law."

Judge Foote again refused to receive the report as a public document, but put it aside in a sealed envelope.

Yesterday the grand jury asked Judge Foote to turn over the report to the fiscal authorities.

RUSSIA HOLDS KEY OF GENOA SUCCESS

violently to make an end of the soviet government, which they so strongly dislike.

The success of the Genoa conference depends most of all upon whether the entente governments will renounce their intention to overthrow by violence the regime with which they are not in sympathy, or whether they have recognized at last the barrenness of any attempt to force upon the Russian people a government which those people do not desire.

Russians Sincere.

In short, it is a question of whether they have decided sincerely to seek a means whereby an agreement can be hammered out between the capitalist system of Europe and the soviet system of Russia.

If, after all its waverings, the entente adopts a path towards agreement, the success of the Genoa conference will be unquestionable, for the Russians are coming with the most sincere and determined intention of arriving at a business arrangement.

On Russia's part, there is no obstacle to the establishment at Genoa of formal conditions to a general peace throughout Russia. Russia is the warmest supporter of the principle of general disarmament, which is the best guarantee of peace. The soviet will also accept sympathetically any project aiming at the economic restoration of Russia, so long as it contains no elements of infringing on the sovereignty of Russia, or constituting any interference in her internal affairs.

Russian Wealth.

Russia has an inexhaustible wealth of natural riches, and her hundred and thirty millions of people, with the help of her economically stronger and more cultured neighbors, can develop productive forces surpassing the most audacious hopes.

We will develop our program at Genoa, but it would be premature to outline its details now.

The absence of the United States from the council rooms, in our opinion, lessens the conference's chances for success. We can only express deep regret at the decision of the American government, but we trust that that decision is not final, and that in the event of satisfactory progress at this conference, it may still be subject to review.

Concerning the participation of Germany in the plans for the restoration of Russia, there can be no two opinions. Not only through her geographical position, but because of her previous business connections, Germany more than any other western country, is capable immediately on entering a very wide field in the work in Russia.

German Advanages.

Germany has hundreds and thousands of technicians, workers, merchants, and administrators acquainted with the Russian language and conversant with local conditions. Germany's industry has long been accustomed to work for Russia. Germany has built certain types of agricultural machinery and railway material especially designed for use in our country.

Naturally, under present conditions, Germany can not, independently, play a great part, and German knowledge and skill must combine with British and American capital—possibly, in time, with the French—in order to carry on successfully and productively the coming work in Russia.

The soviet government is not against international collaboration. It will strive only to ensure that this collaboration will not assume the character of a monopoly injurious to Russian interests.

Soviet Economics.

The economic system founded in Russia by the will of the Russian working people, is founded on the principles of ownership by the whole people of the whole land, and state control or nationalization of the most important branches of industry and foreign trade. These foundations remain unshaken but they do not exclude the possibility of working side by side with foreign capital.

The transition to this new economic policy has thrown open with considerable scope, not only private commerce and small production, but private capitalistic enterprise.

The Russian revolution never enacted complete abolition of property, even at a period when the soviet was obliged, by military conditions, to introduce the strictest centralization of communism in the sphere of small production but the regime of private property continued to exist.

Completing Code.

At the present moment we are approaching the completion of a civil code which will regulate property relations, the activity of limited liability companies, industrial and commercial societies, the exchange of credit and bills of exchange, with similar phases of commercial life. All of these regulations will be acceptable to foreign capital, and will completely guarantee the protection of its means of production.

Foreigners concluding contracts with the soviets for leases of large tracts of land, factories, workshops, and other concessions, will receive, moreover, additional guarantees to all rights, on the basis of the concessionary agreements themselves. These agreements will guarantee the full freedom of the administering enterprise within the framework of the general laws of the republic, freedom of movement about the country, inviolability of property rights and the right to dispose of profits after expenses and agreed payments have been met.

Olive Branch Held Out.

The soviet has taken all measures possible to render successful the coexistence and collaboration of the two economic systems.

It will now be for the capitalist world to accept the olive branch held out by the soviet, instead of remaining stubbornly in its previous position of blockade, boycott and intervention.

We are convinced that the sympathies of the peoples of the world are on the side of the laboring masses of Russia. Only mistakes by their governments can prevent the establishment of a firm and general peace and the consummation of fraternal cooperation in the task of repairing the ravages of the world war—itself the logical consequence of the contradictions contained in the capitalist viewpoint.

MOVIE THIS MORNING FOR JUNIOR RED CROSS

A motion picture of the work of a former Atlanta girl among the famine stricken children of Czecho-Slovakia will constitute a part of the program at the Junior Red Cross benefit matinee at the Howard theater at 10 o'clock this morning. The Atlanta girl is Miss Fanneal Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Z. D. Harrison, who established a reputation for able marshalling of relief forces while doing war work "overseas."

Sharing honors with Miss Harrison in the screen program will be the popular Mary Pickford in "Through the Back Door," a wholesome romance involving the adventures of an American girl in Europe before the world war and during the war, with a delightful windup in a regular U. S. A. setting.

The proceeds of the matinee, for which a nominal admission charge of 10 cents will be made, will go to continue the relief and educational work of the Junior Red Cross among the mountain children around Highlands, N. C. The organization is making it possible for many poor mountain boys and girls to gain an education and is effecting a remarkable change in the habits of life of many of these people, improving the standards of living and making them healthier and happier.

The work that Miss Harrison is doing among the people of Czecho-Slovakia is attracting great attention among humitarians. The people have suffered woefully from the hardships of war, and of revolution. Thousands of children would have died of starvation had it not been for the relief work in which Miss Harrison is engaged. The motion picture shows many of these children.

The matinee will begin promptly at 10 o'clock Saturday morning and the two feature pictures will be shown only one time so those who wish to see them should be on time.

The benefit matinee was cordially indorsed by Superintendent of Schools W. A. Sutton and the Parent-Teacher associations have co-operated with the Junior Red Cross in advertising it. In addition to the Czecho-Slovakia relief work film and the Pickford picture, the program will include a comedy, a motion picture of a children's Easter egg hunt, and an educational film.

M'COLLUM CLUB WILL MEET MONDAY EVENING

An interesting meeting of the McCollum Club of Applied Psychology will be held Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Carnegie library, at which time the business women of the club will have charge of the program, the subject for the evening being "Success, Prosperity and Abundance." Those who will speak are Miss Lorah B. Allen, Miss Minnie Cates, Miss Lula Ham, Miss Harriet Wells, Mrs. Wallace Simpson, Mrs. Daisy M. Holliday and Mrs. L. H. Rucker. These ladies are using psychology in relation to business, and will tell how. All members are urged to be present. The meeting will be presided over by Mrs. L. L. Boyer, the president.

Georgia Railway Chief to Attend Parley in Italy

L. A. Downs, of Savannah, a native of Greencastle, Ind., graduate of Purdue university and vice president and general manager of the Central of Georgia railroad and president of the American Railway Engineering association, has been appointed one of the six railway executives to represent the United States railroads at a world's transportation conference to open May 1 at Rome, Italy.

This announcement was made Friday by Dean A. A. Potter, of Purdue university, who stated that the selection of Mr. Downs and the past honors he has obtained mark him as one of the most able graduates of the university, and one of the leaders of the country in the railway field. Mr. Downs will sail this month from New York with the other rail men from this country.

At the recent annual meeting of the railway association in Chicago, Mr. Downs was given a specially prepared certificate as a token of the esteem in which he is held by the Purdue alumni in railroad work, the presentation being made by Dean Potter on behalf of the alumni.

COLUMBIAN AGENTS IN CONVENTION HERE

Agents of the Columbian National Life Insurance company, of Boston, Mass., were assembled Friday in convention at the Piedmont hotel. The meeting was held in honor of the visit of Assistant Secretary Philip M. Childs. Representatives of every section of the state were present as guests of General Agent Alfred C. Newell.

The convention opened with a morning conference at which plans were outlined for a strong campaign for new business.

It was expected that President Childs, who has been in the south, would be present, but a telegram was received stating that he regretted that business engagements made it necessary for him to return north.

The session ended with a dinner, at which speeches were made by Mr. Childs, Mr. Newell, L. L. Copeland, Mayor B. C. Ray, of Arlington; J. D. Thornton, of Tallapoosa; J. L. NeSmith, of Tifton; O. A. Roberts, of Macon; W. B. Luke, of Nashville, Ga.; Colonel Lewis Russell, of Winder; F. F. Talley and others.

Assistant Secretary Childs said: "I am agreeably surpriced to find your city with record unprecedented for building permits, with banks almost top-heavy with money, and the farmers, while somewhat crippled over last year's experience, meeting the situation with a strong hand and a degree of optimism which is wonderful.

"We have had a very interesting convention. General Agent Newell has been with our company for over eighteen years. His record is too well known to have any comment from me. It can best be expressed in the telegram which was read today from President Childs in which he said: 'To you, Alfred Newell, I send my cordial thinks and grateful acknowledgment of your many years of service unmatched for unwavering fidelity, clearness of purpose, and successful administration of your large territory.'"

DR. ALEXANDER LYONS WILL TOUR NEAR EAST

An invitation has been extended to Dr. Alexander Lyons, rabbi of the Eighth Avenue Temple, Brooklyn, N. Y., who is widely known in Atlanta, to make a tour of the Near East countries under the auspices of the Near East Relief organization, it was learned Friday by friends here. Dr. Lyons has accepted the invitation and will sail for Constantinople the latter part of May. He will return in the fall.

MR. AND MRS. SULLIVAN HELD ON BOOZE CHARGE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sullivan, who were arrested early Friday morning in the Cherokee county hills in an automobile containing 64 gallons of whisky, were held under bond for alleged violation of the prohibition act when arraigned for preliminary trial. Sullivan admitted to Commissioner Carter that he was transporting the whisky, but declared that his wife had no knowledge of it.

T. P. A. MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN SUCCEEDING

Approximately 100 new members have been secured in a membership drive by post B, Travelers' Protective association, according to announcement Friday. Progress of the campaign will be discussed Saturday night at 8 o'clock when the post meets at the Ansley hotel.

GRAND JURY INDICTS TWO ATLANTA WOMEN

The Fulton county grand jury Friday returned two true bills against Mrs. D. W. Hylen and Mrs. Etta King Nolan, charging them with having impersonated Mrs. E. O. King in transactions with three large department stores here in securing a quantity of clothing.

TWO TAX COLLECTORS MAKE SETTLEMENTS

Final settlement of taxes with the state for collection in 1921 were made Friday at the office of General William A. Wright, state comptroller, by Tax Collectors W. H. Hulsey, of White county, and C. P. Baird, of Muscogee county. All tax collectors must settle by April 20, according to the state law.

Marks Beginning of New Era of Pure Bred Stock-Growing in Georgia Next Meet in Carrollton.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON.
Constitution Staff Correspondent.

Tennille, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—The conclusion tonight of the two-day session of the Georgia Swine Growers' association, and the sales conducted under its auspices, marks the beginning of a new era in pure-bred stock growing in this state, and especially in the growing of merchantable hogs.

The great meeting marks a new era of prosperity for Georgia, for it has been demonstrated beyond challenge that the pure-bred hog will root a path of financial success for the farmer if he will join the association, and participate in the advantages of co-operative marketing.

The porkers that were sold here yesterday, eight carloads in a lump knock-down, brought a good premium over the southeastern market quotations for the day—all because such a co-operative efficiency was sufficiently large to attract a corterie of buyers to the scene, pitted against each other.

Friday afternoon more than $10,000 was distributed to Washington county farmers for fat hogs. The prices paid were nearly a cent a pound over the market and were the highest prices yet realized by owners in some months. Previous to the sale of pure-bred hogs this afternoon, H. M. Franklin, president of one of the local banks, stated his bank would loan money to any farmer who desired to start a herd of registered swine. Practically every banker in the county joined in this movement, to stimulate the raising of better hogs.

The sale of 45 registered animals began today at 2 o'clock and within two hours 45 thoroughbreds from various members of the association throughout the state had been sold for approximately $1,400. Over 30 farmers and stock raisers were buyers but 300 people crowded around the selling ring.

Hardwick Present.

Governor Hardwick was an interested spectator, enjoying a ringside seat. He bought two hogs and immediately gave them away, one to his son-in-law, and the other to Tennille Boy Scouts. The first hog he purchased had been given the Tennille Woman's club by the association and the bidding was keen and spirited with the governor the victor.

C. J. Skinner, of Waynesboro, bought several head, as well as prominent breeders throughout the state. Officials of the association announced tonight the Tennille meeting was one of the greatest in the history of the organization. After sale of hogs another automobile ride was given visitors of several of the numerous dairies and stock farms of Washington. The next meeting will be held in Carrollton, September 6 and 7.

Other Investigations.

The Swine Growers' organization is also demonstrating the value of growing only pure-bred stock for market as well as for breeding pens, and in the growing of that stock to a standard of weights and measures. The fact that the grading is systematic, and that seconds, thirds and fourths—although pure-bred stock—are penalized in the price offerings illustrates the value of striving for the number one prime standard, which is the top-notch basis for fat hog trading.

The sale yesterday of 130,000 pounds of porkers at $8.70 a hundred was fully a cent to a cent and a half a pound more for hogs, by grades, than offered by small buyers, and that much more than the hogs would have brought at private sale, which would also have necessarily entailed endless details and troubles, and a considerable loss of time.

To Revolutionize Industry.

The system of co-operative marketing, therefore, which has been found of inestimable value to fruit and vegetable growers, and even in the marketing of such a steady, imperishable staple as cotton, is destined to revolutionize the hog industry in Georgia, and go a long ways toward solving the problems of a money crop to take the place, to some extent, of cotton.

The affair just closed at Tennille was of constructive value to all Georgia. It was more than a success, measured from every viewpoint. Tennille has some of the livest and snappiest civic organizations that ever functioned in towns and small cities of its population class. The "Ad club" stands foremost, and the Woman's club is a strong and forceful co-operating power.

The banquet Thursday evening was prepared and served by the Woman's club, and a more beautiful function of the kind has never been given in Georgia in any but the larger cities. From the preparation of the food, the almost faultless service, on through the program of music so charmingly rendered by the orchestra, composed of some of Tennille's best-known and most popular young men and women, and down to the difficult but very important functioning of Toastmaster Franklin—a prince in any capacity—the occasion was a crowning feature to an event that will forever stand out with distinction in the history of Washington county.

The concert tonight by the G. M. I. glee club and band, these organizations having been instrumental in much of the enthusiasm of the whole two-day session, was a fitting climax to an occasion that in its delightful social intermissions and sidelights, but which, most of all, means much of a constructive nature for the future welfare and prosperity of Georgia.

Pet Cat Comes Back After 150-Foot Fall Into Niagara Gorge

Niagara Falls, N. Y., April 7.—Nig, a pet cat of customs and immigration officials at the American end of the lower steel bridge, jumped 150 feet into the gorge last night when chased by a dog, and turned up today a little ruffled of fur, but otherwise little the worse for the adventure.

After the cat plunged in the gorge, men employed on the bridge saw her crawl on the rocks below and try to climb up the steel arches.

Efforts to rescue her failed, but today she appeared dragging herself up the edge of the precipice near the bridge.

FARM LOAN MEN WILL MEET HERE TUESDAY, APRIL 18

Representatives of approximately 160 farm loan agencies of Georgia will hold a meeting at the chamber of commerce Tuesday, April 18, it was announced Friday by A. L. Hensen, of Calhoun, Ga., who is arranging for the gathering. The agencies will be represented by their secretaries, it was said. Ways and means of obtaining more money from the government to lend farmers will be discussed.

Staff officers of the United States navy total 1,983 men.

ATLANTA BRANCH OF ROAMER PLANT SOUGHT BY MAYOR

Efforts to bring to Atlanta a branch of the Barley Motor company of Kalamazoo, Mich., manuyfacturers of Roamer automobiles, are under way, according to reports Friday. S. G. Gray, factory representative, was in the city inspecting various factory sites.

Mayor Key recently wired L. R. Fulton, sales manager for Roamer cars, citing many of the advantages offered by this city to manufacturers.

All-Day Singing.

There will be held at the West Side Primitive Baptist church, near the corner of Kennedy and Vine streets, the first all-day singing of the season, next Sunday, under the auspices of the Stone Mountain Sacred Harp Singing association. CARNEGIE LIBRARY RECORDS BROKEN FOR CIRCULATION

More people are using the Carnegie library of Atlanta now than ever before in its history, according to records of the library compiled by Miss Tommie Dora Barker, librarian, and announced by Miss Baker Friday. The first three months of 1922 were the busiest the library has ever experienced and more books were taken by the public than for any similar period in its history.

In March 48,523 books were circulated, which is greater by 12,000 than were circulated in the same month last year. The total circulation for the first three months was 137,014, an increase of 30,431, or 38 per cent over the same period in the previous year.

Miss Barker said the circulation in all the branch libraries has increased, but said the greatest increase has been shown in the main library. She stated that it now requires four members of the staff at the lending desk where two or three were able to handle the business heretofore.

MONEY WELL SPENT.

Despite the unusually low market value of farm products during 1921, every dollar that was invested in agricultural education in the high schools of Georgia during that year yielded $1.40 in return, according to a report issued a few days ago by the state board of vocational education.

This is a remarkable showing, affording convincing evidence that money judiciously applied to teaching our rural high school boys and girls how to farm is money well and wisely spent.

An analysis of the report, made by the board for the benefit of the public, sets forth that the report of "home projects" work conducted by the teachers of vocational agriculture in connection with their instruction in 1921 "shows that a return of $11.20 in increased production was realized from every dollar that the state legislature appropriated to help carry on this work," the figures being based on the proportion of state funds that was paid as salaries to the teachers; and, the analysis continues—

"Vocational instruction in agriculture is a regular part of the school work of the public schools of the state, and as such is more interested in boys than in production; at the same time, however, it is gratifying to note that as a type of practical education it is highly efficient from an economic point of view.

"The 'home project,' or farming that the boys do for themselves, in connection with the instruction in vocational agriculture, is used merely as a method of teaching, and is not designed primarily as a money-making scheme."

The extent of the remarkable development that Georgia has made along this line in recent years is indicated by the report of State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain for 1921, which shows that in 1905 there were only seven four-year accredited high schools in the state and these graduated only 57 pupils, while in 1921 there were 183 public high schools graduating 3,894 and 29 private schools graduating 648. There are at present 325 consolidated schools in the state of Georgia.

Agriculture has been taught as a regular high school subject in Georgia only since 1918, when the state board of vocational education was organized. The figures quoted above speak for themselves as to the wisdom of the experiment.

This instruction is paid for jointly by the federal government and the state; but the money that is available with which to carry it on is insufficient.

As the report of the board declares, "the limiting factor in the development of the work is the lack of funds;" and "the increase in funds for the coming year will not permit the establishment of more than 10 new schools. Already more than twice as many applications are on file as can be approved for the coming year."

This investment is yielding the state handsome dividends, not only in actual cash returns, but—of far greater value—in increased productive power of our rural communities, and a higher standard of citizenship on our farms.

The state legislature should see to it that work of this kind does not suffer for lack of financial sustenance.

Of course, Mr. Bryan is "getting somewhere." He even gets paid for monkeying with "The Descent of Man."

"Americans chase dollars," says Mrs. Asquith. She didn't speak of English lecturers who come over to chase the dollar chasers.

Uncle Sam will soon recover from that falling off in income tax returns. He's a shrewd business man, with any number of schemes for making good.

AN ENCOURAGING SIGN.

The fact that business conditions on Wall street took a sudden turn for the better a few days ago and continued to improve until, on April 6, the aggregate transactions in all classes of stocks and securities reached the largest total recorded during any session of the exchange since 1920, does not of itself signify that the commercial and financial structure of the country has suddenly bounded "back to normalcy."

But it indicates a change for the better; and it is at least a decidedly hopeful and encouraging sign, portending a better day for business the country over.

The sudden rise or the equally sudden drop in the quotations on a given stock on Wall street may, of course, mean nothing as to the actual intrinsic value of that stock nor as to the actual status of the commodity it represents, for the fluctuation may be, oftentimes is, merely a response to a bull or a bear movement.

But when practically all standard securities—railroad, steel, oil and all other staple industrial stocks—go up or down, as the case may be, concurrently, on Wall street, the movement is dependable as reliably indicating the business condition of the country.

However much we may criticise Wall street and the methods employed on the stock exchanges—and regardless of the justification for such criticism—there is no escaping the fact that "the street" is about the most reliable "business barometer" to which the American masses have access, for, as The Wall Street Journal said in a recent editorial—

"Fluctuations in the stock market are not the reflection of what a few powerful bankers think, nor of what well-informed operators think. The average price of securities is dictated not by what is publicly known now, but by all the combined intelligence of the country can foresee from its own business experience. Nobody knows everything in Wall street; but the market as a whole knows everything, and foresees far more than any individual who may for the moment be an influential part of it.

"This is why the stock market is a barometer."

And that is why the current Wall street news reports of brisk trading in all classes of industrial securities, and on an ascending market, spell encouragement for business in all lines and gives promise that the season of depression is nearing its close.

WORK AS A REFUGE.

There are many stories of European noblemen, left financially stranded by the late war, having to go to work for a living, but we rarely hear of a wealthy one working "because the routine life of a nobleman bores him."

But that, according to a news item, is the reason given by Algernon George De Vere Capell, who is the eighth earl of Essex, and has organized a concert troupe in which he acts in "a female impersonation stunt."

The item states that his troupe "includes a gardener's daughter, two English farm girls, a village seamstress and several sturdy farm hands," and that he is giving his troupe a tryout by touring his estate near Herefordshire, England.

While he might have donned a workman's blouse and become a day laborer with the rest of his farm workers, and so obtained the relief he seeks from the aristocratic routine, the show business had the greater appeal, and he's able to indulge his preference for it.

It is such a novel undertaking for a nobleman that, if he should extend his tour to the great cities, his troupe would doubtless play to big business!

Why shouldn't he make an American tour, as well as other of his countrymen who come over and tell us of our faults and foibles at $1,000 per lecture?

His show would very pleasantly vary the monotony of at least a few of the former literary performances of which we have had so many, and whatever merit the earl possesses as an actor would be handsomely acknowledged!

Perhaps he would not tell us, in possible newspaper interviews, that we are not as literary as we think we are; that we don't really know how to enjoy life, and that American women are not so beautiful, after all.

He would probably be in a good humor with himself, and so would contribute to keep us in a happy, smiling condition.

At any rate, as an experiment, a visit from his unique concert troupe would be worth while.

But the best thing about the English earl's new departure is the appeal of work—of some sort of employment—to the minds of those who can afford to live without it.

Since the Einstein theory has reached the movie picture stage, we'll probably be able to get relatively close to it.

All that's needed to demonstrate that there's life in the old land is a well-wielded bunch of farming implements.

The Editor Draws the Line.

The Brookfield Argus addresses this one to the town photographer—

"We warn him kindly not to be snapping our ash pile or our assortment of winter cans and rubbish as they are there for a reason and a purpose. We have been using the back yard as a place to practice our winter golf; the ash pile we tee off from and the cans have been used in the place of golf balls. We expect to drive them all off across the alley into the neighbor's yard by the time the spring garden arrives."

Holds That Grant Park Proposal for School Is Justifiable Exception

Editor Constitution: No doubt your editorial on th euse of parks for school purposes was inspired by the movement now on foot to use part of Grant park for the Girls' Senior High school.

As a concrete proposition you are right in your opposition to the use of our limited park space for any other purposes than recreation grounds, but in the present instance it is planned to use the north end of Grant Park for the Girls' High and to substitute an equal number of acres by purchase at the south end, thus preserving the original area for park purposes.

Surely, in this contingency you could offer no plausible objection, as the building of the Girls' High in the park would add much to its beauty and attractiveness as a playground.

The proposed location in the north end of the park is most ideal, with splendid street car service radiating to every part of the city and surrounded by beautiful homes. And the home owners on the streets abutting the park are a unit in favoring this site, as will be shown in a petition to the park commissioners and board of education to be presented at their meetings Monday next.

The Girls' High is to be located on the south side, and no suitable site at a reasonable price can be had outside of Grant Park, unless it be the city stockade, which seems to have been eliminated on account of the odium attached to it as a prison. However, the 98 acres composing the stockade property is a magnificent body of land and could be converted to school purposes to the great advantage of the city. It would make a most admirable site for the city tech, a boys' high, a vocational or training institute, or any kind of school, and as the city council has already tendered it to the board of education for school purposes it should be accepted and used for that purpose without a dissenting voice.

The city stockade is now a barrier to the city's expansion on the south side. It has served its day and generation as a prison, and the city should not longer impose its unpleasant memories and odium upon the community in which it is located by continuing it as a prison. It should be converted into a park or used for school purposes without further delay.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, April 8.—A star's dressing room! An elaborately marcelled woman smoothing out gowns of silver, gold and lace. More like a reigning dowager than a stage dresser. Far off the faint sobbing of a muted violin and muffled beat of drums. The opening overture.

And then a honk in the areaway. A uniformed call boy throws open the door and she arrives—tossing an ermine coat to the floor as if it were a discarded flower. Frantic dabs at grease paint and powder box, snatching puffs from a cigarette with the quickness of a lizard's tongue the while.

Raps at the door. A smooth white arm snatches gay colored boxes filled with flowers. She looks only at the names on the cards and tosses them in a heap in the corner. Her eyes are fever bright and two hectic spots flame in her cheeks.

In a few moments like a puff-ball she floats airly out before the sea of faces with a burst of hand-claps. Her name swings from lip to lip. Women suck in their breath in admiration and the eyes of the men take on a covetous gleam. All spellbound by the supreme stage illusion.

In the movies they flash back. So! I had just come to the theater from a house in a narrow, crooked street where river warehouses sprawled in a disorderly array. In a lean-to shack, bent over the river, lay a bald, hook-nosed, lean-jawed man—one eye socket flat and empty.

His cough could be heard above the shriek of the river craft—wherries, tugs, police cutters and steamers. All melodrama is not of the stage. Life itself is melodrama. He was the star's father. Her mother, a notorious South American procuress. But he had asked to see her—the star.

Her reply: "He can go to hell!" He died the next day. And those who say newspapers are ruthless in shattering of reputations may be interested to know this. Not a New York newspaper printed the story.

I don't know why a red-headed man should be any more amusing wearing a monocle than those with hair of other shades. But a monocled red-haired man was laughed at all the way up Fifth avenue the other afternoon.

The Palm Beach crowds are back. And the migrations to Europe have set in. Most New Yorkers who flit from resort to resort tarry in town only a week when they return from Florida. The fine homes in the east side are being boarded up for the summer. The caretakers and their families are sitting out front, which means that summer is really here.

Eugene O'Neill has launched another theatrical success under the management of the Provincetown Players down in the village. The latest is called "Henry Are." The first was "Emperor Jones," which later moved up to Broadway and played for a season. O'Neill's "Annie Christie" is playing at still another Broadway theater. An odd genius is this playwright who lives far away from the Rialto amid the fisherfolk. He has seen life at its crudest and his plays reflect it. Several years ago he was stricken with tuberculosis and he built a home on the Atlantic coast—rarely going anywhere or receiving visitors.

Down on Oliver street, a thoroughfare teaming with newly arrived Russian Jews, they hold sidewalk dances nightly. The music is furnished by a mouth organ and the participants chip in to buy lemonade and sandwiches. It is a community spirit that does not exist in any other section of New York.

Decatur Board Of Commissioners Sworn Into Office

Decatur, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Everything in general has been running along here for the past several weeks with induction of the new board of commissioners into office as the chief event in sight—and tonight the oaths were administered to four of the new officials in the courthouse and to the fifth in his bed.

And after this had been done Scott Candler was elected chairman and ex-officio mayor, and Tuesday night set as the date when a new city manager will be selected.

Walker White, W. S. Howard, J. A. Hall and Scott Candler were sworn in at the courthouse by Ben Burgess, clerk of the DeKalb superior court. C. A. Matthews, the fifth nominee, was ill at his residence, so the officials adjourned there to administer the oath.

Mr. Candler's election as chairman and ex-officio mayor creates a vacancy on the board of education and a new member will be elected at an early date. Through his new office, Mr. Candler will be an ex-officio member of the board.

The new board succeeds the five commissioners who resigned several weeks ago in order that the two political factions might reach a compromise and peace declared in city affairs.

CREST IS PASSING IN RIVER FLOODS

Memphis, Tenn., April 7.—Falling stages from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to Helena, Ark., and all levees holding marked the southward movement today of the crest of the Mississippi river flood.

At Helena and Old Town, Ark., the latter endangered for several days by a weakening embankment, reported the passing of the crest of the high water today with the gauge at Helena showing a drop of two-tenths of a foot from the high stage of 52.3 feet. At Cairo, where the fall in the river was halted several days ago by a second rise coming out of the Ohio and other tributary streams, the water was again falling, with a stage today of 50.2 feet, two-tenths below yesterday's mark.

The crest of the flood is expected to reach Vicksburg about Sunday.

The Ohio was falling today at Louisville and points north of that city; was rising at Evansville and Shawneetown, Ill., and stationary at Paducah. St. Louis reported a rise of four-tenths in the Mississippi. At Memphis a fall of three-tenths was recorded.

MRS. J. E. BAXTER KILLED EN ROUTE TO SEE SON HERE

Information was received here Friday of the accidental killing in Cartersville early Friday morning of Mrs. J. E. Baxter, age 65 years, of Calhoun. She was en route to Atlanta to visit her son, J. G. Baxter, when the automobile in which she was riding turned over, pinning her beneath it. She died instantly.

The body was sent from Cartersville back to her home in Calhoun. Besides her son, J. G. Baxter, of Atlanta, who is employed by the street railway company, she is survived by another son, C. C. Baxter, who was in the automobile at the time of the accident.

SURCHARGE HEARING SET FOR SATURDAY

Hearing on an appeal by railroads of Georgia from the railroad commission's order abolishing the Pullman surcharge in this state will be conducted at 10 o'clock Saturday morning by Examiner Eddy, of the interstate commerce commission. The hearing will occur in the appeals courtroom at the federal building.

An order issued by the railroad commission on Decermber 20, 1921, abolished the Pullman surcharge in this state. On the ground that it was a discrimination against interstate commerce, several railroads filed an appeal, which was referred to Examiner Eddy.

ROME HERO LAID TO REST THURSDAY

Rome, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—The body of Charles W. Graves, young Rome soldier who was killed in battle in France during the world war and which was made to symbolize thousands of other American dead when the transport Cambria brought more than a thousand bodies to Brooklyn last week, was laid to rest Thursday in Antioch cemetery with full military honors by Shanklin-Attaway post of the American Legion.

More than a hundred members of the post in full uniform and a number of civilians took part in the services. The young soldier's body was laid to rest by the side of his mother.

OFFERS $50,000 TO BUILDING FUND

Rome, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—A proposal has been made by J. Paul Cooper, head of the board of trustees of the Darlington school, to give $50,000 if the citizens of Rome would furnish an equal amount for the building of a handsome and modern building for the school at a site which has already been purchased at DeSoto park. The matter has been taken up by the Rotary and will be taken up by the Kiwanis club with a view to securing the additional $50,000.

ORMEWOOD PARK ASKS NEW GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Members of the Ormewood Park club will hold a meeting at 8 o'clock Saturday evening for the purpose of formulating plans and appointing a committee to request the board of education to consider Ormewood Park as a site for one of the proposed new grammar schools, it was announced Friday by T. L. Simpson, president.

Mrs. Andrews to Speak.

Mrs. J. E. Andrews, president of the state council of Parent-Teacher associations, will address the ladies' class of the Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. All members are urged to attend.

LABOR APPROVES POWER COMPANY

The Atlanta Federation of Trades entertains no grudge against the Georgia Railway and Power company, but, on the contrary, regards it and its undertakings with cordial sympathy, according to a report of the legislative committee of the labor organization adopted at a recent meeting and published in The Journal of Labor.

The report declares the Federation of Trades to be broad enough to judge specific issues on their own merits and with no color of prejudice. The report states that the federation does not put itself in the position of agreeing with everything the power company may do, but asserts its right to approve as well as to criticise.

The federation "pledges President Arkwright, and through him his company, our friendly attitude in their undertakings."

Report in Full.

The report follows in full:

At a regular meeting of the Atlanta Federation of Trades held Wednesday, February 10, the legislative committee was instructed to visit Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and express to him the best wishes for himself personally and the company and further to say to him the federation would gladly render its aid in any manner that would be useful in furthering the projects proposed by the Georgia Railway and Power company.

The legislative committee waited upon Mr. Arkwright and sumitted its report to the federation at its meeting Wednesday, February 24.

The report of the committee was unanimously adopted, and on motion the committee was requested to make known the federation's relationship to the company.

In compliance with that request your committee begs to say: An impression seems to prevail in the public mind that there is an inherent hostility against the company by labor. This body is big and broad enough to differ specifically with the company and all employers, and agree with them and be helpful as to others. Organized labor never thrived on malice or hatred.

The public should be given to understand that the federation is fully able to judge when and where he activities of this body is necessary either for or against the company.

Forward Movement.

We believe the recognition by the Georgia Railway and Power company of the moral relation in its dealing with organized labor has been a forward movement in the improved understanding between employer and employee.

We realize hat in the contractural relations entered into by he Georgia Railway and Power company with its organized employees they recognize the right of collective bargaining and the right of organized labor to a voice in the fixing of rates of pay, hours of labor and other conditions of employment. We believe this policy has been a great benefit to the growth and prosperity of Atlanta.

Your committee feels that the Georgia Railway and Power company possesses the confidence and esteem of this body and the good will and encouragement of its undertakings.

This does not imply that as an organization and as citizens the body is called on to agree with the company in all its undertakings.

This does not imply that as an organization and as citizens the body is called on to agree with the company in all its projects, but it does mean that we judge each proposition on its merits and by our own understanding in nowise formed by passion or prejudice or outside influence and opinion.

Therefore be it resolved, That the Atlanta Federation of Trades pledges President Arkwright, and through him his company, our friendly attitude in their undertakings.

Be it further resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to Mr. Arkwright and a copy be printed in the Journal of Labor.

JEROME JONES, Chairman,
WILLIAM VAN HOUTEN,
J. F. SCOTT,
W. E. WELLS,
C. F. JACKSON, Secretary.

DRIVER OF TRUCK THAT KILLED BOY GIVEN 12 MONTHS

Will Mitchell, a negro, charged with assault with intent to murder, as the result of an automobile accident in which Theron Hardy, a boy of 12 years, was run over by a truck the negro defendant was driving, was found guilty by a jury in the criminal division of Fulton superior court Friday which recommended that the offense be treated as a misdemeanor.

Judge John D. Humphries sentenced Mitchell to serve 12 months on the chaingang and pay a fine of $500, with the provision that on serving six months of the sentence and paying the fine the remaining six months would be suspended.

Mitchell contended that the accident was unavoidable. The accident occurred at Courtland and Edgewood avenue, July 31, 1920.

EX-MARINES GET VICTORY MEDALS AT OFFICE HERE

Application from former members of the marine corps for victory medals continue to arrive at the local recruiting station at room 510, post-office building.

During the past month more than 100 victory medals with clasps and stars have been issued to ex-devildogs in the southeast, and on the fifth anniversary of the declaration of war by the United States almost every man who wore the unform of a marine has been issued one of these medals.

YOUNG PHONE GIRL SHOOTS HER FATHER

St. Louis, April 7.—Miss Maude A. Ritchie, 18-year-old telephone operator, today shot her father, George A. Ritchie, 53, a butcher, whom she asserted was abusing her mother.

Ritchie was taken to the city hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious. He suffered two bullet wounds in the left side.

Hearing the shots, police entered the home and found Ritchie on a bed. "I shot myself," Ritchie was quoted as saying. "I have been sick."

Several blocks from the home, however, police found the girl with a revolver and she readily admitted firing the shots, according to the police.

"He had been talking abusively to mother," police quoted the girl as saying. "I had obtained his gun when he started abusing mother and when he came at me, it was discharged."

Mrs. Ritchie corroborated the girl's story, police said.

GIRLS' HIGH SENIORS PRACTICING FOR PLAY

"Quality Street" is the title of the play to be presented by the senior class of Girls' High school on May 19, it was announced Friday.

Rehearsals are already in progress, the cast, including 30 members of the senior class. The play will be a distinctive feature of the annual commencement exercises.

NEGRO VOTERS PLAN POLITICAL MEETING

Registered negro voters of Atlanta will hold a mass meeting at Big Bethel A. M. E. church at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, immediately following the regular meeting of the Atlanta branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Among the speakers will be Dr. R. H. Singleton, H. A. Rucker, A. Graves, S. W. Walker, Rev. P. J. Bryant, Rev. E. P. Johnson and Dr. J. W. E. Bowen.

VI. "DOES THIS REBUKE US?"

Here are two instances of soul-winning in foreign fields.

Do they not rebuke us?

Do they not, also, provoke us to emulate their good works?

A Japanese Christian tells how he was won to Jesus: "A missionary lady got twenty-five Japanese boys into a class to tell us of Jesus. We had great curiosity to see this foreign lady; and not caring about Jesus we did care to see how everything looked—her dress, her books, her furniture, her pictures. But every time she would have us read the Bible. We had the Gospel of Luke. We read till we came to the crucifixion. She could not speak Japanese. She had an English Bible; we had a Bible in the Japanese language. When we read the story of the cross, she got down on her knees and prayed for us. We could not understand what she said, but we watched her close. Soon she began to cry. Then she fell on her face, weeping bitterly. Then twenty-five Japanese boys cry, too. Then inside of three weeks all us twenty-five boys give our hearts to Jesus."

A missionary thus describes some of the methods of personal work used by the Korean Christians. "Soon after my arrival I was assigned to do visiting in certain homes, and a little book was given me containing the name of each believer. On each page was a second name, and when I asked what that meant I was told that that was the name of the unbelieving woman for whom this believing woman had promised to work and pray until she became a Christian. As soon as one had become a Christian her name was transferred to another place, and the first sister would select another for whom she would work and pray. Pretty definite personal work, don't you think so?"

Perhaps you have now felt for several days that you would like to have such an experience.

You have felt that you would like to go to your pastor and talk it over with him, but shyness and timidity have held you back.

Determine to follow the good impulse; go to him at once and volunteer for such work.

SCHOOL PATRONS GIVE LUNCHEON TO SCHOOL BOARD

Members of the board of education and the lady board of visitors, Superintendent of Schools W. A. Sutton and Cator Woolford were entertained at a luncheon given by patrons of the Grant Park school Friday, and inspected the dental clinic which Mr. Woolford is supporting at the school.

Atlanta dentists are giving their services at the clinic. Six hundred and eighty-five children have received dental examination and of this number 590 were found to have defective teeth, Superintendent Sutton said he learned at the luncheon. Mr. Sutton and Mr. Woolford made talks. Others also spoke.

The result of giving the dental attention to the children has raised the percentage of children receiving promotion, it is said, showing that the value of the work is a great success.

MAN IS BADLY HURT IN CAR-WAGON CRASH

William Winert, of 44 East Harris street, was taken to Grady hospital shortly after 7 o'clock Friday night suffering with a fractured skull as the result of a collision on Ivy street between Harris and Baker streets between a street car and the wagon he was driving.

The compact between the street car and wagon hurled Winert about 20 feet, witnesses declared. The injured man is in a serious condition, according to physicians attending him.

Augusta Street Car Company Halts Peace Move

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—(Special.) The Street Railway company here today turned down a compromise proposition made to it Wednesday by committees of city council, and the street cars for the present, at least, remain in the barn.

The city offered to order jitneys one block away from track streets if the company would consent to certain agreements, among them 8 cents fare for casual patrons. The company says that it will try the one block away plan, but will not attempt it at less than 10 cents for casual patrons, asking, also the order that jitneys shall not cross Broad (the main) street.

The company stated frankly that it has been clearly demonstrated by thorough tests and experiment that both the jitneys and the trolley cars can not "live" here, and it was in recognition of that proven fact that it stopped its cars.

There seems now to be agreement on all questions except on the fare for the casual rider; the city insisting on 8 cents; the company insisting on 10 cents.

It is inferred that the council committees will meet promptly to formally receive the reply of the road. Just what are to be the future steps to get the cars again going is not known.

CONVICTIONS END LOOTING OF CARS IN FREIGHT YARDS

The wholesale stealing of goods from cars on the tracks of the N. C. & St. L. yards has been broken up with the conviction of Joe Askew, Ambrey Gunn and George Johnson, negroes, in Fulton superior court Friday, according to a statement by J. M. Jarman, inspector of police for the railroad.

Mr. Jarman, who was assisted in working up the cases against the negroes by City Officers Case and Cothran, declared that the men took the goods from the cars at night, hid them, and then had them taken away in drays the next morning. Will Keasley, the alleged drayman, is now being held at the Tower on charges of accessory after the fact of the robbery.

Askew was put on trial and convicted, after which the other two negroes entered pleas of guilty to the charges. They were sentenced to serve a year on the chaingang in all four cases against them.

DAVENPORT'S NAME, FOR POSTMASTER, SENT TO SENATE

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(Special.)—The nomination for appointment of D. F. Davenport as postmaster at Americus was sent to the senate today. Mr. Davenport is well known throughout south Georgia and has received much praise for his splendid work as postmaster at Americus.

BOEHM AND STOCKARD REPRESENT CIVITANS

Julian Boehm, president, and Dr. Cecil Stockard were chosen delegates from the Civitan club to the international Civitan club in Chattanooga within the next few weeks at the regular weekly luncheon Friday. John G. Pasco and Norman Miller were elected alternates. A large delegation will attend the Chattanooga gathering from the local club.

FRIENDLY MEETING BETWEEN PREMIERS

BY HUDSON HAWLEY.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Paris, April 7.—Lloyd George and Premier Poincare held an intensive conference for an hour and a quarter in the Salon of the Gare du Nord Friday afternoon, while hundreds of curious spectators crowded around the windows in an attempt to view the two statesmen in their earnest conversations.

The conference, an official communique, issued afterwards by the Quai d'Orsay declared, was "friendly in tone," and Premier Poincare "showed himself disposed to urge the French delegation to Genoa to do everything possible towards the success of the economic conference.

Extraordinary police precautions were taken to prevent interruption of the two men throughout the time Lloyd George was in Paris. Lord Hardinge, ambassador to Paris, and Louis Barthou, member of the French delegation to Genoa, played minor roles in the Lloyd George-Poincare meeting.

The French delegation, it is learned, has a draft of a cut-and-dried proposal regarding Russian debts, which will be presented to the soviet delegation. Premier Poincare, after his interview with the British leader, informed the press that he believes the soviet is willing to recognize Russia's debts to France.

Incidentally, it seems that Poincare has gathered the impression from Lloyd George that English authorities have now become somewhat suspicious of Moscow's commercial promises. It is said, too, that the British prime minister favors close economic and financial collaboration between the French and the British at the Genoa convention.

In his talk to the press, Poincare added that "the Franco-British military pact is morally signed."

The premier intimated that Lloyd George still believes in the possibility of a liquidation of inter-allied debts, but that he recognizes that this action depends entirely on America's attitude.

Poincare cannot go to Genoa until after President Millerand has returned to Paris. In the meantime, he will keep in closest touch with the French delegation, which has no power to make a decision on any point whatsoever without first obtaining the sanction of the cabinet.

Hardison Faces Trial for Shortage In Ward's Accounts

Perry, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—The grand jury today returned a true bill of indictment against C. H. Hardison for embezzlement of funds placed in his hands as guardian of Miss Mabel Corder, of Houston county. He appropriated about $900 placed in his hands as her guardian to his own use, it is alleged. Miss Corder requested a settlement some time ago and Hardison stated he had spent the money and could not pay it, she charged. She had a warrant for him and in committment trial before Judge A. C. Riley, of the city court, he was bound over to the superior court in a bond of $1,000. This case has been contianed to the October term of Houston superior court for trial. Hardison also is being sued in the city court on his bond as clerk of superior court for $2,279.22 placed in his hands as guardian of Miss Connie Harvey, of Atlanta, and alleged to have been appropriated to his own use. This case is now pending in the court of appeals, Judge Riley of the city court having ruled that the bond company was not liable.

WOMEN VOTERS DIVIDE STRENGTH ON CITY CHARTER

Mrs. McCord Roberts, it was announced Friday, has resigned as publicity chairman of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, which is backing the Watkins charter, and it is said will throw her support to the Choate charter. A number of the league members will work for the Choate plan, according to announcement Friday of Hugh M. Willet, chairman of the charter commission.

The three camps are preparing to send out campaign speakers next week. Next Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the League of Women Voters will hold a mass meeting at Wesley Memorial church. Respective advocates of the three charters will announce a series of meetings early next week.

Dissension Rocking Ranks of Disabled Veterans in Macon

Macon, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Dissensio ni srocking the ranks of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War in the Macon chapter.

Major E. Julian Peacock, Jr., commander of the Macon chapter, will leave tomorrow morning for Atlanta to confer with state officers of the organization in regard to controversies and contested elections in the Macon outfit.

Friction was existed in the chapter since the organization meeting, when Major Peacock secured 25 out of 36 votes cast, and defeated R. W. Epps, the organizer, who acted as temporary commander.

THREE LEFT IN RACE FOR TAX RECEIVER

Three candidates for tax receiver were left in that race Friday night when Walter C. Taylor, city clerk, and W. H. Arnold withdrew. The official ballot for tax receiver, which will be used in the election April 18, will be as follows: William H. Abbott, John W. Armistead and Dr. William L. Gilbert. Mr. Arnold retired in favor of Mr. Abbott, while Taylor retired without preference for any candidate.

Virlyn B. Moore was the only candidate to announce to succeed Dr. W. L. Gilbert, who resigned as a member of the Fulton county commission to make the race for tax receiver.

Mr. Taylor's statement follows:

"I have decided not to continue in the race for tax receiver of Fulton county, and in making this announcement wish to thank the many loyal friends who have been supporting me.

"The campaign calls for all of a candidate's time. In order to give this I would have to neglect the office I now hold. This would not be fair to the public or myself. I am deeply grateful to the people of Atlanta for the confidence they have shown in me and will continue to give my best efforts."

King Victor Emmanuel of Italy has awarded the Croce di Guerra posthumously to the late Lieutenant Colonel Charles W. Whittlesey, former commander of the "Lost Battalion." Men with ranks of privates to lieutenants were similarly honored.

Paint and Mops Making Atlanta "Spotless City"

If Atlanta keeps her present pace in the city-wide clean-up campaign the proverbial cleanliness of "the driven snow" will be surpassed, according to Cator Woolford, general chairman of the committee in charge.

Mr. Woolford was all smiles and enthusiasm Friday when he received reports from all sections of the city, which indicated that Atlantans are in dead earnest this year in the clean-up movement and are accomplishing results which are amazing.

"When this work is concluded by grand opera week, people will hardly be able to recognize the old town," Mr. Woolford said. "The movement is sweeping the entire city and is meeting with spontaneous co-operation from all sections. Every indication now points to the fact that Atlanta will for once be a clean city after the work now under way is finished."

Jentzen Reports Progress.

While only five days have elapsed since the campaign began, reports from Chief John Jentzen, head of the city sanitary department, indicate that more to complete the job, leaders in completely cleaned. With two weeks more to complete the job, leaders in the work are optimistically predicting that Atlanta will be the cleanest city in the country.

Monday the campaign enters upon its second week. Plans have been completed to check up on the work already completed and the work to be done in the various sections. A questionnaire will be delivered to every household, business office and factory in Atlanta by schol children and boy scouts. It is urgently requested by committee leaders that these questionnaires be filled out and handed back to the persons distributing them, or mailed to the office of the committee in the city hall.

Next week will be stunt week. A mammoth parade, composed of thousands of enthusiastic Atlantans, including members of the junior chamber of commerce, Woman's club, Parent-Teacher clubs, Rotary, Kiwanis, Civitan, Lions and all other civic organizations will participate. The parade starts from Peachtree at West Baker street promptly at 12 o'clock Thursday. It will march through the principal down-town section headed by Police Chief Beavers and a mounted detachment of officers. The entire police and fire departments, members of the sanitary department and a special squad of men armed with brooms, mops and brushes.

Will Aid in Clean-Up.

At Five Points this squad will drop out of ranks and begin cleaning up the streets in that vicinity.

Giving the Whitehall street viaduct a new coat of vivid red is the task of the Kiwanis club as its part in boosting the clean-up and paint-up campaign. The bridge will be painted with the reddest paint obtainable.

Next Thursday, immediately after the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club, the members will proceed to the viaduct, where paint will be waiting. The Kiwanians will take their own brushes and will paint until every inch of its grimy surface is red.

S. S. Selig, Jr., is chairman of the committee in charge. Other committeemen are George Eubanks, Charlie Miller, Arthur Brooke, Meyer Regenstein and George West.

Another stunt of the clean-up campaign will be the painting of the old engine "Texas" at Grant park by the Master Painters' association of Atlanta. The exact day for the task has not been decided, and will be announced later.

SEABOARD TO OFFER LOW EXCURSION RATE

The Seaboard Air Line railway announces that in addition to the sale of reduced fare tickets to what has heretofore been considered summer tourist points, it will, during the coming summer season, sell round trip tourist tickets to all points in Florida from stations on its line, including Richmond, Norfolk and Portsmouth; also Washington, D. C., and at its request, all lines in the southeastern territory will sell summer excursion tickets to Florida destinations.

Advice has also been received from lines in the Central Passenger association territory, including Chicago, Indianapolis, Detroit, etc., signifying their intention to sell summer excursion tickets to resort points on the Seaboard Air Line railway in the southeast, including Florida destinations, and it is fully expected that the lines in the eastern, western and southwestern territories will also grant the Seaboard's request and sell round trip tourist tickets at reduced fares.

The basis for these summer tourist fares this season is 80 per cent of the double one-way fare.

The Seaboard Air Line also announces that it will sell during the summer tourist season round trip week-end tickets to mountain and seashore resorts for Friday, Saturday and Sunday morning trains, good returning until Tuesday, at greatly reduced fares.

Heavy Liabilities.

DOKEY MINSTRELS WITH INSET OF NEWMAN LASER, ROYAL VIZIER.

The excellent minstrel show of the Knights of Khorassan, which was produced at the Atlanta theater Thursday and Friday nights, will be presented twice Saturday. A matinee will be given Saturday afternoon and a large portion of the proceeds will be given to the American Legion for the benefit of unemployed and destitute ex-service men. The last performance of the show will be given Saturday night.

Tickets for the matinee performance may be obtained from members of the American Legion club of Atlanta or from a booth at Five Points conducted by the legion's employment committee.

The Dokey show has won much popularity at its performances and has been highly approved by the audiences that have witnessed it. Some of the best talent in Atlanta is on its roster and a fast and snappy show is produced.

Some changes have been made in the program which provide for the introduction of some new acts which aid materially to the enjoyment of the performance.

Fight Is Planned To Drop Catholic School Teachers

Despite refusal of the advisory committee of teachers and principals to accept School Commissioner Carl Hutcheson's revision of the teacher "tenure of office" plan to provide that "all Roman Catholic teachers be dropped from Atlanta public schools unless they renounce the policy of that church, which is antagonistic to the public schools," Mr. Hutcheson announced Friday that he will fight at the next meeting of the board of education Tuesday to have every Catholic teacher dropped from the list.

There are said to be sixteen Catholic teachers and principals in the schools. Mr. Hutcheson started an ouster movement against Catholic teachers last year and the board dropped one.

Three members of the board were present at a meeting Wednesday afternoon when the amended plan including a rule against Catholics was adopted. They were Mr. Hutcheson, Mayor Key and Councilman J. C. Murphy. A subcommittee from the teachers' advisory body composed of Miss Jessie Muse, Mrs. Annie T. Wise and Miss Lillie Wurm met with the three board members. The rule was said to have been unanimously accepted.

Thursday, however, when the subcommittee reported the changes to the full advisory committe that body refused to concur, and will let the board of education assume the entire responsibility for such action.

SWITCH ENGINE KILLS WORKMAN ON SIDETRACK

John D. Etheridge, 43 years old, of 90 Flat Shoals avenue, who was employed by the Atlanta Joint Terminal company as a car repairer, was almost instantly killed at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning when he was run over by a large locomotive of the Central of Georgia railway on a sidetrack at Waverly Way. The heavy wheels passed over the body and death came before any medical aid could be rendered him, though the Grady hospital ambulance was on the scene shortly after the accident.

Etheridge was pushing a pair of wheels up a sidetrack when an engine backed into the spur. The victim's back was toward the engine when he was struck, according to witnesses. The body will be taken to Cummings by H. M. Patterson & Son.

CAR COMPANY OPENS GOOD WILL CONTEST

Employes of the Georgia Railway & Power company are being given a chance to display the originality and soundness of their judgment in the good will contest inaugurated by the company and open to its workers in every department.

The terms of the contest are simple. The company is willing to give prizes for ideas that will promote good will on the part of the public toward the company.

Ten prizes will be awarded, ranging from the first of $25 down through the second of $20, the third of $15, the fourth of $10 to the six final prizes of $5 each.

POLICE STENOGRAPHER GOES TO WASHINGTON

B. F. Hall, who has been connected with Chief of Detectives Lamar Poole in the capacity of a stenographer for the past two years, left Thursday for Washington, where he will be employed in the attorney-general's office. Mr. Hall was employed in the attorney-general's office prior to his arrival in Atlanta.

RESTAURANT FIRMS ATTACK STATE TAX

Savannah, Ga., April 7.—(Special.) Forty-nine individual restaurant firms in Savannah today, through an attorney, filed injunction proceedings to restrain the tax collector from collecting special taxes of $100 from each levied upon their concerns last year by the state.

Unconstitutionality of the law is claimed.

Mile Pursuit Ends In Liquor Capture But Owner Escapes

After an auto chase which carried him more than a mile from north of College Park into the heart of the town, Patrolman Jack Winkle Thursday confiscated 60 gallons of corn whisky which was found in a new Dodge touring car driven by a white man who made his escape at the approach of the officer. A negro boy, who refused to give his name, was arrested by the officer when the car was captured, but he refused to give the name of the man with him.

When Patrolman Winkle first saw the car, the driver became suspicious and attempted to outrun the officer but was captured as he entered the business section of College Park.

The white man is being searched for by the officers who have a good description of him.

Waycross Youngster Justifies Cognomen In Effort to Enlist

The "What's In a Name" club, founded years ago, has a new member in Will B. Ready, Waycross, Ga., youth, who applied unsuccessfully Friday for admittance to the United States Marine corps through the local recruiting station at Room 510, post-office building.

Mr. Ready, whose name is itself a poem of preparedness, was prepared for service with Uncle Sam's "devil dogs" in all particulars save one: He had not been born soon enough and consequently he was several months under the required age.

"I will be ready," said Will B. Ready, when Captain George Bower, the recruiting officer, told him to call again when he becomes 19 years old.

In the meantime he has returned to his home in Waycross.

13 RESERVE OFFICERS ASSIGNED TO ATLANTA

Special orders of Brigadier General Gordon, assigning thirteen additional reserve officers to the 304th signal battalion at Atlanta, were made public Friday by Colonel Wm. R. Dashiell, chief of staff. The assignments are as follows:

NATIONAL CLOTHING STORE EASTER EVENT

The National Clothing store, located at 98 Whitehall street, announces its Easter opening with an unusually attractive offering of crisp, new, finely-modeled and attractively designed wearing apparel for the entire family.

The National Clothing store is one of a nation-wide chain of clothing stores with headquarters in New York, America's recognized fashion center. There, a staff of trained and discriminating buyers and merchandising experts is on the alert, selecting the best the market offers and so keeping the stores supplied with an exceptional brand of men's, women's and children's apparel, at remarkably reasonable prices.

The National Clothing store has been successfully operated in this city for eight years and in that period has made many staunch friends because of the privilege it accords every honest person of opening a charge account on an easy payment basis and of the steadfast and unyielding policy of the president, J. Nathan, and the local manager, D. Brown to give every customer absolute satisfaction in every transaction.

Unkeep of the Hawaiian depatment of the United States army for the calendar year 1921 cost $11,720,605.

Site Is Selected For Junior State Of Georgia Boys

Decision to purchase a 100-acre tract on Campbellton road, about 14 miles from Atlanta, for the site of the junior state, to be conducted by the Juvenile Protective association, was reached Friday afternoon at a meeting of the committee named to inspect the site.

The committee visited the property in the afternoon and gave it a careful inspection. Meeting later in the Kimball house suite of Congressman W. D. Upshaw, president of the association, it was voted to buy the tract.

The junior state will be a miniature commonwealth, with three governmental branches—executive, legislative and judicial. All officers of the state will be boys and girls. The "citizens" will be given industrial and vocational training.

Next Friday afternoon the association will meet at its new headquarters, 812 Atlanta National Bank building, and discuss ways and means of raising funds for the purchase of the land and the erection of the necessary buildings.

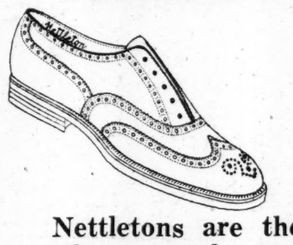

MRS. VINSON TO FACE JURY HERE APRIL 12

The trial of Mrs. Cora Lee Vinson, charged with the murder of her husband, Dr. W. D. Vinson, an Atlanta physician, several days ago, has been set for Wednesday, April 12, according to an announcement made in the office of Solicitor-General Boykin Friday.

The state will attempt to show that Mrs. Vinson had announced her intention of shooting her husband the day before she committed the act. It will also be a part of the prosecution to attempt to show that Mrs. Vinson had a charge of lunacy made against herself in the hope that she might be sent to the insane asylum until the matter of disposing of Dr. Vinson's property, which he had deeded to her, and about which there was litigation, had been settled.

Attorney William Schley Howard and James Branch will assist the state in the prosecution, while Samuel Hewlett and John Dennis, of Atlanta, and Judge Newt Morris and John Dorsey, of Marietta, will represent Mrs. Vinson.

People of Georgia Are Against Booze U. S. Agent Reports

L. G. Nutt, head of the government's narcotic force, arrived in Atlanta Friday and called on local narcotic and prohibition officials, following a month's personal investigation into whisky and drug conditions in Georgia, Florida and Cuba.

In a formal report telegraphed to Washington Friday, Mr. Nutt declared that recent developments in this state indicate that "Georgia is ready in every possible way to uphold prohibition enforcement and give all officials, especially Director Dismuke and Agents Henson and eMrrick, the greatest encouragement and support."

"I am happy to report," he said, "a most encouraging development in the way of popular attitude, both on the part of the public, now thoroughly aroused, and on the part of the press, where support is most helpful."

A. D. ADAIR, ILL WITH PNEUMONIA, REPORTED BETTER

A. D. Adair, well-known Atlantan, was reported to be in a greatly improved condition Friday following an illness of several days from pneumonia. Until Friday relatives held grave concern for his condition, but a change for the better has been reported.

Mr. Adair is president of the well-known fertilizer firm of A. D. Adair and McCarty Brothers. He resides at 809 Peachtree street.

SHIP SUBSIDY PLAN UNDER FIRE FRIDAY

Washington, April 7.—Charges that provisions of the administration's ship subsidy plan would prove discriminatory were made and denied today before senate and house committees considering the proposal.

Representative Davis, democrat, Tennessee, predicted that some features of the bill, especially the provision which would authorize American shippers to make deductions in their income taxes amounting to 5 per cent of the freight paid on cargoes carried in American bottoms, would work to the advantage of the "big" shipper and to the disadvantage of the less prosperous one.

The opposite view was taken by Chairman Lasker, of the shipping board, who declared that the income tax section, which it is estimated would result in an aggregate reduction of $10,000,000 annually, would discriminate against no one. Once in force, he said, certain minor inequalities in the application might come to light, adding that this could be remedied.

In planning for the building up of a privately owned merchant marine of the shipping board, Mr. Lasker said, hopes to assist in the establishment of an American merchant fleet comparable to that of Great Britain.

"We figured that if we could put American shippers on a par with British shipping interests, they could ask nothing more," the committees were told. "Japan didn't enter into our picture."

Mr. Davis read from an address by James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, expressing the opinion that the government merchant fleet compared favorably with ships flying any other flag. Mr. Lasker said Mr. Farrell evidently was "uninfomred."

"If Mr. Farrell would look over our fleet or spend three weeks in our offices, he would agree," he added, "that a large share of our ships cannot compete on an equal footing with foreign vessels."

Greek Princess Ill.

Athens, April 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Princess Elizabeth, wife of Crown Prince George, is seriously ill of typhoid fever. PROGRAM IS GIVEN BY HARMONY BOYS

Latest Selections Presented by Musical Organization From New York for Radio Amateurs.

Radio amateurs were given a big treat at 6 o'clock Friday night when Smith's Harmony Boys, of New York, who are appearing daily at the Rialto theater, gave a concert of seven numbers from WGM. During the concert numerous reports were received at WGM that the program was one of the clearest and best The Constitution has yet presented.

Members of the Harmony Boys' organization are H. J. Smith, Earl Andrews, Davy Davidson, Al Gold, Ralph Murphy and Elgin George. This is the second engagement they have played in Atlanta.

In harmony and syncopation the boys are peerless. All of their numbers were new and played from arrangements not heard before in Atlanta. The arrangement of "Wabash Blues," which they used, was one of the best to have reached here.

Their program consisted of seven numbers, which were as follows:

1. "Ty-Tee."
2. "Visions of Salome."
3. "Wabash Blues."
4. "The Chromatic Rag."
5. "I Got My Habits On."
6. "Some of These Days."
7. "Just a Little Love Song."

RADIO INSPECTOR WILL BE ASSIGNED TO THIS DISTRICT

A federal radio inspector will be assigned this summer to the fourth district, which includes Georgia, according to United States Radio Inspector W. Van Nostrand, Jr., who was in Atlanta Friday for the purpose of examining applicants for radio licenses.

At present this section has no inspector, but, according to Inspector Van Nostrand, who supervises wireless activities in the third district, with headquarters at Norfolk, it is planned to detail an inspector to this district in July. Headquarters will be established in Savannah or Charleston, he said.

Much interest was shown in the federal radio examination, which was held in the civil service assembly room on the fifth floor of the postoffice building. It was the first examination for radio operators held here in more than two years.

The examination papers will be forwarded by the inspector to Baltimore, where they will be classified and passed on. Applicants will then be notified as to their success or failure to secure the desired privilege.

WGM to Broadcast Glee Club Concert Tonight

"UNDERWORLD" SANDS AND THE BARBARY COAST EIGHT.

The Barbary Coast Eight is only a part of the Dartmouth Glee club, of Hanover, N. H., which gives a concert in Taft hall tonight. The concert will be broadcasted by WGM between 9 and 9:30 o'clock tonight.

The Dartmouth Glee club, which appears tonight at the Taft hall, and whose concert WGM will broadcast, is known as one of the best college musical organizations in the east. The club comes here from Hanover, N. H. Fifty members will be on the stage with the club. Included on the bill are banjo selections, vaudeville acts and vocal numbers by the entire group. In New York competitions against Harvard, Yale, Princeton and various other well known eastern colleges, the Dartmouth clubs for several years have been among the leaders.

The Atlanta concert is being given under the auspices of the Junior league, and the proceeds will go to charity. Tickets are on sale at the Cable Piano company.

ABOUT 50 APPLY FOR GOVERNMENT RADIO LICENSES

About fifty Atlanta radio enthusiasts were examined for United States government radio operators' licenses by J. Van Nostrand, federal radio inspector for the third radio district, Friday. The successful applicants will be announced later when the examination papers are corrected.

Mr. Van Nostrand arrived in Atlanta Thursday evening for a three-day tour of inspection and examination. He is making a round of the principal cities in the southeast in his territory and leaves here for St. Petersburg, Fla., tonight. His headquarters are at Norfolk, Va.

CUTHBERT THEATER WILL HAVE RADIO RECEIVING OUTFIT

Two complete wireless telephone outfits have been ordered by the Lee Amusement company, which operates theaters in Cuthbert, Ga., and Eufala, Ala., according to a letter to The Constitution Friday from E. Lee, secretary-treasurer of the company.

One of these outfits is being installed in the Victoria theater, in Cuthbert, and soon will be in operation, according to Mr. Lee.

Mr. Lee called attention to the installation of this equipment in connection with publication Friday by The Constitution of a story about Bainbridge and Tifton theaters planning to install radio receiving sets.

THOMASVILLE THEATER WILL INSTALL RADIO

Thomasville, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Thomasville will have a radio outfit, as Proprietor Frank Smith, of the Grand theater, has ordered the equipment for one and expects to have it on hand shortly.

It will be equipped with mechanism that will enable the operator to get anything that is broadcast from New York, Atlanta or other points.

Lesson No. 11
THE ELECTRIC MOTOR

In marine installations of radio equipment, the electric motor is a very essential feature and is in general use on vessels as a means of providing the mechanical energy necessary to revolve the armature of the alternating current generator. The function of the electric motor is to convert electrical energy, received from an outside source, into mechanical energy. Very similar characteristics exist between motors and generators of the same type with the result that motors will generate electrical current if driven mechanically and generators will provide mechanical power if connected to a source of electrical energy.

The principles by which an electric motor operates is briefly as follows: If a loop of wire carrying an electrical current is placed in a magnetic field, a force is exerted which tends to revolve the loop until it reaches a position at a right angle to the magnetic field. The loop will continue to revolve, if, upon reaching this position the current is reversed in direction. In the direct current motor the single loop of wire is replaced by many coils wound on an armature core and surrounded by several pairs of field poles consisting of soft iron cores wound with coils of wire through which a steady exciting current flows thus providing a strong magnetic field by constant strength.

The mechanical construction of the direct current motor is very similar to that of the generator described in Lesson No. 7, the armature coils are located in longtitudinal slots and connected to the many copper segments of a commutator insulated from the armature shaft. When the motor is connected to a source of electrical power, the commutator maintains the flow of current, in the armature, in such direction as to cause the armature to revolve continuously.

Like the direct current generator described in Lessons Nos. 9 and 10, the field winding may be either shunt, series or compound wound.

The speed of the direct current motor is changed by means of a variable resistance, known as a rheostat, connected in the field circuit. When the resistance is increased the field current is lessened and the speed of the motor increases. If the resistance is decreased, however, the current through the field winding is increased and the speed of the motor is reduced. In marine installations the motor usually receives direct current at a pressure of 110 volts from the ship's power plant. By direct connection of the armature shafts the alternating current generator receives mechanical energy from the motor and the speed of the generator may be increased or decreased by varying the resistance in the field circuit of the motor.

A very essential feature in connection with the proper operation of a motor is the starting of the box, the function of which is to prevent an excessive rush of current through the motor, on starting.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS!

Radio Editor—Please tell me how many feet of wire of No. 26 gauge copper I will need to wind a tuning coil that will receive up to about 400 meters. A. R.

Since wire is sold by weight, we will tell you in pounds. About an eighth of a pound will be enough, since this size wire is very thin and there is a great deal of it to the pound.

Radio Editor—I have an aerial about 150 feet long and about 25 feet high. I am using a pair of 2,000 ohm. phones, variable and fixed condensers and loose coupler. I can get only spark and that with my variable shut-off. Why can't I get music from WGM? I live about twenty-five miles from Atlanta. How can I improve my set so as to get the music? R. U.

You are too far from Atlanta evidently, to get the music sent out from there. What you will have to get is a vacuum tube and some kind of regenerative tuner.

Radio Editor—I have an audion set like the one shown in the enclosed hook-up, and it does not seem to be efficient. I get a steady hum in the receivers. Could you advise me on how to eliminate this trouble? With a crystal set that I made some time ago I had no such trouble. W. H. M.

The hum indicates that there is an open circuit some place in the set. You had better trace out the wiring in the set.

RADIO PHONE USED IN PASTOR'S ABSENCE

Wheeling, W. Va., April 7.—On account of the continued ill health of Dr. G. E. Lockhart, pastor of Wheeling Baptist Temple, a radiophone has been installed in the church and sermons will be received every Sunday morning from Pittsburgh. In the event of Dr. Lockhart's recovery, physicians say he will be unable to resume his work in the pulpit until after the summer vacation.

GETTING BEST RESULTS FROM VACUUM TUBES

A Puzzling Piece of Apparatus That Really Is Comparatively Simple.

The vacuum tube is still a puzzling piece of apparatus to a great many of the people who have just become interested in radio, when in reality it is a comparatively simple affair. In the first place there are several different types of tubes on the market, chief of which are the tubes put out as radiotrons. These tubes are also known sometimes as Cunningham tubes. Among the various types of these tubes are the U. V. 200 type. This is a detector tube only and the U. V. 201 is an amplifier. The difference lies in the fact that the first tube has a small amount of rare gas left in it, while the amplifier tube is exhausted to a very high degree. This is what sometimes makes these tubes a golden color.

The tube known as the U. V. 202 is a five-watt transmitting tube, and the U. V. 203 is a fifty-watt transmitter. The largest type is known as U. V. 204, and is rated at 250 watts. This type of tube is also known as a P tube and is the one that is universally used by the broadcasting stations. A station such as W J Z uses five of these large tubes, the retail price of which are $110 each. This may make some of the amateurs, who are averse to paying $5 for a detector tube, feel that after all they are lucky that they do not have to use P tubes.

Another type of vacuum tube is the A-P. These are made in only a very few sizes, principal types being the Electron Relay, which is a detector, and the A-P amplifier tube, which is another of the tubes that are exhausted to a high degree. Both of these tubes are very good and consume a little less current than the radiotrons, thus making the life of the storage battery longer.

Care of the Tubes.

A few suggestions relative to the installation and care of a vacuum tube will not be amiss at this point. In the first place, a vacuum tube has four contacts that must be connected up correctly or the tube will not operate. By looking at the socket that comes for a tube it will be seen that there are four binding posts. These are marked G, P, F, F. The G stands for the grid, the P for the plate, and the two marked F mean that these are the points for the connection of the filament. As the tube fits into what is known as a bayonet socket, it will be found that it cannot be put in incorrectly, but the beginner will have to be very careful to see that the binding posts are connected up right.

Usually the beginner burns out his first vacuum tube after a very short time, or sometimes as soon as the set is connected up. Then there is always the attempt to get a new tube for the one burned out, and usually a few words with the dealer. These tubes are all tried out and are correct before they leave the factory, and usually the dealer himself tests the tube before it leaves his hands. The beginner, however, does not know this, and he invariably thinks that the dealer has tried to "stick" him. If the tube is bought at a reputable radio house the beginner can wager on it that the tube is all right. If a vacuum tube is used with care and connected into the circuit correctly it should last for several years.

To Connect Outfit.

If the set is a home-made one the best plan to follow is to connect the storage battery first and try out the filament. If the tube does not light you will know at once that there is something wrong. Never connect the B battery until you are absolutely certain that the wiring is correct. If the B battery is connected in such a way that the current will flow through the filament the filament will last just about as long as it will take you to wink your eye. When this happens the best thing to do is to throw the tube away and buy another. There have been, from time to time, certain firms that make a business of repairing burned out vacuum tubes, but owing to the patent situation they are no longer allowed to do this sort of work. At the best vacuum tubes that were repaired in this way were very unsatisfactory and had a very short life. The beginner will do well to realize that when a tube is burned out it is absolutely useless.

In any circuit that uses a vacuum tube it should be equipped with a grid condenser and grid leak. The latter piece of apparatus is not used in all sets, but it will be found that if the value is right louder signals will be received on less battery consumption. The grid condenser is absolutely essential and cannot well be dispensed with. Remember that when a vacuum tube is used in the circuit care will have to be used if the tube is expected to give results.

RADIO BILL READY TO GO TO HARDING

Washington, April 7.—Legislative action was completed late today on the navy radio bill, which would extend until June 30, 1925, the time in which government-owned radio would be permitted to handle press and commercial messages across the Pacific. The conference report was adopted by the senate as it had been yesterday by the house, and the measure now goes to the president.

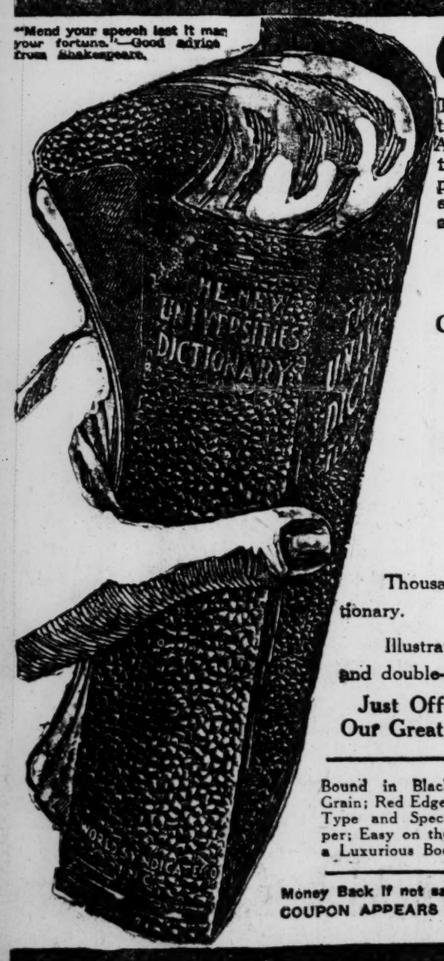

An exception is made in the measure, however, in that such messages shall not be accepted for Chinese stations after January 1, 1924. This was necessary, it was explained, because of provisions in treaties negotiated at the armament conference.

Public use of the naval controlled wireless would have expired June 30, this year, and the house in its original measure proposed a one-year extension. The senate amended the bill so that the extension would have been for five years. The conference committees finally compromisd on the three-year limit.

The London Hospital, one of the most important medical schools in London, has decreed the women students will henceforth be excluded, the reason given being that joint instruction on certain subjects cannot properly be conducted with mixed classes.

Statement of
John W. Armistead
Candidate for Tax Receiver

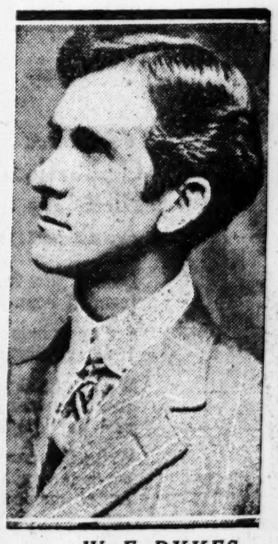

In offering for Tax Receiver for the unexpired term, I desire to make the following statement:

My father bore the entire expense of the campaign of 1920. He was duly elected Tax Receiver for the full four-year term. With the exception of one who voluntarily withdrew to make the race for himself, those on my ticket constitute the office force of my father at the time of his death. I offered to carry out the agreement of my father with the entire office force. I feel that those of us who remain in the office are entitled to serve for the unexpired term at least. I realize fully the responsibilities of the office. My experience in managing the office for my father during the past six years, except for the time I served in the World War, enables me to render efficient service to the public. The County Commissioners evidently realized this when they appointed me temporary Tax Receiver. It is reasonable to assume that we are in position to render better service than an inexperienced force coming into office during the middle of the year.

W. F. DYKES

Mr. W. F. Dykes has been a resident of Fulton County and a taxpayer for the past thirty years. He is a charter member of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist Church, a graduate of Emory College, and a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He has taught in the Atlanta public schools twenty-five years. He has the respect and esteem of the teachers, patrons and thousands of pupils he has taught.

F. B. M'COLLUM

Mr. Frank B. McCollum, the son of Maj. J. L. McCollum, is also associated with me. Both he and Mr. Dykes are thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office.

We will greatly appreciate the support and influence of our friends.

Talented Cast In Coming Comedy.

It has been announced by Major Eugene R. F. Schmidt that two performances of "Mrs. Temple's Telegram" will be given at the Marist college auditorium, a matinee on Wednesday afternoon, April 19, and the final performance Thursday evening, April 20.

The cast for this production contains the names of several of the prominent histrionic artists of the city. Miss Margaret McCormack, whose performance of Marie in "Engaged by Wednesday," added more honors to her reputation, plays the part of Mrs. Temple, who is jealous of her husband's proceedings and not altogether credulous as to his explanation of them. Chess Lagomarsino plays the roll of Jack Temple. Edward Meacham is Frank Fuller, who endeavors to help Jack Temple in his troubles. Miss Gladys Reed takes the part of Mrs. Fuller, the mysterious woman who is entangled in the affairs of the Temples, by her efforts to hire a butler. Winthrop Putnam is the butler, a "treasure" in the play and in this production. Miss Nellie Sullivan, as Dorothy, proves again that her histrionic ability is as brilliant as her interpretive dancing. James Somers does fine justice to the part of Captain Sharpe, a dashing young officer. Miss Exa Mills plays the difficult part of Mrs. Brown in a refreshingly humorous way, while Stephen Simmons as Mr. Brown does a bit of character work that deserves high commendation.

Rock Spring Cake Sale.

The ladies of Circle No. 3, of Rock Spring Presbyterian church, will hold two cake sales on Saturday, April 8, one at Kress' Ten Cent store, 39 Whitehall street, and the other at the Piggly Wiggly store, at Peachtree and Tenth streets. The proceeds will go toward the new church building fund.

Psychological Society.

The Atlanta Psychological society, Mrs. Rose M. Ashby president, will meet Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the mahogany room of the Ansley hotel. The subject of the lecture will be "The Newest Thought."

There will be questions and answers on current psychological subjects. This will be an instructive and helpful meeting. All interested are invited to attend.

Clubs of School Girls to Gather At Bridge Party

This afternoon's bridge at the Atlanta Woman's club will be the occasion for bringing out a number of school girls' club meetings.

Miss Anne Foote will entertain four friends, Miss Laura Candler will have eight guests, Miss Carol Hood will have as her guests Miss Margaret Lawrence, Miss Mildred Vickery and Miss Frances Transeur; Miss Mary Taylor will entertain Miss Julia McCullough, Miss Victoria Iler and Miss Ada Terrill; Miss Joyce White will have a table of four, Miss Frances Cooper will entertain her club members, Miss Leila Kirkpatrick, Miss Betsy Binford, Miss Katie Binford, Miss Elizabeth Snow, Miss Sarah Smith, Miss Elizabeth Dennis, Miss Margaret Foster, Miss Carolyn Coles, Miss Edith Beasley, Miss Louise Arnold and Miss Evelyn Sheffield.

This group of eight young girls will later attend the tea-dance at the Atlanta U. D. C. chapter house.

Mrs. Clarence Coppedge will entertain eight friends at bridge in honor of Miss Gladys Therrell, of New York.

Ladies of the hospitality committee who will assist at Saturday afternoon's party sponsored by this committee will be Mrs. M. L. Thrower, Mrs. James L. Key, Mrs. R. M. Striplin, Mrs. Frank Burr, Mrs. Barnard Boykin, Mrs. Omar F. Elder, Mrs. William C. King, Miss Cora Brown and Mrs. Russell Birdges.

All guests have been requested to bring cards and pencils for both afternoon and night parties, 2:30 and 8 p. m., respectively. Parties may be arranged for the afternoon without previous reservation. There will be room to accommodate a few more tables. However, no further reservation can be secured for the evening party. These two occasions promise to be most happy. The hospitality committee will use the funds to complete payments on the furniture for the handsome office fitted up for Mrs. B. M. Boykin, president of the club.

Dr. Kirkland Dies.

Savannah, Ga., April 7.—(Special.) Dr. N. F. Kirkland, 63, died today after an illness resulting from the infection of a knee. For 42 years he practiced in South Carolina.

Mrs. Keough To GiveBridge-Lunch For Mrs. Ligon

Mrs. Hays to Speak At Waycross Mass Meeting April 12

Waycross, Ga., April 7.—(Special.) Mayor Lan T. Cowart today, in an official proclamation, designated the week of May 22-20 as "Made in Georgia" week, and every civic organization in the city is expected to enter into the spirit and work for the success of the week.

The chamber of commerce called for a mass meeting of the citizens to plan for the observance and celebration of the week. The meeting will be held on the night of April 12. Mrs. J. E. Hays, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Newton C. Wing, chairman of the "Made in Georgia" woman's committee, will be the principal speakers.

Waycross, home of the Georgia association, is expecting to take the lead in the state wide observation of the week.

Mass Meeting of Women to Be Held.

A mass meeting of the League of Women Voters will be held in the auditorium of the Wesley Memorial church Tuesday, April 11, at 3 p. m. Mr. Watkins and Mr. Sutton will be the speakers.

The regular quarterly meeting will take place at 2:30 p. m., at which time the present status of the charter will be given and reports from wards heard.

All members are urged to attend and bring friends.

Atlanta Children Are Setting Pace In Red Cross Work

The Junior Red Gross of Atlanta, the work of which has in more than one year been recognized as of such value that its plans have been proposed by the American committee of the Red Cross as a model for Junior Red Cross work all over the United States, is again in the limelight.

Its direct promotion of health centers in the mountain sections of North Carolina through contributions to the splendid work headed by Dr. Mary E. Lapham at Highlands, is one of the things which has called the attention of the children's bureau, United States department of labor, to the value and necessity for such work as the Highlands health center is doing, and the child bureau is organizing for health propaganda and actual remedial work through the schools of the southern Appalachian region.

The profits from the children's matinee this morning will go towards the health center at Highlands, where the famous Dr. Lapham is giving her expert services as a donation to the health of the mountain children.

It is a striking circumstance that in addition to the Mary Pickford picture which boys and girls of Atlanta will enjoy this morning the screen will show also Junior Red Cross work in Czecho-Slovakia, which was organized and directed by an Atlanta woman, Miss Fanneal Harrison, and taken by the Red Cross as a model for junior work all over Europe.

Thus the motion picture this morning, which will begin at 10 o'clock, will very distinctly show that Atlanta and the Junior Red Cross are conspicuous on the map, both of America and Europe.

Tea-Dance At Roseland.

The regular weekly tea-dance will be given Saturday afternoon at Roseland dance hall, corner Peachtree and Cain streets.

A special musical program has been arranged by the Melody Dance Players, who will furnish the music for the dance. Dancing from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

Many Parties Are Given In Honor of Miss Brittain

Miss Ida Brittain, a charming bride-elect whose marriage to Span Whitner Milner will be an event of this month, is being delightfully entertained with many parties.

Mrs. Harvey's Tea.

She was complimented Friday afternoon with a tea given in her honor by Mrs. Robert Harvey at her home on Maddox drive.

The reception rooms and the tea table were effectively decorated with bridal wreaths.

Mrs. Harvey was assisted by Mrs. M. L. Brittain, Mrs. Burgin and Miss Mary Harvey.

Miss Brittain wore a becoming costume of henna canton crepe with a hat to match.

Mrs. Harvey was gowned in black georgette.

The guests included 25 friends of the guest of honor, who were Misses Vivian Dowe, Margaret Dowe, Lucy Davis, Venice Mayson, Leila Ponder, Ethel Tye, Caroline Tye, Jean Douglas, Mary Shewmake, Elizabeth Corrigan, Mamie Powers, Maude Powers, Marjorie Weldon, Mesdames Robert Stokes, Walter Kelly, Thomas F. Sellers, Joseph E. Brown, H. A. Etheridge, Jr., and Willis J. Milner, Jr.

Other Parties.

Many other delightful affairs have been planned in honor of this charming bride-elect.

Wednesday, April 12, Mrs. Flippen Burge and Mrs. Joseph E. Brown will give a shower.

Wednesday evening, April 12, Charles Wilkes will entertain at bridge at his home on Fifth street.

April 13 Miss Venice Mayson will give a bridge party at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

April 14 Mrs. Stewart R. Roberts will give a bridge tea at the Druid Hills Golf club.

April 17 Mrs. Willis Milner will give a party following the wedding rehearsal.

Dinner Party Follows Rehearsal.

An event of Thursday evening was a dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. Rothwell Gann entertained in honor of the Freeman-Gann wedding party, following the rehearsal for the wedding.

The house was artistically decorated with palms and vases of flowers. The table in the dining room was adorned with a large basket of pink roses and lighted tapers in silver candlesticks. Mrs. Gann wore a gown of black and tomato red canton crepe.

Miss Freeman wore a quaint gown of rose and gold taffeta.

The guests included the members of the bridal party and a few close friends.

Mrs Holleran's Bridge Honors Miss Carnes.

Mrs. Cecil J. Holleran entertained at bridge Friday morning at her home on Austin avenue, in compliment to Miss Maybeth Carnes, an attractive bride-elect.

Eight friends were invited to meet Miss Carnes.

"Traviata" Musicale by Miss King's Pupils.

One of the outstanding events in musical circles of the week was the "Traviata" evening given by a number of pupils from the Lula Clark King Vocal school, at the lovely home of Mrs. William De La Perriere, 7 Fairview road.

Mrs. Rex Hutchinson read most charmingly the opera story, displaying dramatic ability and genuine art.

The duet, "Un di Felice," by Miss Rosa Cefalu and Adolph Aleck, was rendered in a most pleasing manner.

Mrs. Thaddeus Blackstock sang with sympathetic and convincing style.

"Sempre Libera," sung by Miss Cefalu, disclosed a voice of much flexibility and beautiful tone.

Miss Lyllian Smith, accompanist, ably assisted the singers and her work showed careful preparation.

Tea-Dance At Segadlo's.

There will be a tea-dance for the college and younger society contingent at Segadlo's, Pine street, Saturday afternoon, 4:30 till 6:30 o'clock. Special music.

Off With the Old—On With the New

Girls' Glorious Easter Hats

—Off with the old and on with the new is the Easter chant. When you are 4 to 12 you may be excused if it is your new Easter hat that renders you sublimely blissful on Easter Sunday and not a beautifully ornated sermon.

—What is more delightful to childish ears than "She's a dear in her Easter hat." And every ardent wisher for a sure-enough Easter hat will think a fairy godmother designed many of these.

Trimmed Hats, $7.50 to $25

—Braid, fabric and combinations of fabric and braid hats. Daintily be-flowered or with appliqued designs.

Sports Hats, $2.95 to $7.50

—Felt, wool and braid combined hats. The new shapes for sports wear.

Miss 14 to 17 Also Sponsors Easter

Sports Coats, $9.95

—One needn't be a devotee of sports to wear sports clothes, but it is true one will feel quite sportive in any of these coats. They are Easter sports coats. Sponsored by the discerning Miss of 14 to 17, who would cover her new Easter dress, knowing full well that on Easter, Winter consistently makes a last stand against Spring.

—Flare, wrappy or straight, mannish styles. Belted or plain. Drop shoulders or set in sleeves, inverted plaits and big pockets, $9.95 to $39.50.

A Festive Easter Note in Juniors'

Silk Dresses, $24.95

—Youth's a thing very precious and one's teens pass all too quickly. Does 15 to 17 feel this subconsciously and bring fresh enthusiasm to every pretext for new clothes? The glad Easter is only another excuse.

—Dark silk dresses will appear more frequently than not among the discerning younger set. Navy, brown and combinations. Crepes and crepes de Chine. Long waist models, kimono or long sleeves, tight at the wrist. Trimmed with buttons, panels and novelty hand-made flowers. $24.95 and $35.

A New York hotel is trying an experiment so important that I wish every hotel in the country would follow its example. It compiles every day a special menu card on which several different diets are listed.

If you are on a particular sort of diet, if you are suffering from any special complaint, or if you have any tendency towards certain physical troubles, you will find the right foods selected here for you.

Diet No. 1 is for those suffering from intestinal irregularities.

Diet No. 2 is for fat people and contains only thinning foods.

Diet No. 3 is for diabetes.

Hyperocidity and such troubles are catered for by Diet 4.

Diet No. 5 is for colitis, malnutrition, underweight people and convalescents. Being of simple, easily digestible, nourishing foods, this is also particularly recommended for children.

Diet No. 6 is for arterio-sclerosis, high blood pressure, faulty kidneys, or for those of advanced age or for those who have agina-pectoris

Diet No. 7 is for those suffering from rheumatism, gout or neuritis.

Each menu varies with every meal, and each is scientifically compiled by a diet specialist. If the guest knows the number of the class he falls under, all he need do is whisper to the waiter that he wants diet number so and so.

Bessie: After massaging the chin, a simlpe treatment can be used to close the pores and harden the skin. This may be done by dashing cold water over the chin and neck, followed up by gentle friction from a coarse towel, or just an ice rub, until the skin glows. A powerful astringent is made from one part white of the egg to six parts water. This is painted over the skin and retained for 20 minutes while it contracts the pores.

Mrs. S.: If you send me a stamped addressed envelope, I shall be glad to mail you a diet chart, as there is not space to publish such a list of foods at this itme.

B. I. A.: After the pores have become distended, it takes a long time to get any permanent results in contracting them. Professional treatments will hasten this improvement but you can help yourself with this if you always close the pores after bathing, by dashing very cold water over the face and throat.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chat" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

FLOWER GARDENS THRIVE ON MILADY'S CHAPEAU

It's spring and you might expect flowers to be lifting their heads above ground but many of them are much higher up than that, have won places on the most distinguished of hats, in fact. This return of flowers, just gardens full, is characteristic of the new millinery.

Mr. and Mrs. Childs Are Honored.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip M. Childs, of Boston, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Newell at their home in Druid Hills, and are being entertained at a series of social affairs.

Mrs. Charles C. McGehee entertained at an informal luncheon in honor of Mrs. Childs on Friday and Mrs. Russell Porter's informal tea Friday afternoon was also given in compliment to this visitor.

Mr. and Mrs. Newell will be hosts of a party at the dinner-dance at the Piedmont Driving club this evening, complimenting their visitors, the guests to include, besides Mr. and Mrs. Childs, Dr. and Mrs. Glenville Giddings, Judge and Mrs. Walter Colquitt, Miss Pattie McGehe and Spencer Tunnell.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Arkwright will be hosts at an informal midday dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Childs will leave Sunday afternoon for their home in Boston.

Sewing Party for Mrs. Carver.

An event of Wednesday afternoon was the informmal sewing party given by Mrs. C. W. Carver at her home on Adair avenue for her mother, Mrs. William Carver, of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Quantities of spring flowers in pastel shades were effectively used in decorating the home and the tea table had for its centerpiece a silver loving cup which held pink sweetpeas.

Sixteen friends of the hostess were invited to meet the guest of honor.

Smart Women at the Opening of the French Races Near Paris Show That Brown Straw Will be Considered Fashionable to Wear With Spring Frocks, and That It Will Try to Take the Place of Black.

Is brown about to take our thoughts away from black and red

Maybe so. Not only does France launch brown hats to go with her brown crepe de chine frocks, but notable New York importers show large and varied groups of brown hats, some large, some small.

The sketch shows one of the smart hats worn at the races in Paris at which France does her best to emphasize fashions of the hour, as well as those for day after tomorrow. The shape is small, the brim rolls upward across the front, as though it were a vizor pushed back by one who wanted to see. It is faced with brown crepe de chine, this vizor, and flanked on each side by sprays of uncut ostrich which closely resembles ferns that have been dried and dipped in some coloring fluid. They never even suggest that they grew on anything so sturdy and physically powerful as an African bird, that does not fly, and cannot sing. No wonder the milliners do such curious things to its plumage when nature has done such curious things to it.

Italy has persuaded France and America to make use of her several straws, especially those that go by the name of Milan, from the town which gave them birth. Crepe de chine, as a fabric for a hat, has been dropped into the shadows, although it is infrequently used to face a vizor, or to line a wide brim. Horsehair, especially when it glistens, continues fashionable, even though it was launched a year ago, and little was made of it in this country. Possibly it will reach the pinnacle of popularity this season. It is cool, which is an advantage to the American.

The soft felt hat which Paris has worn for years and which America has worn since last September, does not appear in the new spring fashions, but the ribbon-bound felt, which all the flappers wore until lent, has its rival in the banded straw, which the same venturesome young class is wearing during lent.

The shape in hats is not determined by any one milliner. Caroline Reboux, whose name usually leads all the rest, insist upon cart-wheel brims and wide high crowns, especially when she uses white straw, a kind called timbo. White Tagal straw is also used for immense hats and whatever else is white carries fashion on a swelling current.

The milliners do not even try to offset the dead-white hat with colors. They use white velvet roses, coarse white ribbon, white fur, shredded to look like feathers, in large clusters of ornamentation, which tends to give weight to the front or the side of these cart-wheel brims.

Small hat of brown straw worn at the first races in Paris. It has an upturned vizor lined with crepe de chine and uncurled ostrich over each ear.

(Copyright, 1922, for The Constitution)

Lanvin changes her Russian tiara hat to a steeple hat. It is a difficult shape to wear because it has no brim—merely a head band—and is finished at the apex with two long ribbons that hang in front, as far the waistline. It is not possible for this to be an overpopular hat, but because Lanvin sponsors it, it gains strength in America. This same milliner insists upon two floating ribbons. She uses them on hats that inspire other milliners to heavy and fanciful trimming. She and Poiret launch an extra-wide sailor hat with a crown that is not high, and a ribbon band about it which ends in two full streamers from the back. This is one of the favorite shapes for tailored suits. It was worn in Paris last August when the heat called for coarse black straw.

There is still a tendency to drop the sides of the hat toward the shoulder. And these brims are transparent as well as opaque. The lace hat is launched with the lace gown, and of the latter there are a-plenty.

The milliners have gotten away from the pointed Russian crown, which is a pity, for it has unusual attractiveness combined with the American face. The flower-pot hat which was featured in America in December is in first fashion, but it takes a peculiar kind of courage, and a knowledge of one's style to wear it. The loose, high crowns, which were once sponsored by men, have a large following, and some of them are placed above sloping brims, short and regular, which are weighted down with twisted cords in bright colors. There must be a fragile face beneath so heavy an ornament. It is not the kind of hat to throw at every woman.

THE HOUSEHOLD

CHILDREN'S FARE.

Did you ever go to have luncheon with a friend arriving at 12 in order to see the children in the nursery while they had dinner before they took their afternoon naps?

If you ever did, then imagine that you are now sitting there in the nursery while the children, hungry from their morning's outing, are sitting on little chairs at the small painted nursery table. The nursemaid appears with the try, or if it is a model nursery, the dinner tray is announced by a soft tooting of the dumbwaiter that goes from the nursery to the kitchen floor. At all events the dinner tray arrives. The children's dinner is ready.

There are lamb chops, well broiled and seasoned only with a little salt and butter. Then there are baked potatoes or mashed potatoes, very well cooked young carrots, of a tempting yellow. Or there may be fresh asparagus with melted butter. There are pieces of oven-dried bread, crisp and slightly brown. There may be a smooth yellow custard, or stewed fruit, or possibly ice cream or plain sponge cake.

"It looks so tempting," you say.

"Yes—I often wish I could eat here with the children instead of having luncheon downstairs. And we wouldn't need a high-priced cook, either—if we all ate as children eat'"

As a matter of fact, to many persons children's fare is tempting. It is eminently wholesome. The adult would need to modfy it only by having more or less milk, possibly, and more lettuce and coarse-fibered vegetables than are included in the menu of small children. Fresh fish should also be added for the sake of variety.

If you have children and you find it difficult to cook specially for them, why not do away with special food as it is prepared and chosen for children? You would find yourself very much better off for the change, and you would need to consult your doctor less often.

A Wife on Leave

by INEZ KLUMPH

Illustrated by MARGUERITE MEAD

Who's Who and What's Happened.

Richard Brabant, a successful young lawyer, has given a year's leave of absence to his wife,

Sally, hoping that she will be changed from a butterfly to a woman by learning something of life. She meets

Keith Gilbert, always labelled "Dangerous," and through him associates with New York's gayest crowd of celebrities; among them,

Lee Craig, a pretty artist, and

Graham Browne, a well-known financier. The gay life that Sally leads is not approved by her friend,

Barbara Lane, an old-fashioned wife, but is shared by

Patricia Loring, a modern flapper, who resents the fact that Gilbert is madly in love with Sally, as she wants him for herself. With Sally she goes to a house-party at Gilbert's country place, and is there when revenue officers appear to arrest Gilbert on a charge of bootlegging on a big scale, and because one of his men had killed an officer during a fight. Gilbert flees into the night, taking Sally with him, and tries to kidnap her, but she is rescued by

Neal Calhoun, who is trailing Gilbert. Gilbert accuses Sally of betraying him to Calhoun and vows vengeance. He is imprisoned, but escapes. Sally goes with Barbara Lane and her husband, Andrew, to a house-party at the Randalls. At the country club there she meets Gilbert, who goes under an assumed name, and is looking for her. Neal Calhoun rescues her when Keith Gilbert is captured. Returning home, Sally finds that her bank account is overdrawn, her rent over-due, her lease expires and that her mother-in-law has gone to Europe, and so cannot help her. She decides to work. She assumes the name of Mrs. Pemberton and gets a position as chaperon to Claire Finch, a girl of 17, with more money than manners.

Sally went to her old home the next morning, to take one last look about and see that Mrs. Barker had packed everything. She wanted too, to get some trunks of clothing which she had left there, not thinking she would need them. They contained frocks from Paris that, with a bit of refurnishing, would do for the summer.

The apartment was denuded, empty save for the barrels and boxes that stood about, awaiting the expressman. The furniture had gone on to the country place at Crooning Water, to be stored there until Sally could dispose of it. Mrs. Barker, less respectful now that she was not in Sally's employ, bustled about importantly.

"We sent out the announcements this morning so that I couldn't change my mind about eloping," laughed Pats.

It was no longer home; walking through the spacious rooms Sally bade them farewell. It was a relief to go out into the summer sunshine, to turn and walk south through the busy streets, where there was less chance to remember. She was like a beggar whose hands had been filled with gold which he did not appreciate, she told herself. She had had everything—and had complained of being bored!

She was thinking of the Finches, mother and daughter, when an arm was thrown about her shoulders and a gay voice cried,

"Sally Brabant—what on earth are you doing here?" And Patricia Loring whirled Sally around to face her.

"Oh, just walking. Where are you going with that great corsage bouquet of orchids?" demanded Sally. "You look absolutely bridal."

"Well, that's what I am," retorted Pats, slipping her arm through Sally's and sauntering along beside her. "Or, this is the great day, Sally. I'm getting married in about fifteen minutes, and was trying to get you by phone to ask you to help officiate, but they said your phone had been disconnected. Come on along—this is kind of an elopement, you knew."

"But who's the man—ho" Sally's throat contracted oddly; Pats had always liked Keith Gilbert; could he be the one?

Gibbs Hunter, of course," Pats replied, and Sally thankfully recalled the serious young chap who had dogged Patricia's footsteps for so long. "We're doing it at the family church, so that when mother and dad hear about it they won't be quite so horrified. I had announcements sent out too, in their name—they were mailed this morning, so that I couldn't possibly change my mind. Gibbs thought of that; smart, isn't he?"

Sally went on to the church with her, half laughing, half inclined to cry. This was so like Pats; this headlong dash into matrimony. Sally yearned to tell her all the things she thought she'd learned, but a glance at the self-sufficient youngster beside her proved the uselessness of that. Pats like half the brides of the year, would stumble into matrimony and work out her own salvation.

"I ought to warn you—Gibbs call me Patsy Louise." Pats was saying quite seriously, as they entered church. "He thinks Pats' is too hoydenish. You'd better make it 'Patricia,' I guess. Look—don't you like these decorations? I simply adore 'em. They were done for a wedding that was held here this morning, in this chapel, and when I saw 'em I said we'd change our minds about being married in the rectory and do it here. It does seem as if smilax was part of the wedding ceremony, doesn't it?"

"But Pats—Patricia—second-hand decorations?" asked Sally, subsiding laughingly into a seat.

"Oh, my dear, everyone did it last winter. Francie Bruner and Kit Lewis and the Haley twins were all married with the same lavender chrysanthemums, and got their families to give them the money they saved on flowers and spent it on an extra stick for the punch at the wedding feasts afterward, which I consider truly thoughtful. And during the holidays I was bridesmaid four times to one florist's poinsettias—morning, high noon, afternoon and evening. So why wouldn't somebody's rose trees do me a good turn, I ask you?"

Sally only laughed the more. They were charming decorations, it was true, white and yellow rose bushes had been trained so that the long thick stems lay against supports, and the branches spread out at the top thick with blossoms.

"But how did you happen to decide to do this, Pats?" demanded Sally, as they sat waiting for Gibbs and the minister. "When you were staying with me you swore you wouldn't marry anyone, and when I came back from the Randalls' and found that you'd gone, you just said in that note you left for me that you were going visiting."

"Well, I decided that getting married was rather like taking castor oil," explained Patricia naively, straightening the great bunch of orchids she wore. "If you think about it, you keep putting it off, but if you just shut your eyes and take it quickly, it's over—and that's all there is to it. "And Gibbs—well, he's a darling, you know."

"He surely is," agreed Sally warmly, giving her an affectionate kiss. "And I know you're going to be happy."

"Now, I'm not so sure of that," Pats told her, thoughtfully. "We're in love with each other, of course, but that doesn't mean that we won't quarrel. And we won't have much money and I'm horribly extravagant. Gibbs's money is tied up in a lawsuit, you know. No, on the whole, I don't believe we'll be so blooming happy right at first, Sally. 'I don't offer you happiness, I offer you love,' as the man said in the play!'" And she ran over to the doorway where Gibbs had appeared.

Watching her as she tucked her hand into his and smiled up at him, Sally shook her head thoughtfully. She herself had gone into marriage so differently, so blindly. This new way was less romantic, perhaps, but was it more certain to lead to happiness?

And later, after Pats had almost unconsciously prompted the slowspoken minister during the ceremony, they watched the newlyweds drive away in the roadster someone had lent Gibbs. There had been only one or two other guests, friends of his, who promptly disappeared. Sally walked across town and took the car to her boarding house with the lightheartedness of that unique wedding ceremony upon her. Even the thought of the Finches made her laugh. Life must be a happy thing after all!

THIS CITY IS GOOD TO US

TODAY 10 A. M.

We Celebrate The Opening OF OUR Second Shop in Atlanta

Please Be With Us

in the Heart of the Town

in the Heart of the People

At Number 8 Peachtree St. North East Cor. of ARCADE

FIVE THOUSAND FLOWERS FREE! Where'er you see a beautiful Flower it will be a sign of JOY. Tomorrow we are going to distribute 5,000 of our very prettiest to the Visitors at the Opening of Our New Down Town shop. Come and share our Happiness.

A little over a year ago we opened our first Atlanta store at 548 Peachtree street. (Near the Georgian Terrace.) This store has been a success even beyond our fondest hopes and expectations. We are justly proud of a business growth which in so short a time has made it advisable and profitable to open another store.

A Breath of Spring

At this season of the year our floral showings are especially attractive. Naturally—the new shop will have a particularly interesting display. When you enter the newest home of JOY tomorrow you will behold the very spirit of Spring in its fullest radiance of color, beauty and fragrance. You will understand why this has become the largest floral business in all the south.

We Are in Love

Yes—we are in love with Our Business. For three generations past the members of the JOY family have devoted themselves to the culture of beautiful flowers and the art of expressing the Language of Flowers. We attribute our success primarily to our appreciation of Nature's triumphs which have made possible our business.

Blue Ribbon Winners

At this year's National Exhibit of the American Carnation Society in Hartford, Conn., the First Prize and Blue Ribbon for the most perfect white carnation was awarded to the "Thomas C. Joy," a product of our gardens. Other prizes were awarded to other varieties from the Joy gardens and nurseries. Prominent florists throughout the United States are perpetuating these wonder-flowers by buying their seeds and cuttings from us. You can buy the Prize Flowers direct from the original growers—JOY'S.

Our Facilities

The opening of our second Atlanta shop also marks our Fifth retail establishment. Our stores are located in Atlanta, Nashville, Chattanooga and Clarksville, Tenn. More than three hundred retailers in Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama and the other southern states act as authorized agents for the JOY FLORAL CO. Our greenhouses aggregate over 400,000 square feet under glass. More than 150 workers find congenial employment and content in the service of this institution.

Mayor Amy in Ruthless War Against Fairport Bootleggers

MAYORESS AMY KAUKONEN AND THE RESULTS OF BOOZE RAID.

Dr. Amy Kaukonen, Fairport, O., the only woman mayor in the country, was elected on a dry ticket and surely is doing her best to make Fairport a second Sahara. The twenty-three-year-old mayoress leads booze raids herself and she has seized stills of all shapes and sizes as well as everything in the line of liquor from raisin jack to real old Scotch.

AT WOMAN'S WINDOW

BY W. L. GEORGE

There are fashions in emotions as well as in hats. In the old days, when a girl refused a proposal, she offered to be a sister to the unfortunate swain. Today we go further; young men and women enjoy the fullest liberty in street and drug store by day, at picnics by moonlight. And we are told that they are "friends." I wonder! Can red lips cease to entice? Broad shoulders to offer asylum? Can men and women stay merely friends?

Often, no doubt, the worn "friendship" is a parasol against scandal, but many such relations are simple and sincere. Absolute friendship between men and women is almost impossible; they can never be the same as between people of the same sex, for men and women are aware of differences. The peril is that we may pretend, that we may try to blind ourselves to the attraction that is there, secret and singing low perhaps, but there. For one day we fall out of pretense and are pitched, neck and crop, into paradise or an outer region. The only way to my mind, in which men and women can enjoy one another's society is to acknowledge that between them exists, if not love, the love's little brother. The kiss of friends is not the kiss of lovers, but it does unite. To know what one does, to know what one feels, and not to exaggerate one's emotion, there lies the only security, the only protection against the traps of illusion. One can never know too much of a friendship, if it is a friendship.

Popular Opera To Be Presented In Concert Form

Ernani, the first night opera and one of the most popular opera's of the coming season, judged by the sale of tickets, will be given in concert form at the Howard theater Tuesday morning, the sixth in the series of opera musicales that are being given weekly by the Atlanta Woman's club.

Mrs. T. T. Stevens, special chairman for the musical, has arranged, besides the delightful program that will be given by the Howard theater orchestra, the group of able singers; Miss Nellie Sullivan, dancer, and Mrs. Ulric Atkinson, reader; some special features that will be of interest to all who attend. Tickets to the opera Ernani will be given away and it is expected that owing to number of solos, duets, the incidental dancing, the delightful interpretation of the libretto as given by Mrs. Atkinson and the fact that Ernani is the opening opera and is to be sung here for the first time by the Metropolitan Opera company, that Tuesday's audience will be the largest of the season.

Mrs. Stevens has assisting her a large committee and tickets, which are fifty cents each can be bought from the committee or at the box office on Tuesday morning.

According to the Lake Carriers' association, circulating libraries are to be placed on ships plying the Great Lakes, an officer on each ship having charge of the library on his vessel.

WHAT'S WHAT

By Helen Decie

A woman should not attend any social function while wearing deep mourning. Nothing is in such depressingly bad taste as the exhibition of funeral clothes on a joyous occasion. If the mourner feels that she ought to attend a wedding or a social family reunion of any sort, she should exchange her black for lusterless white for the occasion, and should keep her sense of bereavement in the background as much as possible. If it is too difficult for her to do this, the wisest plan is to follow strict convention and accept no festive invitations during the period of her first mourning.

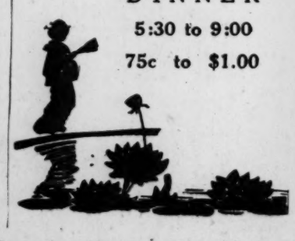

As total seclusion may be bad for the health and spirits, it is always permissible for the mourner, accompanied by a friend, to attend concerts, are exhibitions and dramatic performances, if she feels so inclined. There are very different from intimate social affairs where the habiliments of grief seem wholly out of place.

BOOKS AND MAN.

As I was riding home in a trolly car the other evening, the car paused to take on a passenger outside a house where the evening lamp had been lit and the curtain left up. I love to catch suggestive glimpses of the life that is forever going on behind the blank fronts of these strange contrivances we call houses, so I glanced toward the lighted window.

I could see just one bit of the room—a fireplace with several deep shelves either side of it filled with books, and a man sitting in an easy chair in front of it reading. In a few seconds the car moved on, but what I had seen seemed to open a vista to me, a vista down which I looked and caught a glimpse of what books mean to man and what life would be without them.

Life Without the Printed Word.

By books I mean, of course, magazines and newspapers and all the forms into which the printed words are put. Try to imagine life without them, no newspapers to read at breakfast, or to steal time from the dishes to glance over; no magazine to be brought by the postman to brighten the day with its promise of the next installment in that thrilling serial to be read after your work is done; no absorbing novel to form an undercurrent in your thoughts (again and again I catch myself subconsciously wondering how the person in some book I have been reading is getting along, without at first realizing that he or she is not a real person) and to crown the day's work with an evening of escape from reality; no record except inaccessible written ones of the vast and intricate development that has made the world what it is today; no biographies to thrill and inspire, or shame one out of depression and discouragement.

Of course it is absolutely unthinkable, and if it were not for all that has grown out of the little printing press at Gutenberg the world would not be in the least like the world as it is today. But just to glance down that vista gives one a shadow of an idea how large a part in our lives the printed word does take.

A Whole Evening to Oneself.

You may wonder why a man in front of an open fire with a book and the background of bookshelves should mean all this to me. He simply served to start the whole train of thought, beginning with the rich delight of an evening to oneself, in a comfortable chair in front of an open fire with a good book in one's hand, and shelves of other good friends old and new waiting to be communed with.

There is a little poem by Emily Dickinson which carries this thought better than pages that I might write. I think I could not do better than to stop here and give her the rest of my space.

"There is no frigate like a book
To take us to lands away,
Nor any courser like a page
Of prancing poetry.
This traverse may the poorest take
Without oppress of toll;
How frugal is the chariot
That bears a human soul."
—Emily Dickinson.

Romantic Adventure In Democracy de Luxe.

When princes, princesses, counts, barons, American millionaires with beautiful daughters, adventuresses and servants are all thrown together in democratic Washington in the year 1922, things are certain to pop. And pop they do in Parker Hord's "Democracy de Luxe," to be presented by the Players' Club of Atlanta at the opening of the Women's club auditorium April 17, 18 and 19.

The few privileged individuals who have been afforded an opportunity to witness the first rehearsals of the play all attest to the unusual spirit, dramatic coloring and novelty of the plot, which is so ably interpreted by the high order of local talent that makes up the cast. It would seem that the author had dipped his capable pen into the ink of a score of wells scattered all over Europe, from Constantinople to London, to achieve the variety and brilliance of his picturization of the intrigue of a Balkan kingdom in the manner that he has. The adventures of D'Annunzio, Semenoff or Charles, of Austria, in his flight for a crown, seem almost tame in comparison with the adventures of Prince Boris Varady, domiciled incognito in Washington for the life of the play.

Atlanta society is certainly going to be treated to as unusual an entertainment in "Democracy de Luxe" as has been its lot for many months, and that people realize that there is an unusually good thing in store for them is proved by the large number of reservations for seats that have been pouring in every day for the past week.

The general seat sale will not open until Monday, the 10th, but advance reservations may be made by sending check direct to Mrs. Murray Hubbard, in charge of the arrangements, at her home at 7 East Seventeenth street. The committee urges all who do not want to be disappointed in viewing one of the three performances to get in their reservations at once, as the accommodations of the little theater are limited.

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED
Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend in need.'"—Mrs. GEORGE HARDEE, 1043 Byram St., Los Angeles, California.

Touch Not (Rules of the Game).

The target should hang directly overhead, face down.

If you have been practicing with your outfit you will readily see the reason for these simple rules:

While one team holds the edges of the sheet, the captain tosses a rubber ball onto it, and, by slackening and tightening in unison on the sheet, the ball is caused to bounce. Should it bounce onto the floor that inning for the team is ended. Make the fourth bounce hit the target. Should the ball hit the floor in rebounding from the target the score will count but half of the regular count. TOUCH NOT the ball with the hands until an inning is finished.

The number of points and counts of circles are to be agreed upon before the game starts. Target may be suspended by ropes from tree branches or from picture molding in a room.

The Constitution Patterns

A POPULAR MODEL FOR SCHOOL WEAR.

Pattern 3191 was employed to make this style. It is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 12 year size will require 4 yards of 44-inch material.

Serge, linen, drill, jean, khaki, washable satin, madras and Shantung could be used for the blouse. The same materials are good for the skirt, which is also nice for serge, gabardine, voile or poplin.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

In ordering patterns write name and address plainly on a sheet of paper. Order by number and enclose price in silver or stamps. Do not mail letters to The Constitution building in Atlanta, but address it as follows: Fashion Department, The Atlanta Constitution, 1188-90 Fulton street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

TELL BIBLE CLASS ABOUT ARMAGEDDON

"What is Armageddon?" is a question to be discussed and answered by Dr. L. O. Bricker in his Bible class at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning, as one of his series of lectures on the doctrine of the "second coming of Christ," as interpreted and accepted by all of the great Bible scholars of today.

The class meets in the main auditorium of the First Christian church, and, at the request of many who are unable to attend on Sunday, the lecture is repeated each Wednesday evening at 7:30. The class will be omitted, however, on next Wednesday evening, due to the pre-Easter services.

SHORT CAPES GET "IN" ON "THESE NEW SUITS

This isn't the first time that it's been said, "the cape's the thing," but it is in quite a different connection this time. Many of the new bathing suits feature capes, abbreviated to be sure because they don't even extend to the waist—just a clever trick of getting "in" on the mode.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Precaution.

When the bedroom floor is to be washed, see that it is thoroughly dried and aired before night.

Odor of Fish.

Stand the silver in cold water a few minutes before the usual washing and the odor of fish will not remain.

To Protect Your Window Curtains.

If your curtains blow out of the window or against the screen, cover several dress-weights and slip them into the hem. This will keep them in place and save continual laundering.

An Ice Substitute.

When you have no ice and require a cold cloth for a compress, try wringing a cloth out of cold water and shaking briskly in the air. The rapid evaporation will give you almost the same results as if wrung out in ice water.

Did You Ever—

Bake a pie shell, fill with thick apple sauce and pile high with whipped cream?

Use canned peas, cucumber or sliced apples instead of celery when making chicken salad?

Cut celery into two-inch lengths, fringe each end, let stand in ice water for about an hour, and then use as a garnish?

Make small potatoes with a potato scoop, fry in deep fat as you would French fried potatoes, and serve with fish?

Boston university has established a six weeks' course for college men who work in hotels during the summer vacation. The course will show young men how to become any sort of a hotel official and will be given by the vocational department of the college business administration.

DISCOVERY THAT REVOLUTIONIZES HOME MEDICATION

Pharmaceutical Chemists Rob Calomel of Nauseating and Dangerous Qualities. New Tablets Named "Calotabs."

Calomel, the most popular and by far the most useful of all home medicines, has at last been purified of its objectionable qualities. The new calomel tablets bearing the name "Calotabs" are available at drug stores and according to druggists are rapidly taking the place of the old-style calomel tablets. For biliousness, constipation and indigestion and for all other conditions where calomel is essential Calotabs is considered a practically perfect remedy.

One Calotab on the tongue at bedtime, with a swallow of water, that's all—no taste, no griping, no nausea, no danger. Next morning you are feeling fine, your liver is clean, your appetite splendid. Eat what you please.

Beware of imitations! Genuine Calotabs are sold only in "checker-board" (black and white) packages bearing the copyrighted trade-mark "Calotabs." The large, family size sells for thirty-five cents; vest-pocket size, ten cents. All dealers are authorized to refund the price if you are not delighted with Calotabs.—(adv.)

CHAPTER IX.

Surprises.

It was nearly 11 o'clock the next day when Charles Moberley appeared, his face pale and drawn, but set as with a new purpose and a new hope. He had been closeted with McNulty until after midnight.

"You're going through with it, I see. Good!" McNulty greeted him. "I'll phone the chief and he will make it as easy for you as he can."

"I've got to take my medicine, sergeant," Charles responded as he started for the limousine which awaited him.

A telegraph messenger passed the limousine at the gate and McNulty waited at the open door. He bore a lengthy missive in code, and the detective had scarcely deciphered it when a second arrived. This one, however, could be plainly read by anyone and as the sentences penetrated his understanding McNulty smiled to himself. His thoughts were interrupted by a summons to the telephone and the voice of the attorney, Theodore Bankhead, sounded in his ears:

"Sergeant McNulty? A new will of later date than that which I drew up for Mr. Moberley was made and is probably among his private papers. I have just learned of it from a personal letter to me, directing me to read it at his home, within three days after his death, and in the presence of Mrs. Florence Moberley—providing that the marriage which he contemplated took place—or Miss Florence Jaffray, if he died before the ceremony. Miss Jaffray's attorney, Mr. Andrew Cayard, must also be present and any three witnesses whom I care to name. Your chief has suggested that you be one of my witnesses and that I leave it to you to choose the other two. I have been in consultation with Mr. Cayard and he assured me that if the will contains anything in the nature of a legacy to his client she will refuse it. I had suggested tonight at 8 o'clock for a conference and reading of the will." And the attorney rang off.

Nothing to do now but wait, so McNulty took a walk in the grounds. When he returned to the house, Montie, with a fresh newspaper in his hands, fairly leaped at him.

"What does this mean?" he demanded, and his usually merry eyes flashed fire. "Charles Moberley has been arrested after all? It's a frame-up, that's what it is, and I'm going to see what can be done about it! Charles Moberley never killed his uncle; you have the proof of that!"

"Maybe I have, Mr. Russell, but this isn't the time for me to spring it, and if the district attorney has made up his mind to hold him—!"

"So it is a frame-up, and you are in on it, too!" Montie said bitterly. "I'm going straight down to headquarters myself—!"

"You will, if I hear any more back talk, sir!" McNulty resorted all at once to the speech and manner of the policeman. "If you leave this house you'll go in the wagon!"

Before Mortie could retort a taxicab drew up on the driveway. A convulsion of some sort seemed to be taking place within it and the door was violently wrenched open to disgorge first Peter and then a second man, who struggled desperately in the hands of a policeman.

"Look at him!" howled Peter, as McNulty appeared. "That Ernestine girl is Rose Paley, all right, and this is her stepfather, Bill Grey. But take a good look at his face!"

"Do you recognize the party, sergeant?" the policeman asked.

McNulty gazed and a light dawned upon him, but before he could do more than nod, Peter cried:

"Of course he does! It's the hick, Jim! The hick who doped us with that doctored raspberry juice and swiped the car!"

Before 8 o'clock that evening Peter and McNulty were seated in the library awaiting the arrival of Miss Jaffray and the two attorneys, and the former was recounting the story of his discovery of "the hick."

"I tell you, Jim, that was an inspiration of mine, to ask her to go for a run in a motor car out into the country and to take her folks along! Of course I wanted to get a flash at her mother, for I remembered vaguely what Mrs. Paley looked like in the courtroom, but the girl was too clever for that. Her father is dead, her named changed, and she has spent too much money on having her face reconstructed to have her mother give her away. She said her mother was an invalid, but her 'father' would go along, and she took me where she lived but left me downstairs, saying that she would send 'father' down to talk to me while she fixed herself up a little. She did, and the surprise was mutual, all right. The minute I clapped my eyes on him I grabbed him and yelled for the police. He owned up to everything on the way down and I guess Rose will get to talking too, if she is properly persuaded at headquarters."

"That was a lucky move you made, Peter. Here comes the car with Miss Jaffray and the lawyers now." McNulty rose and turned to the door leading to the hall.

Miss Jaffray was swathed in veils and seemed too much affected to speak when she entered, leaning heavily upon Mr. Cayard's arm.

"We are to use the front sitting room upstairs, are we not, sergeant?" asked Mr. Bankhead, who had entered behind the other two.

"Yes, sir," McNulty responded. "It is just up one flight of stairs."

Mr. Cayard opened his lips as though to speak, but thought better of it, and they mounted the stairs in silence.

"Come and sit here, my dear lady!" Mr. Bankhead patted a huge armchair which he had drawn up close to the hearth. "I know before we get to the will that you propose to to refuse a legacy if one is bequeathed to you, but you have not heard yet what we wish to tell you."

"Nothing you can tell me, Mr. Bankhead, will make any difference," she said gently. "Even for the poor I would not touch money that was tainted with such a crime!"

"Ah, you mean that Mr. Moberley was killed by his nephew?" McNulty stepped forward. "But he wasn't, Miss Jaffray. He was murdered by a man who came more than an hour after Charles' departure. You see, Charles was madly infatuated with a young woman whom he had met—flirted with, to be exact—in an art gallery. She is one of the most clever adventuresses of today and she has a most able tutor. I have her record from the secret service department in Washington and a telegram from one of our most illustrious generals who served overseas and who encountered her there in the height of her war activities, which consisted of preying on the profiteers and government swindlers of the allied countries. Through Charles this woman hoped to get in touch with his uncle and rob him as she has a dozen others in the last few years."

"But why do you tell me all this?" Miss Jaffray asked. "I do not wish to know anything about the affairs of that miserable young man. I do not want to think of him!"

"Surely you are interested in knowing how your affianced husband came to his death?" McNulty did not wait for a reply but went on: "I think that this adventuress could have really cared for Charles in time, but her evil genius, this tutor of whom I spoke, who has stood back of her, advising her, protecting her and at the same time making a cat's-paw of her for all these years—he willed it otherwise. He kept urging her on to a greater catch, and she listened. As no one knows better than you, Miss Jaffray, Seward Moberley is noted the world over for his philanthropies, and when this adventuress found that he was practically a recluse and could not be reached through his nephew, she promptly grew cold toward the latter, went in for settlement work, presented herself to Seward Moberley on a plausible excuse and fascinated him as she had his younger relative.

"He proposed marriage to her and she, on the strength of it, persauded him to give her a million dollars in cash, in lieu of an ante-nuptial settlement. This she did at the instigation of her advisor, of whom I spoke, in fear lest some slip might occur and Seward Moberley learn before the actual ceremony just what sort of woman she was. But she had been unable to rid herself of the passionate, despairing attentions of Charles, and knowing that her only hope lay in permanently estranging the two, for days possibly weeks, she preyed upon the boy's mind with a story of how even in her charitable work she was being pursued by the insulting attentions of this uncle of his, whom the world worshipped but whom she made out to be a satyr at heart. Slowly, gradually, she increased her power over him and made him believe her foul lies, until he learned to hate the uncle who had done everything in the world for him, as a loathsome creature who should be wiped off the face of the earth. So she incited him to the point of murder."

"No! No!" Flora Jaffrey cried. "Not—murder!"

There was a sudden scurry at the door, a shuffling of feet and muttered imprecations. The suave Mr. Cayard had bolted, only to find his path barred by two men who seemed to spring up from nowhere. Desperately he turned to the windows but Donlin's head and one hand holding a blunt-nosed pistol showed above the sill of the nearest one, as he stood upon a stout ladder outside.

"Flo!" Cayard sprang toward her. "Flo! The game is up, do you hear?"

But Flora Jaffray did not hear. She was watching with fascinated eye the door of a cupboard beside the fireplace as it swung slowly open and a young man stepped from it into the room. Rising, the woman held out her arms.

"Charles! I did lie to you and tricked your uncle, but I did not want you to kill him! I only wanted to separate you from him until I had succeeded in marrying him! If—if you did not murder him, who did?"

"Andrew Cayard!" It was McNulty who replied sternly. "You forgot the human element, Miss Jaffray! This man had fallen in love with you himself—after his fashion. You had the cool million, together with whatever sum you had accumulated from your former intrigues. He meant to make you his wife, but he knew of only one way to get rid of Seward Moberley—to kill him. He had planned it weeks ago and to that end he got into the house here on a pretext, paid attention to one of the maids"—

"That is an infernal lie!" Cayard, shouted, but McNulty's voice rose above his.

"Captain Hardy! Agnes!—Ben!"

From the door connecting with the bedroom issued the chief of the homicide bureau holding in his grasp the writhing half-wit, and close behind them came Agnes with the wildly curious Montie bringing up the rear.

"Agnes, who is this man?" asked the detective.

"That's the fellow who called himself Ralph Conklin and used to come here and bring candy to Ben," she replied without hesitation.

At the mention of his name Ben had looked up and now he forgot the circle of strange faces. He saw only one—the man who came to the corner of the wall to see Agnes, and who was kind to him.

"Hello!" he crowed. "You bring me any gold, any candy?"

Cayard shrank away from the creature and the chief mentioned to the men on guard at the door to let the maid and the idiot pass. Meanwhile, Donlin had raised the window softly and climbed into the room, where he stood covering Cayard from behind. The woman had sunk back into her chair once more and buried her face in her hands to keep out the look in the eyes of Charles Moberley.

"This man Cayard," continued McNulty, "then went to Mr. Moberley's office, induced him to make a new will leaving you, Flora Jaffray, several million dollars in addition to the fortune in cash which he had already given you, and it was during these visits that Cayard met a stenographer whom he recognized as being a former petty swindler of insurance companies. He met her stepfather and, finding him a clever rogue as well as an actor, gave him $5,000 to aid him if called upon, the money to be banked by her in her name. To do the girl justice, she did not know that murder was afoot.

"On the night of the murder, you, Cayard, gave that half-wit Ben a gold piece to show you the hollow in the old oak where you might hide yourself until your moment came. It was sheer coincidence that Charles, worked up almost to a madman's rage by your lies and those of this woman, should have chosen the same night to come and quarrel with, but not to murder, his uncle. You stayed there until almost midnight, you saw Charles enter, but you did not see him leave, and at last you could stand the suspense no longer. With lime from the tree powdering your hair white, you climbed up to this room by means of that wistaria vine outside the window, entered and saw that Seward Moberley was already slightly wounded. A madness must have seized you then, for you realized that he might not die, and that Charles and he might have come to an understanding and your schemes and this woman's be exposed. In the fury of desperation, you struck with the first weapon which came to your hand—the little bronze sword from the figure over there—and then made your escape. Charles was innocent of his uncles' death; it was you who killed him!"

Cayard straightened all at once, and smiled slightly. "By the way, Mr. Bankhead, there was a later will, you know. What has become of it?"

"The one you persuaded Mr. Moberley to execute? He destroyed it himself in this very room an hour before you killed him," said McNulty.

The Christmas holidays had come and gone and McNulty, Peter, Charles and Montie were together in the detective's comfortable apartment.

"Has anybody noticed the particulars in the paper of how Andrew Cayard went to his death?" Charles asked. "I'm rather curious to know."

Peter replied casually: "One of the boys in the shop was sent up to cover the execution and he says that Cayard died like a man."

"It was foolish of Flora Jaffray to kill herself just on the eve of her trial," Charles spoke in level tones. "After a few years' sentence for swindling she would have been a free woman. I've often wondered, McNulty, how and when it first occurred to you that the anonymous warning that was sent to headquarters was written by a woman and one whose hands were distorted, at that?"

The detective laughed. "Well, I've made rather a study of hands, and those of that little stenographer, Rose Paley, drew my attention from the first minute I saw her. I was still more interested when I learned her true identity, and when her stepfather's connection with the case was established I was reasonably sure of my ground before I made her confess that she had overheard him plotting with Cayard, and took the only means she dared to frustrate them."

"But when did you first suspect the truth?"

"On the very night of the murder. I don't care what the force behind the blow was, that blunt little sword would never in the world have pierced the thick bathrobe and pajama jacket unless there had been a slit in both for it to pass through. Then on the blotter of the desk pad were two kinds of blood; a few drops that were dried and more that were fresh and wet. I made up my mind that it had taken two people to kill Mr. Moberley, one that gave him just a scratch and the other that finished him. I could never have figured, though, that you had known that woman if I hadn't searched your rooms, the time I found the stiletto there."

Charles glanced up quickly. "You mean that little photograph of her sitting among the ruins of a devastated village with a shawl over her head and a tiny French refugee in her arms?" he asked. "She looked like a latter-day Madonna to me and so I put the picture where—where you must have seen it, without intending to be sacrilegious. I thought she was a saint on earth, you know!"

There was not a trace of sentimentality in his tones, but rather a healthy disgust, and Montie was reassured. His friend had been ill for many weeks, and Montie, nursing him through his delirium, had heard the babblings of what he believed to be a broken heart. Now it seemed to be well on the mend, except for remorse. As though reading Montie's thoughts, Charles went on gravely:

"It was splendid of the district attorney to let my part in the whole affair drop. Of course, I never meant to kill. When I crept into my uncle's room that night and after denouncing him in my blind rage, I caught up the stiletto which had been brought back from Italy with me, and which had always lain on his writing table as a curio. I shall never be able to forget while I live the look in his eyes as I brought it down on his breast. He calmed me just as he used to when I got into those black tempers of mine as a boy, and, when we came to explanations, instead of my insane accusations, and discovered we had both been dupes, it must have been as great a shock to him as to me. He never gave way to it, though. His every thought was for me! He got out the will which he had drawn at Cayard's suggestion and destroyed it before my eyes, and when I told him that the house was surrounded by guards, he himself opened the cupboard door and showed me the the disused stairway by means of which I reached the tunnel and then the river front. It is a cross I've got to bear all by myself. It was all my criminal folly."

"No," Montie said loyally. "It was that man Cayard and the woman. It was he who got Rose Paley and her stepfather into his toils and made him trail you fellows from Westbrook, and slash your tires at Ossining. I never did understand, sergeant, how they managed to put the glass and nails in the road just ahead of you and how they, strangers in the neighborhood, should have known about that old barn being near."

McNulty chuckled again. "As soon as we'd left Westbrook, Cayard started Bill Grey off with special instructions as to what to do, and then he himself took a flyer around a side road in his own high-powered car, and, getting ahead of us, prepared the roadbed for our coming. He knew about the barn for the simple reason that it was part of an old stock farm that belonged to the Henshaws, and he had visited it with them while calling on Miss Jaffray when she was staying there before." He paused and added shamefacedly: "I suppose we were awful simps to be taken in as we were, but Grey had been playing old farmers' parts for years on the stage, and then we weren't looking for trouble from such an innocent looking old fraud. We had practically no clews then, you see; we were working in the dark."

Charles smiled and laid his hand in friendly fashion on the sergeant's shoulder. "I'd hate to commit a crime and leave traces behind me, McNulty, for you to find!" he exclaimed. "Not after what you accomplished without a clew."

Tech Wins Opener 10 to 3; Plays Mercer Again Today

Opening Game Featured by Barron's Hitting. Mercer Loses in Third Inning.

BY JOHN STATON.

Tech won the opening game of the Mercer two-game series at Grant field yesterday by the score of 10 to 3. With the exception of the third inning the game was a pitchers' battle between "Tige" Stone and "Wennie" Collins, but after the third when Tech scored nine runs off six hits it became a question of just how badly Tech was going to be able to beat the Baptists.

Red Barron was certainly the baby yesterday. Out of five knocks he got a home run, a three-bagger and a double. The first time up, he went out, pitcher to first. The next time up, which was that third inning, he was the first man up, and knocked a home run on the first ball thrown. The next time came his three-bagger, the fourth time his double, and the fifth time he did something peculiar. He struck at a ball way above his head. It so happened that the ball was to high for the catcher to do anything with, so that, being his third strike, he cantered down to first base.

In the first inning, Mercer started the ball rolling. Harper struck out, but Bratton missed the ball, so "Smokey" was safe at first. He attempted to steal, but Andy had the ball waiting for him. Jennings dropped the ball after the man had been called out, so Harper was safe. He scored on Irving's hit to center. After that first inning Mercer was unusually peaceful, giving no more trouble until the ninth.

In Tech's half of the third, the whole team came to life. Barron hit a home run to start the procession. Ingram scored on third baseman's error and Tobe went to second. Baum and Roane walked, putting a man on every bag. Andy Bratton, who had the time before put one in the stands, dittoed, and scored two men. Collins was on and when catcher made a bad throw to the third baseman, Bratton scored on the play. Jennings, to be in style, got a hit to center. Barron, coming up for the second time, pushed one way out in left for three bases, scoring Jennings. Barron scored on a passed ball. Edwards and Baum were out, retiring the side.

In the sixth Jennings was safe on error of first baseman. He scored when Barron doubled to right. Tech had three men on bases and two down when Smith robbed Baby Roane of a homer by spearing his line drive.

The concluding game of the series will be played at Grant field this afternoon, and the game will be called at 3 o'clock.

It is likely that Sunshine Thompson and Allie Thompson will do the twirling, Sunshine being the Tech representative.

CLARK WINS FOR GEORGIA

BY JEROME JONES.

Athens, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Georgia made a clean sweep with the Clemson Tigers taking the second game here this afternoon by the score of 2 to 1. The game developed into a pitchers' battle between Cliff Pantone and Swedenburg, with each hurling about the same brand of ball.

Each gave up six hits and managed to keep these well scattered. But for an error on the part of Boone, Clemson's receiver, the game would probably have ended in a tie. He allowed a ball to get by him in the eighth inning, however, and George Clark crossed the plate with the winning run.

The Bulldogs scored first in their half of the second. With two men down, Rawson singled and scored a moment later when Pantone hit a long three-base hit to deep right field. Cody fanned, retiring the side.

Clemson Scores.

Each team went scoreless until the sixth inning, when the Tigers annexed a tally. After two men had grounded out to the infield, Turnipseed singled and stole second. Salley singled, scoring Turnipseed. Gibson reached first on Allen's error and Salley went to second. Murr flew out to Cody, ending the scoring.

The Bulldogs threatened to score in the seventh when Rawson, first man up, singled. Pantone sacrificed him to second and he took third when Cody grounded out to second. Watson went out, short to first, and the score was averted.

Clark Scores Winning Run.

In the eighth, however, the Red and Black pushed the winning run across. Clark walked and stole second. Thomason walked. McWhorter sacrificed, advancing them both a base. Pierce grounded out to first. Allen, the next man up, took three swings at the ball. Boone dropped his last strike, however, and before he could pick it up, Clark scored.

Rawson starred with the willow, obtaining two hits out of four trips to the plate.

The Bulldogs will take on Michigan here Monday and Tuesday. Frost will occupy the mound the first game with Rawson receiving.

Baseball Season Starts Wednesday

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

Good Races Slated for Circuits

Baseball, still monarch, though some of his domain has been sliced off by upstart pretenders, gets under way Wednesday, the date set for the opening of the major leagues, the Southern and other circuits of varying classifications.

The usual bullish reports have been circulated and there are exactly eight pennant winners for each league in the country, but that's simply a situation that is faced at this time every year. The public looks for the bulletins and having received them settles back to enjoy the campaigns.

The winter trades, consummated by most of the clubs, added to the strength of the outfits over last season. This is a fact generally conceded by dopesters who keep up with the trend of baseball affairs. In only a few rare cases have teams failed to strengthen for the ordeal.

In the major leagues the races will be very close, and the same statement holds true in the league in which Atlanta fans are mostly interested—the Southern. In the National, the Giants and the Cardinals appear to have the inside rail, but the Pirates carry a big threat and will certainly be found near the top.

Three aggregations in the American league seem to stand out above the rest of the pack. Many fans like the Yankees to repeat, but the suspension of Babe Ruth, Bob Meusel and Shawkey was a big blow to the defense and attack of the Hugmen. This would seem to indicate that Cleveland never had a better chance to come through. The Browns are likely to be in the fight from the start.

It is useless to atempt any doping of the Southern league chase. So many new players are being tried out this year and the line-ups are so uncertain as this is being written that forming any definite opinion is impossible.

It is useless to attempt any doping properly, we like the Pelicans for a high rating, and Birmingham has lost little of its strength. It is believed that Memphis has lost ground, but we are confident the Crackers are much stronger than they were last year. Mobile has improved wonderfully and Nashville looks better. Kid Elberfeld will depend entirely upon youngsters and Chattanooga hasn't added a lot of punch.

FIGHT FANS ASKING FOR INFORMATION.

Since it was announced that Irish Jimmy Clayton and little Timmie O'Dowd would furnish the music in the main event of the American Legion's fight bill Tuesday night, followers of the pugilistic game hereabouts are wondering if the Atlanta youngster is going to get into a shell and stay there, or come out and trade punches with the Pittsburg socker. One query came in the following letter:

"I have long been an ardent admirer of Tim O'Dowd's. Once upon a time I thought the kid was headed for a championship and then I saw him fight Artie Simons. Frankly it was sour and I wouldn't give a nickel to see him in another affair like this was. Jimmy Clayton and little Timmie What are his intentions in the battle against Clayton?"

Just as frankly, we don't know what Mr. O'Dowd's intentions are. His manager, James Albertus Mayson, asserts that Tim is going to fight until someone drops, and officials of the American Legion, interviewed on this interesting subject, declare that Clayton and O'Dowd must fight or be thrown out of the ring.

We are rather inclined to the belief that considerable fighting is going to be done Tuesday night at the Legion's fight headquarters. Atlanta's boutgoing public has confidence in the American Legion matchmakers. It's the first time on record that faith to any degree has been bestowed on local promoters.

To retain this trust, legion officials have given their word that fighters finding employment on their cards must fight every minute they are in the ring. Thus far there has been no room for complaint on the entertainments offered. They were by far the best ever given in this city.

This engagement will probably be the hardest O'Dowd ever entered, with the possible exception of the affair with Bobby Hughes. He seems to be determined on waging a savage attack slated to finish Irish Jimmy in short order, and Clayton himself has something big at stake.

Both realize the importance of the match and it should prove a corker. O'Dowd's manager admits that the showing against Simons was indifferent, but he assures us that little Tim is out to redeem himself.

WE SIMPLY THRIVE ON PUNISHMENT.

Kid Powell, alias Eddie Reese, alias anything else as long as he can find a new name, who is The Constitution's galley slave when he can keep his mind off boxing long enough to perform his other duties, is matched again with Reese Brown, a youngster holding a similar position on The Georgian.

The writer's pocketbook and financial standing in general took a decided slump the last time these young men met—said event being pulled off on the roof of the building belonging to this standard southern newspaper—but the duelling ground has been shifted to the Georgian's roof garden, wherever that is, and the followers of the two gladiators are getting ready for the struggle.

The Constitution's entry has learned a lot about the art of falling gracefully, his descents to the canvas costing him not half the anguish and energy that featured his last engagement. We are looking for him to make a much better showing and stand willing to back him to the extent of 10 per cent of our share of the bonus to be paid the Siamese soldiers participating in the Spanish-American war.

LAST OF CRACKER HOLDOUTS SIGNS.

Visitors at Ponce De Leon park, where final arrangements for the handling of the opening day crowd are being made, spread the tidings yesterday that Tyrus Cobb had been secured for the Atlanta outfield, that it was certain that Carl Mays would pitch the first local game, that Judge Landis had reinstated Babe Ruth with the distinct understanding that the Bambino could play no place except Atlanta, all because a real smile of "Christian charity" spread itself over the face of President R. J. Spiller as he superintended building construction.

But the visitors were mistaken. President Spiller was pleased greatly, not over thoughts of the players he has lined up, but of the final solution of his holdout problem. Bill Means, the southpaw bat boy for the locals since he left a milk diet, after stubbornly holding out during the spring blew into the clubhouse and announced that he was ready to sign. A stick of candy and package of chewing gum finished the deal.

LOCAL PREP BASEBALL

The Fulton High school nine won their battle with the University Blue Birds yesterday afternoon on the latter's diamond at Piedmont park when Umpire Bob Wilson forfeited the game to the Fulton county lads in the eighth inning. The Blue Birds were leading at the time and two men were on base for Fulton. Several substitutions had been made by the U. S. B. coach, and Minhinette, who had been taken out of the game several innings before, started back in to catch. It was at this juncture that the dispute arose. The U. S. B. team left the field and Umpire Wilson gave them five minutes to resume play, but they refused to do so and the game was forfeited.

Up until the time of the forfeiture, the game was interesting, but both teams failed to hit. Gay and Phillips pitched good ball for Fulton, and the whole team played jam-up ball. The U. S. B. team also played well.

Batteries: Fulton—Gay, Phillips and Moore. U. S. B.—Boswell, Peal, Mims and Minhinette, Angley. Umpire—Wilson.

G. M. A. Victorious.

The G. M. A. team defeated the Oglethorpe Freshmen yesterday afternoon on their College Park diamond by the score of 7 to 0. The game was G. M. A.'s after the fourth inning. In this frame G. M. A. scored 5 counters.

Fair, King and Hungerford hit best for the winners, all registering three base swats. Brown and Garner played best for the Freshies.

PEGLER WILL HAVE COLUMN

Westbrook Pegler, one of the most entertaining writers in the newspaper field at the present time, and who has made a special study of writing as it pertains to the sports field, has at last consented to place some of his bits of humor and satire into a daily column, "Short Pegs," that will run in the sports section of The Constitution. Pegler will be remembered for his running story of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight on July 4 last year, which will go down as a classic. His running story of the Greb-Gibbons fight in Madison Square Garden a month or so ago was a masterpiece.

Pegler also writes in his own inimitable way of golf, tennis, baseball and, in fact, any one of the lines of sports, and since this year is to be one of the greatest sports years, in this feature Pegler will make many new friends.

He will follow the major clubs in their races for the pennant. He will cover all the big fights and he will be mixing with the golf and tennis fans and players as the competition in these fields gets under way.

This new feature in the world of columns will run in addition to Pegler's regular daily wire story, and there is little question but that this column will make thousands of additional friends for this great writer.

This new feature starts Sunday on the sport page.

Fullerton Totals Dope Figures For American League Race

Cleveland Figures the Best in League, With St. Louis and the Indians Contenders.

BY HUGH FULLERTON.

Cleveland has the strongest team in the American league. The dope says this is true, and we must believe the dope. However, the dope also says that St. Louis and the New York Yankees are right on the heels of the Indians in team strength, and indicate that the race this season is to be tripartite and fiercer and harder than we have known in a long time.

Do not imagine that the fact that Cleveland figures to be the strongest team in the league means necessarily that the Indians will win the championship. In all ordinary seasons we can figure that the strongest team will win—but not always. We have thus far discovered only the strength of the teams. When we come to apply those strengths we may find different conditions. For, in working out the final solution of this problem of the major leagues, we must study what each team of known strength will do against each other team of known strength.

FORM WORKS BACKWARD.

But in baseball we find certain teams, equipped with certain styles of pitchers, that can beat much stronger teams. It may be that in applying these known strengths we will find that the team with the greatest strength cannot beat weaker clubs which have pitchers that can offset the superior strength of the other club.

What, for instance, would be New York's chances if the Yankees had to hit against Chicago, a weak club, which beat the Yankees thirteen times last season. The Yankees won last season by defeating Detroit, Boston and Philadelphia. Had Cleveland won as many games from those teams as New York did, the Indians would have walked in.

The problem becomes a bit complicated when you take into consideration the changes in teams. Last season, for instance, Washington could only break even with Philadelphia. Last season Cleveland had a terrible time beating Boston. In examining the games played between those two teams, we find that Cleveland would have swamped Boston but for the hitting of McInnis, who won five games for Boston. Change McInnis to Cleveland, and what can we figure.

YANKS BUY OWN JINXES.

We find that Boston beat the Yankees seven times and that Bush and Jones were the chief ingredients of those overturns. So we have to figure what the result will be with these players working against the other club. It would seem that the team getting a player who has been a particular stumbling block out of their way and working for them, is net gain, but it is not, for the reason that a pitcher who has been particularly effective for one team may not be at all effective for another.

To me the chief problem of the entire season is how Stuffy McInnis will work for Cleveland. If he is interested and gets back to his old-time form, and starts playing ball for Cleveland as he did for the Athletics and for Boston in the pre-Frazee days, Cleveland ought to walk in with the championship. If he doesn't, there may be an entirely different story to tell.

THREE LEADERS ARE BUNCHED.

The first three clubs in the American league are very closely parked. But we find that Washington is not so far behind. Of course, a great deal depends upon the breaks. We must study Washington against Cleveland and Washington against New York especially. Washington can be depended upon to take a great deal out of St. Louis and out of Cleveland, because Washington has been for a great many years the special Cleveland jinx, and is more liable to be again than it has been in the past.

Detroit figures at the head of the second division outfit, with the only chance of getting into the higher circles depending upon the development of new pitching strength. Detroit was a sucker for the Yankees last year, and it is certain that the Tigers will win at least two more games from the Yankees this season than they did last.

Figures that the Athletics will improve even one game per series over last season, and we cut the dope all to pieces.

I cannot see much change in the team strengths of the other teams. Chicago has a chance to upset the dope on several teams by using Kerr and Faber discreetly. In fact, the White Sox are in position to upset the chances of any team they want to attack, if they desire to do so. If they decide to save up their star pitchers and use them either to help or to hurt other teams, they can do it, beyond a doubt—and also upset the dope of the season.

ATHLETICS CAN DO LITTLE.

Philadelphia, with one star pitcher, can hardly do much beyond using him when the chances favor winning a game. That the Athletics are set to get out of the eighth position is certain, but the fact remains that the task of climbing out of the cellar is harder right now than it has been in several years, and they have not been able to do much.

The added strength of the tail-end clubs is, in fact, a big menace to the leaders. The margin of strength between the three leading clubs is so small that two or three unexpected shots from the tail-enders is liable to wreck their chances of the pennant.

In the next article we will study the team strengths of the National league teams, after which we will apply the figures to the different clubs and find out how the teams will finish the season.

DARTMOUTH STAR VISITING IN ATLANTA

Eddie Lynch, a member of the Dartmouth football team of last year and who was on the receiving end of "Big" Jim Robertson's 55-yard forward pass that won them their game with Georgia at Grant field last fall, is in town with the Dartmouth Musical club and is spending his spare time with Charles Palmer, who is president of the local Dartmouth Alumni association.

This play in the Georgia game started a new sheet in southern football history in the length of the passing game and it will go down in football history as one of the longest completed passes ever seen in the south. This was the second long forward pass that this combination completed, one coming in a game with the University of Washington year before last when Dartmouth was invited out west to lend a hand in the dedication of Washington's new stadium. This Washington pass went for 40 yards and likewise won that game.

Killmarx is also with the Dartmouth club. He will be remembered as the manager of the football team. These men are not members of the Musical club, but are taking this means of renewing some friendships that started when the football team made its first southern invasion last fall.

Both men were able to get away on account of this trip of the club's coming during the spring vacation period.

"Y" BASEBALL PRACTICE TODAY

All candidates for the Y. M. C. A. baseball team this summer are requested to meet the coach at Grant park at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon. This will be the occasion of the initial workout of the team and the prospects for a winning team will be gauged from the number out on this opening day.

The athletic director is especially anxious to make a good showing in the baseball field this summer and he is hoping for an impressive turnout of material at this opening practice.

EVEN IF WE don't get any coal this winter, we'll never run out of fuel so long as Europe keeps on printing paper money.

AUGUSTA WINS GAME

Augusta, Ga., April 7.—(Special.) The Atlanta Crackers did not bring their batting eyes down here with them and were able to see Masters and Crockett, local pitchers, for only three scratch hits, and Augusta easily won today's exhibition game, 9 to 1.

Bedgood opened on the mound for Atlanta, but developed a spell of wildness in the fourth frame that netted Augusta four runs and his manager did not elect to send him out again. Williamson was his successor. During the four innings he worked, Augusta was able to push across only one tally. Bedgood showed considerable stuff, but was wild at intervals culminating with his blow-up in the fourth.

Carlyle, Elam and Rariden were the three men on the Cracker lineup to connect safely. The lone run came in the third inning when Rariden got a scratch hit, after Bedgood had whiffed, Guyon was hit by a pitched ball. Ritter received a free pass and the Atlanta catcher counted when Mayer flew out to deep center. Guyon was out after a chase between second and third, the ball being returned to second base after Bass had gathered in Mayer's clout.

Guyon Gets a Hand.

Guyon, the great Indian athlete, was given a hand on his first appearance at bat. He is well known in this city, having been a member of the Augusta club in 1920.

A delegation from around Wrightsville, the home of Phil Bedgood, came here today to see him play. During the days of the Million-Dollar league the pitcher was a consistent winner on the Wrightsville team and is highly regarded in that part of the state.

The Crackers were away off today, but it is expected that they will come back tomorrow. Neal Ball will send Holloway, former University of Georgia star, to the mound. Holloway has been showing worlds of speed in local practice games. It is likely that the Atlanta management will use Suggs in an effort to stop the Tigers' terrific hitting.

AUBURN-BIR. SOU. SPLIT 2-GAME SERIES

BY EMMETT SIZEMORE.

Auburn, Ala., April 7.—(Special.) With "Beedie" Grant putting on his initial performance of the season on the mound the Auburn Tigers walloped the Panthers from Birmingham Southern in the first of a double-header affair here this afternoon by a score of 5 to 0. Southern won the second tilt, 2 to 1.

The Plainsmen crossed the plate first in the first inning, when Richardson hit a fast one through the pitcher's box, after which Captain Scott hit a deep one to center, Griffin sacrificing and hitting to second, was put out at first and allowed Richardson to cross the plate.

Big Ed Shirling did not appear in uniform on account of his recent illness, and his long hits were sorely missed.

Birmingham Wins Second.

In the second game the Donahue men reversed their performance of the opening contest, and allowed the visiting collegians to beat them 2 to 1. A halt was called on the second game at the end of the fifth inning to allow the Tiger outfit to catch an afternoon train for Mobile, where they play tomorrow.

Rat Sheridan relieved Grant on the mound at the beginning of the fourth frame. The Panthers seemed to locate Sheridan's delivery, and with a cluster of hits in the fourth frame ran the sacks for two markers, which put the Plainsmen on the little end of a 2 to 1 score.

"Babe Ruth" Graham's performance on the mound featured in the second game, and with some experience in the twirling department this southpaw should develop into a real pitcher.

TECH FRESHMEN LOSE TO GEORGIA M. C.

Milledgeville, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—'Twas a bad day for Buck Flowers' Tech Freshman team as they were outclassed by G. M. C. and lost by a score of 15 to 3. The Cadets had their batting eye and murdered both of Tech's pitchers. They also were fast on the bases, taking every chance and getting by.

Veal pitched a swell game, besides he swatted a homer in the second. Davenport player classy ball at all stages, and lined out a home run in the fifth. The entire team played jam-up ball. McDade, Tech's catcher, worked hard right up to the finish. In fact all of the Tech boys kept a good nerve throughout the up-hill game, and say they are coming strong tomorrow.

Local Preps Begin on Baseball Campaign Tuesday Afternoon

Trammell Scott Secured as Umpire, But Other Officials Are Needed. Big Season Ahead.

BY ROY E. WHITE.

Tuesday afternoon will mark the opening of the 1922 prep baseball league schedule. The opening card calls for University school meeting with the Marist nine on the Ivy street campus and the G. M. A. nine meeting the Boys' High team at Piedmont park. Both games are scheduled to begin at 3:30.

The lineups of the teams have not been announced but the following prospects are named: For Boys' High, Pound, catcher; Nunnally and Jamison, pitchers; Slate, first base; Roane, second base; Brown, third base; Irons, short; Edmundson, Fox and Bond in the outfield, with Brawner and Russell as substitutes.

It will be noticed from the above line-up that only two letter men remain from the championship nine of Boys' High from last year. Roane and Edmundson are the only veterans on the Boys' High nine and Coach Davis has not been very optimistic over the prospects for a winning Boys' High nine.

Had Clean Sweep.

Last year the Boys' High nine ran through the prep league without losing a single contest but the story is very different at the beginning of this year's schedule. Duby White, star pitcher on the Boys' High for several seasons, will not wear the prep spangles any more, having served his term out as a prep athlete. Clark, at first base, also graduated from the ranks of a prep star.

The G. M. A. line-up has not been picked as yet, but the baterymen will be Webb, as catcher, and either Fair or Hollingsworth as pitchers.

The line-ups of University and Marist will be: For University, Minhinnett, catcher; Peel or Boswell pitcher; Laird, first base; Freeman, second; Murphy, short; T. Boswell, third base; Angley, Mims and either Pell or Boswell in the outfield. The Marist nine looks like, Murphy at catcher; Holland or Bradley, pitchers; Legarmarsino, first base; Van Houten, second; McDevitt, third; Simmons, short; Snee, Wintz and Taylor in the outfield.

Two Places Vacant.

When the prep league opens up Tuesday afternoon two teams will be missing from the schedule. Fulton High and Commercial High are the missing links of the prep chain. Both league last winter on account of a ruling in the prep league which calls for teams in the league playing three major sports, baseball, football and basketball. Commercial High and Fulton High were unable to comply with the football question and withdrew from the running. This year all the prep teams will be much stronger than last season with the exception of Boys' High, and also the two teams that withdrew from the league will have teams that will compete very favorably with the others. Recently the Commercial High nine defeated the Marist team in a good game. Commercial High and Fulton will play teams in the prep league but the games will not be counted in the standing.

The prospects for this season look brighter than ever. All the teams have been strengthened with the exception of Boys' High, which lost 7 letter men. Tech High with practically the same team, looks good at present. G. M. A. has made record progress during the practice season with a large list of candidates. University is holding its own with a large number of old men back from last year. The race looms up as one of the hottest in the history of the league.

REACH FINALS AT PINEHURST

Pinehurst, N. C., April 7.—F. K. Robeson, of Rochester, and Henry Topping, of Greenwich, won their way to the finals of the north and south amateur golf championship today, Robeson defeating W. C. Fownes, Jr., of Oakmont, 1 up, and Topping defeating Mike Thomas, of Nashville, 3 and 2, in the semi-finals.

Robeson won the first five holes from Fownes, starting with a par five at the first, and then doing the next four in birdies, sinking a ten-foot putt at the second, a fifteen-foot putt at the third, and a four-footer at the fourth for threes, and an eight-foot putt at the fifth for a four. Fownes played each of these holes in par, but lost them.

Fownes got a two at the sixth and made a fine effort to catch Robeson. He reduced the lead to one hole at the thirteenth, lost the fifteenth, and reduced to one again by winning the seventeenth. He hit two fine shots in the eighteenth, his second giving him a ten-foot putt for a three to square the match, and he nearly holed it. Robeson was 33-41—74, and Fownes 36-39—75.

Cards:

Robeson—

Out	533 343 543—33
In	546 643 544—41—74

Fownes—

Out	644 542 533—36
In	545 544 534—39—75

Thomas, a left-hand player, was in too many traps to beat Topping, who kept his ball on the fairway. The Greenwich player got the lead by winning the second and third holes, and remained up all the way until he won on the sixteenth green by a three and two score. Thomas reduced the lead to one hole at the fourteenth hole, but Toppings won the fifteenth and sixteenth in par figures.

Topping was 38-37—75, and Thomas 40-38—78.

DEMPSEY HITS OLD NEW YORK

New York, April 7.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, arrived today from the Pacific coast to join Jack Kearns, his manager, and party, for a rest before sailing for Europe on the Aquitania Tuesday.

The champion will leave New York without any matches definitely in prospect and with only the haziest of plans. He says he is anxious to meet the best Europe can offer, providing the purse is satisfactory. Mentioning Carpentier, Joe Beckett, Bombardier Wells, "or anyone else," Dempsey said he'd jump at the chance to take them on.

Harry Wills, the negro heavyweight, who is being groomed for a bout with Dempsey, holds no terrors for the champion. Dempsey said that because of some prejudice against a mixed match in this country it might be best to hold such a contest in Europe; but he added that he is willing to meet Wills at home. Dempsey intimated that Kearns was dickering with English promoters for such a match.

Accompanying Dempsey and Kearns will be Teddy Hayes, the champion's secretary, and Joe Benamin. Benjamin probably will get into the ring soon after his arrival, arrangements being underway for a go with Ernie Rice, the British lightweight champion.

The party will proceed on what Kearns terms an "elastic schedule." They will go to London and Paris, and probably to other of the large continental cities. Kearns said he is not averse to an exhibition tour and unless some worthwhile matches are brought about he plans to arrange one.

Neither Kearns nor Dempsey would estimate the probable duration of their tour. Dempsey, however, insisted that if he is not signed to meet Wills in England that the negro would have an opportunity at home.

"When the right time comes," Dempsey said, "Harry Wills will get his chance."

FITZSIMMONS BEATS FRANKIE MURPHY

New Orleans, April 7.—Young Charlie Fitzsimmons, of Oklahoma, received a referee's decision here tonight after his 15-round bout with Frankie Murphy, of Charleston, S. C. Murphy won the first three rounds, but after that Fitzsimmons piled up a lead which Murphy was unable to overcome. Fitzsimmons weighed 152½, Murphy 164.

LYERLY HIGH SCHOOL TRIMS TAYLOR OUTFIT

Lyerly, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—The Taylor Institute baseball team went down in defeat at the hands of the fast Lyerly High school nine in an interesting game here Wednesday afternoon, the score being 6 to 5. Kimbell's pitching for Lyerly was superb and the entire team featured at bat. This was the opening game of the baseball season here. Batteries for Lyerly High were Kimbell and Jones; for T. I., Pilgrim and Wright.

JOHNNY ERTLE BILLED TO BATTLE J. BUFF

St. Paul, Minn., April 7.—Johnny Ertle, St. Paul, has been signed to meet Johnny Buff, bantamweight champion, in a ten-round no-decision bout at Detroit April 18, it was announced here today. Ertle has agreed to make 118 pounds at 3 p. m. on the day of the fight. Buff is expected to sign within a day or two.

SECOND GOLF LEAGUE FOR SOUTH GEORGIA

Thomasville, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—The second or "Dingbat" golf league for south Georgia will open the season April 20 and the members for the Thomasville team of the league are now qualifying. Hansell Baker has been chosen president of the team and he has announced that all members of the Glen Arven Golf club who are not on the Georgia-Florida league are eligible for membership.

In order to qualify they will announce at any time between now and April 15, inclusive, that they are playing to qualify and after announcing will turn in 36 holes played, whether played in one day or several. Score cards covering these holes to be turned in not later than the evening of April 15. Ten of the best scores turned in will be selected and those making them will constitute the team.

The schedule of the games in the "Dingbat" league is: April 20, Thomasville in Moultrie, Quitman in Valdosta; May 4, Valdosta in Thomasville Moultrie in Quitman; May 18, Quitman in Thomasville; Moultrie in Valdosta; June 1, Moultrie in Thomasville, Valdosta in Quitman; June 15, Thomasville in Valdosta, Quitman in Moultrie; June 29, Thomasville in Quitman, Valdosta in Moultrie.

COBB IS DIRECTING TIGERS FROM BENCH

Detroit, April 7.—Manager Cobb directed play from the bench in yesterday's game between the Tigers and Birmingham of the Southern association, which the latter won 4 to 0. Statham held Cobb's sluggers to two safeties and one scratch hit, while his teammates found Holling for ten blows and played almost errorless ball.

JACQUES FOURNIER HAS INFECTED LEG

St. Louis, April 7.—Jacques Fournier, Cardinal first baseman, is suffering with an infected leg, which, physicians say, may prevent him from appearing in the line-up against Pittsburg on April 12.

ANCIENT LORE UNNECESSARY IN MODERN EDUCATION

President of New York School Board Says Men Should Know Up-to-Date Activities.

"To be educated is not to have a knowledge of ancient lore," said Thomas W. Churchill, President of the New York Board of Education. Mr. Churchill indicated that modern life requires a full knowledge of present-day affairs.

This paper, in its efforts to promote the welfare of its readers, has met with general approval in the distribution of The New Universities Dictionary.

"This book," writes one pleased reader, "certainly gives all the information needed to fit a person for aggressive and progressive contact with the world."

Thousands of words never before in any dictionary have been brought together and clearly defined in this remarkable volume. But it is more than an exhaustive portrayal of the language's growth—it not only gives the words, but teaches how to use them. Articles by great educators in the leading universities are added to the vocabulary, showing just how to build and punctuate good sentences—how to clothe good ideas in forceful words. Every phase of business and society can be approached by any student of this dictionary with confidence.—(Adv.)

LEVEES HOLDING SAFE AT EVERY POINT

Memphis, Tenn., April 7.—Repair work on the Old Town, Arkansas, levee, where caving last week caused apprehension of a break, was stopped today, and all the workmen stationed there were sent to their homes, with the exception of a small force retained in case of emergency. Levees at all points are holding safely, according to reports to United States engineers here, and with the Mississippi falling from Cairo, Ill., to the mouth of the St. Francis, near Helena, Ark., no further trouble is expected in this part of the river.

Back water from Mississippi tributaries is expected to begin to drain off flooded bottom lands south of Cairo early next week, and within ten days, it will be possible to resume farming operations at a number of places, where the lands have been inundated. Guards have been removed from most of the levees north of Memphis, except at a few places where there is a possibility of subsidence as the water recedes.

The river stage at Memphis tonight is slightly under 41 feet, and a fall during the day was recorded at Helena. White river, in Arkansas, is falling at Newport and Augusta, and refugees driven out of the unprotected lands are preparing to return to their homes next week. The crest of the Mississippi rise is expected to reach Arkansas City tomorrow, and will be at Vicksburg early in the week. Engineers in the lower river report that all levees are in good condition and no danger of trouble is expected at any point in Mississippi.

REPORT GROWING SUCCESS OF REVIVAL

Friday at the Central Presbyterian church, indicated a growing interest among the individual members of the churches in the evangelistic campaign. Georgia Avenue Presbyterian, where Dr. Arthur F. Bishop, of Portland, Ore., is conducting services, reported that more than 50 per cent of those who attended the service Thursday evening remained after the meeting to volunteer for personal work.

A similar meeting of men at the Central Presbyterian church was reported, where a large group met to distribute the names of men not now members of the church who will be personally invited to attend. Forty members of Pryor Street Presbyterian church are engaged in giving these personal invitations. The effect of such work is being seen in the growing interest in all of the churches.

"This telling others of Jesus and bringing them to His church, where they can learn of Him," was the subject of Dr. Bishop's address at Friday's meeting. "Man must first see and feel the love and power of Christ in his own life, but, having once seen and felt this love and power, he can not do other than go and tell others of his Savior," Dr. Bishop said, in appealing for more of personal work.

Revival services at the Harris Street Presbyterian church, under the leadership of the Rev. D. Frank White, noted revivalist, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. Roy T. Brumbaugh, is drawing capacity congregations.

"God's T. N. T." was the title of Rev. White's sermon Friday night. Both Dr. White and Rev. Brumbaugh expressed themselves as highly pleased with th esuccess of the services. Two choirs, consisting of 50 persons each are rendering special music.

Meetings Announced.

Saturday afternoon, it was announced, there will be held a meeting for young people at the First Presbyterian church, where the services will be conducted by Dr. Lyons.

Sunday morning at 11, and again in the evening, there will be services at all of the Presbyterian churches. Dr. Lacy urged that all pastors and evangelists either send or phone the results of these meetings to the office of M. M. Jackson in the Connally building, to reach there not later than 10 a. m. Monday morning, in order that they may be compiled to report the work of all of the local Presbyterian churches at the 11 o'clock meeting of all denominations, at the Wesley Memorial church.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, it was announced, Mrs. J. E. Thacker will speak at the North Avenue Presbyterian church to the women and girls of the city on "Gods' Creation or Christian Science." At the same time, at the Central Presbyterian church, Dr. Thacker will address a mass meeting of men and boys, his subject being "What Constitutes a Fool."

Growing attendance and interest is reported at Peachtree Road Presbyterian church by Rev. F. D. Stevenson, pastor, in the services being conducted there by Rev. J. E. Hemphill, former pastor of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church and now superintendent of home missions of the Atlanta presbytery. Rev. Hemphill will continue his sermons all next week, and splendid results of the revival are foreseen by leaders of the church.

Methodist Churches.

The revival services at Capitol View Methodist church which are being conducted by the Rev. Arthur Maness, pastor, assisted by the Rev. R. C. Tyler, pastor of Oakland City Methodist church, are attracting large congregations.

Services are held twice daily, at 9:45 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Friday afternon a special service was held for children.

Rev. Mr. Dean, a student in Emory university, is leading the singing. There is an excellent chorus choir and a fine response is being made to the call for consecration.

St. Luke's Methodist church, Rev. A. D. Echols, pastor, nears the end of the first week of the revival with a splendid spirit in the meeting. This church will also have services Saturday at 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m., as usual. The Rev. S. A. Swindell, of Wadley, Ala., is doing the preaching. The pastor is leading the singing, assisted by a choir of children. Sunday at 11 a. m. there will be a sermon by Mr. Swindell. At 3 p. m. a special sermon to parents. And at 7:30 p. m. he will give a special sermon to secret orders on "The Middle Link of Odd Fellowship." Services are also held at the Fulton Bag and Cotton mill at 12:30 p. m. These will be continuous from Tuesday of next week. There will be sermons, songs and prayer on these occasions.

Wesley Memorial heard a fine sermon Friday morning from Dr. Thomas H. Lewis upon the theme, "The Burning Bush of the Christian Experience" or "The Secret of the Good Life." Dr. Lewis pointed out that the good life is not the life of an ascetic, or a recluse, but with striking emphasis "The good life is the life of not a hermit but of a good man." At this service Dr. W. F. Glenn who has just celebrated his 83rd birthday, led the opening prayer, while Dr. W. H. LePrade, Sr., pronounced the benediction. There will be no service Saturday at this church. Dr Lewis will preach Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Dr. Plato Durham will deliver a sermon to a mass meeting for men only at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

At Kirkwood Church.

At Kirkwood Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. J. Lee Allgood, is doing the preaching to congregations that pack the house. Already four have made profession of faith. O. A. Spruell, the evangelistic singer, is leading the singing.

Druid Hills Methodist, with Rev. A. M. Pierce doing the preaching, arrives at the conclusion of the first week, making commendable progress. The choir of this church affords the music and the congregations are increasing.

At Nellie Dodd Memorial, the pastor, Rev. R. L. Ramsey, is being assisted by Dr. J. H. Eakes, presiding elder of the South Atlanta district. East End Methodist church, Rev. J. W. O. McKibben, pastor, is being assisted by Rev. J. S. Strickland. At Grace Methodist church Rev. A. G. Shankle, assisted by the working force of his church, is carrying forward the revival. Rev. Jesse Beatch, pastor, reports good attendance at Epworth Methodist church. Fine reports are being received from the meeting at St. Mark's Methodist church, where Dr. W. F. Dunkle, of Florida, is assisting the pastor. Dr. S. E. Wasson.

At St. Paul Rev. G. W. Crawley is being assisted by Rev. John F. Yarbrough. Rev. W. J. DeBardeleben is holding meetings, assisted by Rev. B. F. Pim, of Jonesboro, Ga. St. John Methodist, Rev. C. M. Meeks, pastor, ends the week with a fine meeting. Rev. E. L. Wainwright is assisting him.

Rev. Walt Holcomb will assist Dr. S. R. Belk, at Trinity Methodist, beginning Sunday, April 9, and continuing two weeks thereafter.

PREACHES TO MEN ON GREATEST SIN SUNDAY SERVICES

"The Greatest Sin in the World" will be the subject of a special sermon for men only by Dr. W. W. Hamilton at the Baptist Tabernacle Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Admission will be made by ticket only at these services, several thousand having been distributed.

At Sunday evening's service at 7:30 o'clock Dr. Hamilton will preach, his subject being "Selling the Savior." Everybody is invited to hear him at this service.

In his sermon Friday night Dr. Hamilton issued a warning to his congregation, urging them to beware of the red lights, danger signals on the broadway of life.

"There are things along the broadway that lead to destruction," he declared, "that show us whether we are lost or not, red lights, danger signals, in other words. I am talking about the secret and subtle sins. If I had a cancer I would want it outside where I could get at it. The most deadly sin is the secret sin—the sin that is hid away from others. I have a deep and abiding conviction as I have gone here and there through the land, that there are many people whose names are not on the church books that are not true Christians because of sin they are hugging to their hearts."

"UNRECONSTRUCTED" IRISH WOMAN HERE

sion was to put the truth before the friends of Ireland in the United States who "so magnificently supported us in our fight."

Few women of prominence have gone to jail as many times as Countess Markiewicz, yet one would never guess in looking at her that she is any more accustomed to pacing up and down a cell month after month than any other middle-aged woman of position.

The countess has not been sent to jail so many times that she forgets any of them, not even for a moment. Someone asked her to verify a printed synopsis of the events of her life while she sat talking on the sun deck of the ship today, and she quickly noticed that her four months in jail during 1919 were not recorded.

"It doesn't matter, though," she said, reading on to find other lines that needed correction.

Denounces Treaty.

In speaking, her voice though soft, seemed as firm as her convictions. Words came faster when she denounced the free state treaty and its supporters.

No matter what happened, she said, the Irish are going to get the republic. They are ready to go out and die for it, she was sure, asserting that more than 90 per cent of the Irish republican party already had declared for the republic and that these soldiers looked upon Griffith and Collins as traitors.

These two leaders, who supported the treaty with England, were, she declared, like others through the history of all struggles "willing to let others fight for them." "Redmond was that way," she added, "and Collins and Griffith stepped into Redmond's shoes."

"Schoolboy Jokes."

Irish women, the countess reported, were not permitting Collins and other free state advocates to use the Sinn Fein tri-color at their gatherings. The women were taking the flags away from them.

Tearing up of railroad tracks and other recent means used by those who sought to prevent Collins from keeping speaking engagements were described by the countess as only playful scholboy jokes.

No one could take the "triple oath of allegiance," under the treaty, the countess said, "without deliberately committing perjury, if they already had sworn the oath of allegiance to the Irish republic."

Collins and Griffith say now that the free state is a halfway house on the road to a republic, she asserted, declaring that if they had made this statement weeks ago they would have received no support. None can work for the republic and maintain that allegiance to Britain that the treaty provides she contended.

GAS METERS ROBBED; SMALL AMOUNT TAKEN

Friday afternoon thieves entered the apartment at 120 East Fair street and robbed two gas meters of small sums of money, according to reports to detective headquarters Friday night.

J. B. Carroll, who resides on the second floor, and J. C. Moore, on the first floor, told detectives that they discovered the robberies when they attempted to deposit money in the meters about 7 o'clock Friday night.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

The show the latter part of the week at Keith's Lyric, which ends its Atlanta engagement with this afternoon's and tonight's performances, is one that is interesting and entertaining. The program is topped by an excellent comedy singing quartet of the Paramount Four, who present their offering, "Topical Tunes," with keen, snappy humor and splendid harmony singing.

"Happy Hollow" is the title of a timely comedy skit offered by Chris Chisholm and Viola Breen, two extremely clever people, with a bright and entertaining repartee of comedy antics and funny lines.

Nevins and Guhl, blackface comedians, in a new and up-to-date "Burnt Cork" dialog, are mirth dispensers that have few equals; the burlesque boxing match that they put on is one of the cleverest bits of comedy ever presented on the Lyric stage.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Today and tonight for the last times L. Wolfe Gilbert, the famous song writer, can be heard at Loew's Grand theater. There are to be four shows today, starting at 2, 4, 7 and 9 p. m. Mr. Gilbert is assisted by Riley Reilly at the piano and the little song maid, Fritzi Leyton. They are offering many of Mr. Gilbert's old favorites and some of his latest, including "If You Like Me Like I Like You." Ethel Gilmore, for several years England's premier dancer, who traveled throughout this country with Anna Pavlowa, with a company of five talented girl dancers. She is offering an artistic dance revue that is one of the hits of the show. Other acts are Marie Russell, "The Kentucky Belle," and Sambo, in "At the Cabin Door;" Brown and Elaine in their original episode, "The Fatal Wedding Day," and Bill and Blondy, athletes and equilibrists.

The screen feature is Eileen Percy in "Whatever She Wants."

THIS HAS BEEN AN EVENTFUL WEEK ON NEW YORK EXCHANGE

New high stock records have been broken; trade records surpassed, and the boom of returning normal business conditions has sounded as never before during the past two years.

R. L. BARNUM, New York financial correspondent of The Atlanta Constitution; WALTER B. BROWN, editor of The New York Commercial, who is writing special articles for The Daily and Sunday Constitution, and other authorities, will discuss Sunday the past week and what it has meant to business conditions in general.

Cromwell Defends New York Stock Exchange in Speech

New York, April 7.—"We want the public to learn still more about the New York stock exchange and about its methods of protecting investments and investors," said Seymour L. Cromwell, president of that institution, addressing a meeting of members and their partners today.

"Out of a total of more than three score firms whose failures have been announced in the past four months, only three were members of the New York stock exchange. The percentage of failures among the 1,100 of this exchange during the past ten years has averaged less than one-half of one per cent of the membership. That means a smaller percentage of failures among stock exchange firms than among banks.

Rules First.

"Difficulties of the recent past were not due altogether to the fact some stock exchange houses have maintained a connection with bucket-shops. It has become clear that the exchange must insist upon business methods being followed by all its members, which it will throw around their clients a greater possible security wherever possible."

President Cromwell said the governors of the exchange were about to put into effect a plan for closer supervision by the exchange of the methods of its own members. It has developed, he added, that a few houses, through carelessness or on account of business pressure had failed to take off trial balances with sufficient frequency and had thus, in some instances, permitted their affairs to become involved. Under the new plan it will be compulsory for such houses to take off trial balances at least once a month and no excuse will be considered valid for failure to comply with this requirement.

"We hear a great clamor for the incorporation of the stock exchange," continued Mr. Cromwell. "If the exchange were incorporated its power effectively to discipline its members would be gone. A member detected in improper conduct could delay the execution of sentence while he appealed from court to court.

Wrong Method.

"The power of the exchange to deal with a 'corner' such as that in Stutz, would be taken away. Its power to keep its quotations out of the hands of those who would use them for bucket-shop purposes would be at an end. And its power to meet an emergency like that at the outbreak of the great war would no longer exist.

"We have every respect for the present district attorney of the county of New York," said Mr. Cromwell, in conclusion, "and we cannot but admire the fearless and vigorous stand he has taken in seeking to have punished those guilty of fradulent practices. We only regret that in his zeal for the punishment of fraud, Mr. Banton appears to have developed the conviction that the evils of the brokerage business can be cured only by licensing brokers and incorporating the exchange."

Chicago, April 7.—Business shows a steady increase and prices a decrease, John J. Thornton, superintendent of the Chicago division of the Bradstreet company, said in a speech today.

"There is evidence of steady improvement in the business situation all over the country," he said. "Business failures have been less so far this year than in the corresponding months last year. Weak businesses have been weeded out and the standard of business conditions has been raised. Bank clearings for March were 6 5-8 per cent greater than in 1921."

COTTON EXCHANGE TO CLOSE APRIL 29

New York, April 7.—The New York cotton exchange, it was announced today, will be closed on April 29 in order to facilitate the moving of its equipment to temporary quarters in Wall street. Operations will be resumed May 1. The present home of the exchange will be torn down and a new 22-story structure erected.

Metals.

New York, April 7.—Copper, steadier; electrolytic, spot and nearby, 12¾@12⅞; later, 12⅞@13. Tin, firm; spot and nearby, 29.87; futures, 30.00. Iron, steady and unchanged. Lead, steady; spot, 4.90@5.00. Zinc, quiet; East St. Louis delivery, spot, 4.90@4.95. Antimony, spot, 4'62.

Dry Goods.

New York, April 7.—Cotton goods were generally quiet today with a moderate amount of business reported in sheetings and odd constructions of print cloth yarns goods. Shipments of burlaps to the United States from Calcutta during March totalled 109,000,000, with one exception the largest ever recorded. Cotton yarns were easier and business was spotty. Wool was easier. Sales were well maintained at the carpet auction.

BILLIE DOVE ONCE PRIZE BEAUTY OF ZEIGFELD FOLLIES

When Lillian Billie Dove, the former Zeigfeld beauty and screen star, arrives in Atlanta for her personal appearance at Loew's Grand theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Atlantans will have an opportunity of seeing one of the most beautiful girls on stage or screen. "Billie," as she was known while a member of Zeizfeld's galaxy of famous beauties, had all New York at her feet while a member of Zeigfeld's Follies and "Midnight Frolics." When Zeigfeld opened his sensational hit, "Sally," Miss Dove was given her first part, and had an opportuniy for the further display of her marvelous beauty. All this time she was playing minor parts in motion pictures. She was given a better chance in "Get Rich Quick Wallingford," and screened so beautifully and acted so well that her future seemed assured. Her latest picture, "Beyond the Rainbow," will be shown at the Grand during her visit here.

Miss Dove will probably arrive in Atlanta from the east on Sunday, and during her three days' stay in Atlanta will appear at every performance at the Grand. Numerous entertainments have been planned for her and her visit is to be made one that she will not soon forget.

OKEFENOKEE TRIP STARTS SUNDAY

Waycross, Ga., April 7.—(Special.) University of Georgia students and members of the faculty will arrive in Waycross Sunday for their trip of exploration into the Okefenokee swamp. The party will be under the direction of Professor Reade, head of the department of botany at the university, and about sixteen students will accompany him into the swamp.

The trip from Athens to Waycross will be made in automobiles.

WHEAT AND CORN ADVANCE SLIGHTLY

Chicago, April 7.—Wheat averaged a little higher in price today, helped upward by firmness of quotations at Liverpool and by sellers here holding off to avoid any surprise in the government crop report. The market closed unsettled at a gain of 1-4 to 3-4 cents net, with May $1.30 3-4 to $1.30 7-8, and July $1.19 1-4 to $1.19 3-8. Corn finished unchanged to 3-8 cents higher; oats unchanged to 1-4 cents up and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to 75 cents advance.

Cautiousness which would-be sellers of wheat evinced regarding the government report was apparently more or less mistaken, for a slightly bearish construction of the report was general when the document became public after the close of the day's trading. The view most widely taken was that crop conditions had improved since the statistics were gathered on which the report was based. Further offers of wheat shipments from Omaha to Chicago, together with sales of wheat to go to store here, led to something of a setback in prices during the late dealings.

Estimates were current here that 500,000 bushels of hard winter wheat had been taken at Montreal at 8 cents over July for last half of August shipment to Europe. One report put the amount as high as 1,000,000 bushels. It was said also that Buffalo mills were bidding close to the market at Minneapolis for dark No. 1 northern.

Corn and oats prices reflected to some extent the upward tendency of the wheat market. On the other hand, seven corn products manufacturing plants were reported as having shut down, owing to slackness of demand. Commission house selling weakened lard and ribs. An advance in pork was chiefly nominal.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE.

New York, April 7.—(Special.)—The following were ruling quotations on the American Cotton and Grain Exchange, Inc., today:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. Close.
Jan.	16.98	.....	.....	16.98	16.92
May	17.86	17.86	17.70	17.80	17.87
July	17.35	17.35	17.24	17.29	17.27
Oct.	17.12	17.15	17.06	17.10	17.08
Dec.	17.06	.....	.....	17.08	17.02

New York, April 7.—A renewal of May liquidation caused declines from opening advances in the cotton market, but as soon as the pressure of that sort subsided, prices showed a tendency to steady on reports of unsettled weather conditions in the southwest. The widest price movements were in May deliveries, which sold off from 17.94 to 17.70, and closed at 17.78. The general market closed steady, net 3 points lower to 7 points higher, new crop months being relatively firm.

The opening was steady at an advance of 3 to 12 points in response to relatively steady cables, but the market quickly weakened owing to the near month liquidation. There were recurrent spurts of May selling during the morning, which gave the general list a very nervous and unsettled appearance, but many of the May sellers were buyers of either July or early new crop deliveries, which, as a rule, were relatively steady. The May premium over July, which had amounted to about 50 points at the close of the previous day, narrowed to 45 points before the liquidation was absorbed, but later there was very little May for sale and the difference widened out again to about yesterday's closing figures.

Early weather advices were more favorable, but failed to creat much selling power, and there was some nervousness late in the afternoon over the Texas coast storm warning, which tended to offset rather bearish week and figures. July sold off to 17.24 on the forenoon decline, and December to 17.04, with closing quotations a few points up from the lowest.

Private cables again reported some falling off of business in Manchester, but attributed the relative steadiness of Liverpool to trading calling and a good spot demand. There was no change of importance in the news from the domestic cotton goods market and reports of a further increase domestic mill curtailment seemed to counterbalance the steady showing of the Liverpool market.

NEW YORK SPOTS.

PRICES ARE LOWER AT NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, April 7.—Dry weather over the belt and small mill takings put the price of cotton down for small declines today. There was steadiness in the early trading and again on the close, the early steadiness unquestionably being the result of expectations of favorable week-end figures, which expectations were disappointed. On the close the warning issued for the Texas coast because of a storm over the interior of Texas, which it was feared might bring more rain to that state, caused recoveries from the lowest. Last prices were 1 point lower to 4 points higher than the last prices of yesterday, May closing at 16.63.

Around the opening May was 6 points lower on the dry weather map, but a little later enough buying came in to put the list 2 to 11 points over the final prices of yesterday, May trading up to 16.66. Selling increased again on mill takings of 132,000 bales, against 172,000 this week last year, and in the afternoon on an absence of anything resembling support, prices went to their lowest, 3 to 7 points under the finals of yesterday, May sagging to 16.57.

For a while the storm warning for the Texas coast had no effect on values, but when it was pointed out that it was likely to bring heavy rains with it, the last thing wanted at this time by the cotton growers of Texas, shorts commenced to cover and found only a limited supply of contracts to work on.

Coffee.

New York, April 7.—The market for coffee futures showed renewed strength today and predictions of 10c for contracts were nearly realized as May deliveries sold up to 9.97c, compared with 8.78c, the low price of last month, and 8.21c, the low level touched on the break of last January. The general market opened at an advance of 9 to 15 points on the higher Brazilian markets and covering by near-month shorts, with active positions showing net advances of 12 to 18 points right after the call. Realizing became rather active around 9.60c for September, easing the price off to 9.47c, but the close was up from the lowest on reports of higher cost and freight offers. Last prices were 6 to 13 points net higher. Sales, including switches, were estimated at about 78,000 bags. Closing quotations: May, 9.90; July, 9.83; September, October and December, 9.55; January, 9.52; March, 9.45.

Spot coffee, firm; Rio 7s, 10⅛; Santos 4s, 14¼@14½. Cost and freight offers included Santos 3s and 5s, part Bourbon, at 13.75 to 14.10; Rio 7s, at 10.00@10.10, and Victoria 7s and 8s, at 9.80, American credits.

Sales were reported of Santos 3s and 5s at 13.75 and Rio 7s at 10, American credits. Private cables received here said that Europe was a buyer in the Santos mrarket.

The official cables reported advances of 75 to 125 reis in the Rio market yesterday with partial further advance of 125 reis this morning. Santos was 25 reis lower to 50 reis higher, but showed an advance of 50 to 175 reis this morning. The dollar buying rate was 20 reis lower and there was an advance of 1-32d in Rio exchange on London. Brazilian port receipts, 36,000; Jundiahy receipts, 21,000.

Sugar.

New York, April 7.—The raw sugar market was easier, but the demand was light and no sales were reported. Cubas were offered at 2 7-16c. cost and freight, equal to 4.04c for centrifugal for April shipment and at 2½c, cost and freight, equal to 4.11c for May.

Raw sugar futures were easier under realizing and scattered liquidation by commission houses, owing to the lower ruling of the spot market. At the lowest prices showed declines of 4 to 7 points, although there was a partial rally near the close on covering. Final quotations were 3 to 6 points net lower. May, 2.53; July, 2.72; September, 2.89; December, 2.94.

The market for refined was unchanged at 5.25 to 5.50c for fine granulated, but the demand was less active.

Refined futures were without transactions. Closing: May, 5.85; July, 6.10; September, 6.25.

Rails Lead Industrials In Stock Trading

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, April 7.—This was another million-share day on the stock exchange with transactions up to noon at 711,000 shares. Commission houses representing the outside public were large buyers of rails at the opening and before noon the rails were more active than the industrials. Customers' rooms of brokerage houses despite the rain were again crowded. Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Reading, Norfolk and Western, Pennsylvania, Lehigh Valley, Rock Island, Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific were the leaders in the upward movement of the rails. Brokers, in close touch with the market, reported that there was a large borrowing demand for the industrials, indicating an extensive short interest which could be used to advantage by those working for higher prices if the upward movement in the rails proves to be short-lived.

Northern Pacific bankers have been hinting for some time that important developments were pending. Today it was learned that the company has applied to the interstate commerce commission for permission to call at 103½ the 6½ per cent bonds issued a year ago to refund its half of the then maturing $215,000,000 as originally issued in connection with the purchase of practically all of the outstanding Burlington stock. The new 6½s issued a year ago are converible into 7 per cent bonds. Now the company wants to call the outstanding 6½s at 103½, raising the money by the sale of 5 per cent bonds, thus reducing the interest charges 2 per cent on its half of the $230,000,000 fifteen-year outstanding bonds. It would seem that this plan fits in with the recent action taken by the Northern Pacific directors in reducing the annual dividend rate from 7 per cent to 5. The 2 per cent saved annually in dividend charges on the $248,000,000 outstanding Northern Pacific stock will be kept to build up the margin of safety on all outstanding bonds, including the new 5s. This will make the new 5s easier to sell. In the long run the shareholders as well as the bondholders will get the benefit of the proposed refunding and also of the husbanding of resources by the recent reduciton in dividend.

Bond Market Active.

Like the stock market, the bond market was again very strong, Interborough Rapid Transit 5s leading, with an advance of 8 3-4 points on the announcement of the plans for reducing the rental which the company pays for the Manhattan elevated from 7 per cent to 3 per cent for the first year, beginning July 1, next, 4 per cent for the next two years, and 5 per cent thereafter. Railroad bonds and United States and Mexico issues were strong. Treasury officials predicted today that all of the government war bonds would go to par and stay there.

Eight principal iron and steel products are now selling at an average price of $43.71, against $42.54 a week ago, and $42.12, the recent low. This compares with $85.03 the high for 1920, and $37.11, the average for the thirteen years ending with 1913.

E. R. Stettinius and Dwight W. Morrow, partners of J. P. Morgan & Co., were elected today directors of the General Electric company. For last year the company reports sales of $221,007,000, against $275,754,000 for 1920, with $12.5 a share earned for the $172,000,000 stock, against $15.9 for the previous year.

New Haven Report.

New Haven reports for 1921, $116,405,000 gross, against $123,512,000 for 1920. Net income was $12,979,000, against $576,000 for 1920. Last year's interest and other fixed charges were $28,306,000, making a deficit for the year of $15,326,000, against a deficit for 1920 of $27,420,000.

So far nothing has been said officially of how many of the maturing $27,000,000 4 per cent bonds were turned in in exchange for the new 7s. The 4s fall due April 1.

Large sales of copper for export were reported today, with the price of the metal up to 13 cents against recent sales of 12 3-4.

While the market for grain was closed when the government issued its report on winter wheat as of April 1, the figures were considered bullish. The condition was given as 78.4, against 91.0 for the same day last year, and 84.3 for the ten-year average.

Further Improvement.

In its review of general trade conditions at the close of March the federal reserve board says: "There is a nearer approach toward stability in international and industrial relations than has existed at any time in the recent past," adding, "the upward trend of production and the stronger banking position in the United States are unquestioned."

This seems to fit in with the statement the United States employment service at Washington makes that reports from 1,428 different firms in 65 different centers, show at the end of March an increased in employment of 2.5 per cent, compared with the close of February.

Moreover, since the close of March, each day brings concrete news of further improvement in general trade. This week's early developments include the highly encouraging reports from the steel industry, followed by predictions that there will be more building this year than at any time since the war. Then it was announced that New York Central had purchased 20,000 freight cars, bringing the car purchases of the railroads so far this year up to more than twice those for the whole of 1921. Next Pennsylvania, after buying 250 steel passenger cars, announces that it is going to spend $8,000,000 in the Pittsburg district as the beginning of a program to relieve the transportation situation there that may call for $100,000,000.

New York Air Brake, which has been running three days a week, today announced that on May 1 it is going to start its big Watertown, N. Y., plant on full time, and hire more men to take care of the new business already placed by the railroads. Washington dispatches say that the interstate commerce commission has authorized Illinois Central to issue equipment trust notes to pay for 650 refrigerator cars to be purchased from Pullman. Union Pacific announces that improvements and betterments to be made this year and charged to capital account will aggregate $29,000,000, including $9,200,000 for new equipment.

New York, April 7.—Buoyancy in the bond market was unabated today on another very large volume of dealings. Several of the Liberty series, notably the 3½s, second 4s and second 4¼s registered still higher records, though easing later on profit-taking.

Local utilities were the dominant issues, however, on the outcome of the traction situation, which averts receivership on other serious financial consequenees. The several Interborough Consolidated and Interborough Metropolitan issues showed extreme gains of three to almost nine points, but these, too, gave way to realizing, Manhattan Elevated, Third Avenue and Brooklyn Rapid Transit also made substantial gains.

Rails continue to follow the upward course of stocks, at new maximums coalers, cotton carriers and grangers leading. Total sales, par value, $14,109,000.

News, Views And Reviews

BY DOREMUS, DANIEL & CO.

There was only one matter in which market opinions differed after close was degree of bullishness which prevailed in various speculative circles. Rail stocks again reflected absorption. Expected many of these issues will make further substantial advances today.

Federal reserve system's ratio declines from 77.8 to 77.7. New York federal reserve ratio declines from 86.7 to 86.5.

Receivership for I. R. T. avoided through intervention of Judge Mayer in effecting agreement providing for tentative reduction of Manhattan Elevated rental from 7 per cent to 3 per cent, and securing funds for future requirements.

Local bankers expect negotiations to be resumed at once by Argentina for long term loan here of possibly $100,000,000.

General Electric for year ending December 31 earned $12.57 a share against $15.92 in 1920.

A. C. D. for year ending December 31 earned $2.27 a share on common against $5.33.

B. R. T. Subway and Elevated Lines shown after taxes of $2,578,000 for eight months ending February 28 equal to 5.90 per cent on outstanding bonds.

Union Pacific to spend about $29,00,000 this year for additions and new equipment, of which $9,200,000 will be for freight cars already contracted for.

Average 20 industrials, 90.80, up .13; 20 rails, 82.78, up 1.23.

To us the most significant feature in yesterday's market was the advance of 1¼ in the average of rails. This is as vigorous a one-day advance as the rails have had since they started to move slowly upward. As a group the rails closed at the high for the day and signs point strongly toward higher levels for them today.

The action of Southern Pacific yesterday afternoon was particularly encouraging. Closed at 88, a new high for the year. As recognition of Mexico becomes a probability instead of a possibility, some of the old-time speculative interest ought to be injected into the S. P. situation, for the company has a $50,000,000 investment in Mexico, which has been non-productive for several years.

Other rails which we favor include Norfolk, Chesapeake and Ohio, Lv. Bo., N. Y. C., and group of non-dividend paying, South and Southwestern should still respond favorably to buying.

The average of the rails is still over 7 lower than industrials, and we believe that this gap is going to be narrowed by higher levels for the rails.

COTTON OPINIONS.

Hubbard Brothers—October 1 in good demand by smial investors, who are content to buy and wait for their views to be carried out. The market has a good undertone, with very little cotton offered.

Lamborn & Co.—When fair weather sets in again, discussions of increased acreage will promptly become prominent, and advances based on rains are likely to be easily lost.

S. M. Weld & Co.—A waiting weather market is likely to prevail for the time being, and while seeing no particular incentive to trade either, would prefer buying for a scalp on any further fair recessions.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

Lamson—Wheat bought on minor breaks from the present level will prove an excellent investment.

Leland—Favor sales on the rallies.

B. F. Co.—Favor purchases on breaks around this level.

FAILURES.

Dun's Review gives the following information relative to failures in South Atlantic states:

"The 1,168 commercial failures, with aggregate liabilities of $23,949,033, in the South Atlantic section during the first quarter of this year compare with 746 defaults for $15,080,225 in a similar period of 1921. Analysis of the returns by states shows more insolvencies in every instance than last year, the increases ranging from 2 in North Carolina to 120 in Georgia. The number of failures is also materially larger in Maryland, West Virginia, South Carolina and Florida. The record of indebtedness, moreover, is decidedly against this year, the amounts being heavier in most cases, and notably so in South Carolina, Georgia and Florida.

NEW TRADE RECORD MADE IN STOCKS

New York, April 7.—For the fifth consecutive session of the week trading on the stock exchange today took on enormous proportions, transactions aggregating 1,650,000 shares, and establishing yet another new record for almost two years.

The movement of prices was "spotty" at intervals, as a result of realizing for profits in several of the issues which made greatest gains in the preceding days of the week. This was most noticeable in such stocks as Baldwin and Studebaker, although net losses in both cases were limited to fractions.

Gulf States Steel was the dominant feature, gaining 10 5-8 points on steady buying, which exceeded the demand for any other stock. Crucible was used to drive in the shorts and several of the less prominent steels, including Sloss-Sheffield, Great Northern Ore, Otis and Iron Products made noteworthy gains.

Rails contributed largely to the market's constructive side, coalers leading that division on the heavy accumulation of Lehigh Valley, Reading and Norfolk & Western. Secondary rails were featured by Rock Island and at a gain of 2 5-8, and many of the investment shares, including Pacifics, grangers and cotton carriers, rose 1 to 3 points.

Local utilities made impressive response to the plan by which Interborough Rapid Transit receivership was averted. Interborough Consolidated preferred gained 4 1-4 points, Manhattan Elevated 2 7-8, and Brooklyn Rapid Transit 3 1-2, similar or greater advances being made by the bonds of those companies.

The course of money was helpful to stock dealings, all call loans holding at 4 1-2 per cent., this applying to renewals into the coming week. Time funds were quoted at 4 3-4 per cent. for the longer dates, but this was shaded to 4 1-2 per cent. on prime collateral.

Foreign exchange reflected the more hopeful advices respecting the forthcoming Genoa conference. Sterling rose 1 cent, almost its best quotation of the week. All the allied remittances showed moderate improvement, as did German, Dutch, Scandinavian and Spanish bills, the latter rising 12 points. Czecho-Slovakian rates hardened on the strength shown by the new bond issue.

Business Revival Being Extended Says Dun's Report

New York, April 7.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"With recognition of the unsatisfactory phases which still prevail the fact is nevertheless clear that the business revival is being extended. Close observers of conditions do not disregard the deleterious influence of present labor troubles, nor the unsettling effects of past economic readjustments, but a basis unmistakably exists for the statement that the scope of the recovery is widening.

"While uniformity of improvement is conspicuously lacking, irregularity of demand and prices is a natural concomitant of commercial recuperation and its absence now would be surprising. The maintenance of a conservative policy in many quarters is more to be desired, after the experience of the last two years, than a repetition of unwholesome inflation, and prudent action at this time affords a solid foundation for subsequent progress. That confidence has strengthened, rather than lessened, is evidenced by the tenor of dispatches from different sections of the country and gains in actual transactions have exceeded expectations in some important industries.

FINANCE---

Executive wanted to help finance a manufacturing business. This is an exceptional proposition, and I am looking for the exceptional man (i. e.) the successful one, who cannot only command capital, but who can also make it earn dividends. The business is doing $200,000 annually and the products show 100% gross profit. The possibilities for expansion and net profits are limited only by working capital and requisite ability to handle the financial policy. In reply state fully as to your qualifications and past record, give reference as to responsibility, as I have no positions to sell non-producers, and I am too busy to bother with the curious.

BRADSTREET, Care Constitution

You Can Begin at Home

Atlanta's 95,000 Church Members Called to Carry News to 75,000 Non-members.

(The following is issued by the committee on church co-operation:)

What stops you?

Peter and the group, who carried through the first great revival in the church, risked their lives. Persisting in telling people of Jesus, they were dragged before the council. Threats made to silence him, Peter, who less than two months before, had quailed before a servant girl, and had denied his Lord and Savior, answered with words which thunder across the ages:

"We ought to obey God, rather than men."

The council beat these men. Again they were ordered to be silent about Jesus. But Luke says:

"They departed, rejoicing that they were counted worthy to suffer shame for His name. And daily in the temple, and in every house, they ceased not to teach and preach Jesus Christ."

Only a dozen men and a few devoted women, in the very shadow of the cross, on which their leader had been hung, these daily dared the scourge, the sword and cross in order that they might tell people of the Christ, who could and would enable them to bear the burdens of their lives, and free them from the slavery of sin, if they would only trust in Him. The good news was proclaimed in the temple. But preaching was the least of their works. Daily they risked death to carry personally to "every house" in the city the great news of the risen Savior.

Not strage that in a few brief days they led thousands to put their trust in Jesus.

Question for You.

How many of the 95,000 members of our churches have taken the trouble to carry the news of Jesus to any of the homes of the 75,000 people who are not connected with the church in Atlanta? Have you made such a visit? Have you told a single soul of your Savior?

The contrast is painful.

With ten times as many churches in Atanta as there were apostles working in Jerusalem, a wonderful start for our revival is announced, when, during the first three days, 300 persons accept our Savior, where 3,000 came into the church that first day long ago. With 95,000 members from every class of life, where they had only a handful, practically all peasants, it would seem that we have little cause for pride, but rather cause for soul-searching and prayer. Each of the twelve, that first day in Jerusalem, could be credited with winning 250 people for Jesus. With our 95,000 members winning 300 converts in three days, each one of us may be credited with gaining approximately 1-1000 of a person a day.

At this rate, between eight and nine years will be required for the average church member in Atlanta to be entitled to the credit of winning one single soul for Jesus.

What holds us back?

Dr. T. H. Lewis, speaking to the members of all the Protestant churches, called to meeet at the Baptist Tabernacle, last Monday morning, called Christian Atlanta to face the facts, when he said that, applying business standards to the church, and judging the church by those standards, we are forced to confess that the church is the most inefficient big organization in the world. With billions of dollars invested in church properties, and a membership in the United States of more than 40,000,000 people, Dr. Lewis pointed out that the annual gain in membership in the churches has been less than 2 per cent. Only the power of God, he said, has kept the church from perishing long ago.

Those Who Hinder.

The drastic charge of being "'the most inefficient of big organizations" may be questioned by many church members, but no one can say that churches are producing results in keeping with their size and power.

The fault, Dr. Lewis thinks, is with the indvidual member. The average member is failing to live up to his professions. And the average church is failing to call its members to live in to their professions.

The committee is placing the facts and questions before the individual members of the church in Atlanta in order that all of us may reach our own conclusions, and in the hope and belief that all of us may reach the greatest revival in its history. The church founded by Jesus Christ cannot fail. But there is dire peril of failure for the individual, who is a member only in name. To many of us, we believe, Jesus is today repeating the warning of His parable in which He said:

"A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard; and he came and sought fruit thereon, and found none. Then said he unto the dresser of his vineyard: 'Behold these three years I come seeking fruit on this fig tree and find none; cut it down; why cumbereth it the ground?'

"And he, answering, said unto him: 'Lord, let it alone this year, also, till I shall dig about it, and dung it: And if it bear fruit, well: and if not, then after that thou shalt cut it down!'"

Where You Stand.

What fruit can you claim to have produced in your home, your business, and in the life of your city? What fruit can you point to in your church?

A different kind of fruit, infinitely worse than none, but inevitable, where none of that desired by our Master is produced, was mentioned by Dr. Lewis when he said:

"In the services now being held in the 120 churches of Atlanta, the question for many members of the church is not 'How many am I going to win for Christ?' But 'How many am I going to hinder from coming to Jesus by the hypocrisy of my life?'"

We would not, if we could, probe into your personal affairs. But we beg you yourself to probe your own heart and life with these questions. Then answer only to yourself:

Is any act of yours, your manner of living, keeping any man, woman, or child from coming to Jesus? Are you trying to give to other homes the blessings which have come to yours through Christ?

How many of the services now being held in your church have you attended? How many persons have you invited to come to these services? How often have you prayed for their success?

Tomorrow your church needs you morning and evening. And Monday, at 11 a. m., at Wesley Memorial church, a mass meeting of all the Christians of Atlanta has been called to hear Dr. Arthur F. Bishop and Dr. John E. White. Will you not come?

Fayette County Holds Annual School Meet

Fayetteville, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—Fayette county had a holiday today and assembled at Fayetteville to participate in the second annual school celebration. Early in the morning the different school pupils of the county began to arrive in decorated cars with banners floating and dressed in their colors, vieing with each other organization with their yells, laughter and songs.

There were twenty-four county schools represented, and teams from each of these entered in the contests of the day.

The literary contest was the first on the program and revealed the important work being accomplished by the school system.

Superintendent of the County Board of Education R. P. Minter addressed the citizens, appealing to them to stand by the board in its advanced methods of promoting the system, and to rally to the advocated bonding of the county to secure immediate funds with which to equip necessary high and junior high schools for new school districts.

State Superintendent of Schools M. L. Brittain, of Atlanta, in his introductory remarks, called for co-operation of all citizens for advanced methods of consolidating of rural schools into central district institutions, the plan now in operation in many states and projected in others.

Webster county and Lee in State already have accomplished this method.

In conclusion, Mr. Brittain appealed for the advocated bond issue to supply the demand for junior high school buildings in the districts where needed, as a greater need than that of a new courthouse building.

Athletic Contests.

The athletic contests were entered into after dinner on courthouse square. The schools attending had their teams entered and the battles were fought hard and to a finish in every event, consisting of fifty, one hundred-yard and two hundred-yard dashes, pole chinning, standing and broad jumping, potato races for boys and girls and winding up with the annual relay race around the city. Prizes were given to the first three contestants of each event. These were contributed by the local merchants.

The last contest between the schools was fought between their best orators, and was held at the Baptist church at night.

The University of California claims 43,266 registrations, which is 10,846 more students than Columbia university, making California the largest university in the world.

SIXTH DISTRICT BOY SCOUT COUNCIL MEETS SUNDAY

Griffin, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—The first annual meeting of the Sixth District Boy Scouts' council will be held in Griffin Sunday. Headquarters of the Sixth District scouts is in Griffin, and W. B. Royster, of Griffin, is president of the council. The president will preside at the meeting Sunday.

It is expected that a large number of scoutmasters and others interested in this work will attend. The address of welcome will be made by President Royster, and Mark Smith will respond for the association.

Rev. H. A. Willey will speak on "Tenderfoot Tests." H. O. Hunter's subject will be "Several Varieties of Hikes." Other speakers will be Henry Lane and J. R. Berry.

After the addresses Troop 4, of Griffin, will give an exhibition drill.

LANCE NAMED LIQUIDATING AGENT

Gainesville, Ga., April 7.—(Special.)—W. V. Lance, a prominent young attorney of this city, has been commissioned by the state banking department as liquidating agent for the defunct Farmers and Citizens' bank, to succeed George J. F. Pruett, of Dahlonega, resigned, and is being checked in today by representatives of the state department.

A number of difficulties has arisen out of the liquidation of this bank, which once was considered the wonder bank of Georgia, having only $15,000 capital and three-quarters of a million dollars' on deposit.

All officers and directors of the bank now are under indictment in connection with its failure, and the depositors expect very small dividends.

Jellied Fruit Salad.

Take 2 cups mixed fruit; fresh or canned, cut in small pieces. Oranges, grapefruit, pineapple and bananas make a good combination. Cherries, peaches or grapes, if accessible, are also delicious. Soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in 1-2 cup cold water, add 3 cups boiling water or part water and part fruit juices (taken from canned fruit), 1-2 cup vinegar, juice of 2 lemons, 1-2 cup sugar. Strain onto fruit and mold. Served on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise makes a very refreshing and hearty salad. This recipe makes a large quantity, but it keeps several days where it is cold, and I figure it is economy of time and labor to make a full rule for my family is very fond of it and satisfied to call it dessert the meals we have it.

Has proven a revelation to those who need glasses—absolutely invisible while on the face, no disfiguring lines to indicate old age, no looking over your glasses or taking them off to see distance objects. Wear them a few days and forget you even use glasses. The better oculists are glad when you tell them you want Ballard to fill your glass prescription—JUST ASK THEM. There is no use going to a first-class oculist and then have your glasses made by a second-class optician. We are in position to take care of all your wants in high-class optical service.

Atlanta Hospitality Week Will Be Great Occasion

Dazzling Maidens, Miles of Ford, Big Prizes and Other Plans Made by Atlanta Merchants.

A jubilee, the likes of which Atlanta has never before experienced—a scintillatin galaxy of dazzling maidens, reposing in splendor upon thrones in veritable castles drawn through the streets by prancing steeds, or, to be ultra-modern, 60-horsepower trucks—this was the way Ivan Allen, prominent Atlanta business man, at a meeting of the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association held Friday, described incomplete plans for "Hospitality Week."

This, and a great many other stunts, including a Ford drawing contest, in which all Ford owners are eligible to compete for prizes, will be inaugurated by the entertainment committee, headed by Lucien York, it was stated.

"Biggest Thing Ever Tried."

"The committee has an array of feature activities now in a tentative state," he declared, "which will undoubtedly be the biggest thing Atlanta ever enjoyed in the way of welcoming Georgia to come to Atlanta during of these plans would be unfair at this time, but you can take it from me, Atlanta has never had a jubilee that will equal the one planned for 'Hospitality Week!'

"For instance," Mr. Allen continued, "we are at present negotiating with Henry Ford to come here and witness a real Atlanta celebration. While we are showing him a good time he will also have an opportunity to hear the sentiment expressed by Atlantans and Georgians in favor of his Muscle Shoals proposition.

"To induce every Ford owner in eGorgia to come to Atlanta during that week, our plans are to offer a Ford tractor, truck or automobile to the Ford owner drawing the lucky number. A grandstand will be erected at Five Points for the judges who will take the license numbers of every car in the line of parade. These numbers will be shuffled and the lucky number drawn from the collection. You can imagine the number of persons this will draw to Atlanta from all over the state."

A deal is now pending with the officials who had charge of Mardi Gras in New Orleans recently to obtain the hundreds of attractive floats that were used in that parade, Mr. Allen explained. Some of these floats entailed a cost of several thousand dollars to produce.

Special Railway Rates.

The entertainment committee is arranging to have all railroads entering Atlanta reduce rates during that week.

It is estimated that more than a half million persons will visit Atlanta during Hospitality Week from all sections of Georgia and the southeast according to members of the committee.

Samuel Rothberg, president of the Retail Merchants' association, presided at the meeting Friday, which was held in the assembly room of the chamber of commerce. Short talks were made concerning the plans for Hospitality Week by J. P. Allen, W. S. Byck, Fred Paxon, G. W. McClure, Lloyd Parks, W. M. Brownlee, W. O. Foote, B. S. Barker, L. L. Stokes and others.

Day Withholding Portion of Truth, States Attorney

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 7.—County Attorney Forrest Hughes, in a signed statement to newspaper men today, concerning his investigation of the slaying of Lieutenant Colonel Paul Ward Beck by Jean P. Day, prominent local lawyer and oil man in the latter's home here last Tuesday, said he believed Day fired in defense of his home and not of his life, and that the X-ray photograph of the dead man's head indicated that the army officer was not looking at Day when the fatal shot was fired.

Day had previously stated that when he found Beck in the act of attempting to assault Mrs. Day he struck the officer on the head with a pistol after the latter had made a motion as if to strike him with his fist.

Day said also that the revolver was accidentally discharged from the impact of the blow.

The county attorney's statement said that before any gun was fired or any blow struck "Day saw something that swept him off his feet!" He added that in his opinion Judge Day had not told the whole truth concerning the tragedy.

"I am frank to say," Hughes continued, "that if Judge Day should tell the whole truth, no jury of red-blooded citizens would ever render a verdict against him. I am equally candid to say that I believe that so far Judge Day has not told the whole truth."

The civil inquiry into the death of an army officer is scheduled for tomorrow morning.

BRANDY AND CORN CAPTURED IN RAID MADE BY POLICE

Five 10-gallon kegs of brandy and a like amount of moonshine whisky were confiscated at 10 o'clock Friday night in th basement of the building on South Pryor street, by a raiding party consisting of Detective Lieutenant Ryan, Detectives Armstrong and Austin and Lieutenant Whatley, of the police department.

No arrests were made, the owners of the liquor having deserted the house before the officers arrived. Lieutenant Ryan stated that the raid will probably break up a flourishing traffic in illicit whisky in a number of nearby residences and apartment houses.

Says He's Convict.

Palatka, Fla., Apil 7.—Harold C. Earnest, alias John H. Jones, is being held by the local authorities while they investigate his story that he escaped from the San Quentin, Cal., penitentiary where he was serving sentence for participation in a $100,000 mail robbery.
